BASE BALL POOLS NUMEROUS CASES FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Supt. Welch Gives Warning That Were Heard in Police Court Arrests Will be Made This Morning

All Pools Must Discontinue at Once, or Those Running Them Will be Prosecuted—The Sports Sadly Accept Supt.'s Ultimatum

It's all off with the baseball pools.

Superintendent Welch, after warning the sports connected with the big pools being conducted in this city, this morning informed a reporter of the Sur that baseball pools such as have been running since the season opened will not be tolerated longer.

"We have received many complaints from parents of boys who work and who are spending a portion of their small wages in baseball pools, and hence we must stop pool selling. There is only one way to stop such a thing and that is by prosecuting those who are running the pools. Any man, regardless of who he may be who is detected conducting a pool after tonight will be arrested."

The news of the closing down of the pools will jar the baseball fans, for never in the history of the city has Lowell gone so completely crazy over baseball and baseball pools, and men, women and children have been playing them. There are small pools in every mill and workshop in the city, many of which will never be detected by the police. But certain big public pools have come to the attention of the police and these will be stopped forthwith. The men running the big pools in every instance will stop without further notice for none has any desire to buck against the dictum of Supt. Welch. A dollar pool which has been running since the season will pay to the winner tonight something over $400, while a 50 cent pool to be decided this evening will pay the winner something over $200. From the amount of the pools one can get an idea of the number of people who are playing them.

The L. & H. Bennett Straws are made for Summer wear, not just to keep the sun off. Though of an extremely light weight, they retain their shapes because of the L. & H. sizing and special drying and pressing process. Edges are carefully treated to prevent breaking down.

The oval is so shaped as to make an easy and comfortable fit, so that an L. & H. stays on without binding the head. The silk trimmings and linings are those that appeal to the well-dressed man. The "Man who Cares" lays his hat down so that the L. & H. mark shows.

Made in many proportions as to height of crown and width of brim, so that every well-dressed man can be suited.

GREEN SCHOOL

Hears Peace Messages From Distinguished Men

On the Joint Observance of Memorial and Peace Day—Governor Draper, Archbishop O'Connell, Sen. Lodge, Wm. J. Bryan, Ambassador Bryce, Admiral Dewey and Others—Other Programs

A patriotic program, quite out of the ordinary, and one of unusual excellence, was arranged by Principal Bacheller of the Green school in observance of Memorial day and Peace day. These days were unitedly observed at that school yesterday. Patriotic selections were read by Gladys King, Norman Roberts and James Bruhn, and there was singing by the school. Principal Bacheller's remarks were very interesting and were closely followed by those present. Mr. Bacheller had written to several famous men and they all made answer. The answers were read by Mr. Bacheller, who before reading each letter told something of the life and distinction of the author.

EBEN S. DRAPER

Executive Department,
Boston, May 25, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller: I think Memorial day is one of the most beautiful observances which we have in this country. The placing of flowers on the veterans' graves, or the dropping of them onto the sea, which is the burial place of our seamen, is a beautiful tribute.

The memory of these men is kept green because they sacrificed their lives that their country might live.

The effect of this day, and its exercises should be to impress on the minds of all young people the lasting remembrance that will come to them if they devote their lives to the service of their country. By this I do not mean necessarily service in war, but service for good citizenship and the promotion of every good thing—the more peaceful the better.

Very sincerely yours,

The glorious opportunities which our dear country offers to the man and the woman of every condition of life are unequalled.

IN MEMORIAM

From the silence of sorrowful hours

The desolate mourners go,

Lovingly laden with flowers,

Alike for the friend and foe.

Under the sod and the dew,

Waiting the judgment day;

Under the roses, the Blue,

Under the lilies, the Gray.

force is both a political and a moral truth, and must in time prevail.

Yours truly,

William Jennings Bryan,

Editor of the Commencer.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE

British Embassy,

Washington, May 18, 1910.

Dear Sir: I am so often requested to send messages that I have found it necessary, as a rule, to decline requests of the kind, but the object you have in view is so laudable that I may vary my practice so far as to say:

Manhood seems to have begun from a general state of war between tribes. Even the Greek philosophers thought that war was the natural condition of things between different independent communities.

There is no more evident march of progress than in the growing desire for peace, and for the providing of methods of securing it.

To this Christianity has more than any other moral force contributed.

It remains for us to carry on and complete the good work.

I am, very truly yours,

James Bryce.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT

Knoxville, Tennessee,

May 20, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller: Your letter was forwarded to me, so please excuse my delay in replying. I have been away from home for a long time. I am glad to comply with your request.

It pleases me to know that you honor the Grand Army of the Republic by having exercises held in your school on Memorial day.

I believe that education and patriotism should go hand in hand, for if we can have the educated mind and the patriotic heart joined together, we need never fear for the safety of the republic. The hope and safety of the nation ever was, is now, and ever will be, in its young men.

The coming forward of the young men from '61 to '65 destroyed the hydra-headed monster of secession, saved the Union, freed the slaves, and retained every star in our nation's flag.

Assure your boys and girls that the commander-in-chief, speaking for every living Civil war veteran, appreciates the honor they pay us in remembering our deathless dead, and trusts that they will ever be mindful of their duties as American citizens.

Tell them that soldiers are needed as much in time of peace as in time of war, and that a courage is required greater than to charge the enemy's lines, when the conflict rages in all its fury.

We do not need men now to die for their country, but to live for it.

And may your boys and girls so live and act that they may, at all times, faithfully serve their country, so that the future may be secure. If they do this, the republic, founded by the fathers, will ever remain as firm as a mountain on its base.

Cordially yours,

Samuel R. Van Sant,

Commander-in-Chief, Grand Army of the Republic.

RICHMOND P. HOBSON,

House of Representatives, U. S.,

Washington, D. C., May 10, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller, Green School,

Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Mr. Bacheller:—Your letter of May 5th is before me. It occurs to me that the thought that could be fittingly dwelt upon on your patriotic day, May 20th, the day set aside for commemorating the sacrifices of those who died in battle, fighting under their country's flag, would well be the great cost of sacrifices paid for the liberties and civil blessings that we enjoy as citizens of America.

The greatest of these blessings is the equality of opportunity and the greatness of opportunity in our vast and wonderful country. The sacrifices for securing equality of opportunity date from before the foundation of our government and go back to the days of Magna Charter and the original Bill of Rights, each successive step in securing and maintaining equality of opportunity having been made at a stupendous sacrifice on the part of our forefathers.

The vastness and greatness of our country have cost untold sacrifices. It is only necessary to refer to the more than 800,000 casualties of the Civil war to show what it has cost to keep this country united.

In view of the stupendous sacrifices that have thus been made by our fathers and forefathers, the young people of our day and generation should put the highest value upon the rights, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship.

The true way to show appreciation is for each American to develop the highest type of citizenship, making of himself a splendid specimen of manhood and womanhood in physique, intelligence and character, and to take an ever increasing part in the activities of our day and generation, to solve the problems of the home, of the city, of the state, of the nation, and even to contribute to the solution of the great problems of the world.

Whether in war or in peace, let the aim of your pupils be to pitch their lives on the plain of the maximum, to make of themselves the finest specimens of manhood and womanhood, and to render the maximum of useful service in their day and generation.

Wishing you and your school every success, I remain

Sincerely yours,

Richmond Pearson Hobson.

REAR ADMIRAL WINFIELD SCOTT SCHLEY

Washington, D. C., May 10, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller:—I do not know of any better message to young ladies and young boys in these days than to impress upon them the value of the example of their fathers and mothers, and in the days of their youth, when most impressionable, to cultivate daily the qualities of truthfulness, honor and religious consecration.

These things constitute the sound foundation for good citizenship in this land which we love.

The beautiful lives of John and Mary Winthrop, Massachusetts' first colonial officials, are within their reach, and are inspiring examples for every life in our favored land.

Very truly yours,

Winfield Scott Schley.

JOHN SERGEANT WISE

Kiptopeke's Lodge, Cape Charles, Va.

Virginia, May 17, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller,

Dear Sir: When your boys and girls meet May 20th, give them my affectionate greeting.

Forty-six years ago on May 15th, I was shot in battle, fighting for the Confederate cause.

At the end of that war I soaked it as a "Lost cause," I myself as subjugated. I have lived to realize that I was not so much subjugated as I thought I was, and that may be I did not lose as much as I then thought I had lost.

I teach my children to realize that the world had passed the point of slavery, and that God never intended the union which Washington and Marshall did so much for, to be dissolved.

I also tell them that this country could never have attained its present power and glory if it had been divided.

I also teach them that their fathers, in that struggle, believed themselves to be contending for the inalienable rights of honest self-government, for which right, it seemed to them, they were ready to die. I teach them that the southern people were just as brave and just as honest in that war, and not a bit braver or more honest, than the northern people.

I teach them that the war ended, as it should, for the happiness of all the people, and the glory of our nation.

It is a harder task for the defeated to learn this lesson than it should be for the victorious. But until both sides learn it, our common country can never be at its best.

The causes which tended to divide our country are removed forever. Let the bitterness engendered by them also be removed and forgotten.

Yours truly,

John Sergeant Wise.

ERNEST T. SETON.

Wyndygoul, Cos Cob, Conn.,

May 14, 1910.

My dear Sir:—In reply to yours of May 11th.

We now know a great deal about the pre-Columbian history of America, as well as the post-Columbian history of its native peoples. And we realize that again and again the red man was advancing rapidly toward a peculiarly high and beautiful civilization of his own, and each time he was dropped from the mountainside and back into the swamps of savagery by the demon of war.

The lesson of American history is that war is the great enemy.

Very truly yours,

Ernest Thompson Seton.

MARY JOHNSTON.

Richmond, Virginia.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller, Lowell, Mass.:

My dear Sir:—Your letter of the 12th has been forwarded to me from Birmingham, Alabama, which is not now my place of residence.

Tell your boys and girls for me that war is an ugly and cruel thing, and that a horrible fortress guarded by breadstuffs, and that Universal Brotherhood is the knight we are going to send against him, and that Universal Peace is the pure and beautiful princess that the dwarf keeps prisoner in his fortress, and that universal actration is the golden key that will let the princess out, and that love and common sense are the sword and spear with which the knight is going to slay the dwarf, and with all good wishes for the success of your Peace day, believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

Mary Johnston.

IN A BATTING FEST

Lowell Walloped Brockton Team at Spalding Park

In a free hitting and interesting game at Spalding park yesterday Lowell defeated Brockton by a score of 8 to 5, delighting some 700 spectators for the batting game is what the crowd appears to like.

Lowell presented three new players, Delaney behind the bat, McDonald on first base and Blakeley in center field. All made a good impression. Wolfgang was on the slab for Lowell and while at times he appeared to be going bad he always had his head in tight places and pulled himself out of a couple of dangerous places. Brockton presented Eberley, a new one to the Lowell fans and he didn't last three innings when another new one, Sweeney, went in and Sweeney appeared to be a little better.

The game in detail:

First Inning
There was a batting carnival in the first inning. Lowell getting two runs while the visitors scored one run. Dulin drew a free pass and McGovern popped a fly to Fitzpatrick. Hendrickson bunted along the first base line and beat the ball out. Stankard singled to left field, scoring Dulin. Shannon hit to Cooney who threw to second and getting Stankard and the ball was returned to first for a double play.

In the latter half of the inning Fitz hit to McGovern, who threw him out at first. Ryan singled over second base and went to second on a balk. He scored on Cooney's two bagger to left field. McDonald hit to Shannon and died at first. Magee singled and Cooney scored. Magee then stole second. Fitzpatrick drew a free pass. Blakeley hit to Dulin and failed to reach first.

Second Inning
In the second inning there was a different story to tell. The visitors scored two runs and Lowell failed to send a man across the plate.

McLane flied to Magee and Jolly hit to Cooney, who threw him out at first. Lavigne singled by Ryan. Eberley hit along the first base line to McDonald and was out. Jolly singled. Dulin singled to right field scoring Lavigne. Dulin stole second, but McGovern flied to Blakeley.

In Lowell's half Delaney hit to the pitcher and was out at first and Wolfgang followed with a fly to McLane. Fitz reached first in safety but was nipped between first and second while trying to steal the latter base.

Score—Lowell 2, Brockton 3.

Third Inning
Another run for the visitors in the third inning. Hendrickson fanned the batted and Stankard singled and was caught between first and second. Shannon hit the ball out to the center field fence for three bases. McLane scored him with a single and then Magee stole second. Jolly was third out on a foul fly to Delaney.

In the latter half of the inning the home team slammed Eberley and scored three runs. Ryan started out with a scratch single. He went to second on Cooney's sacrifice and traveled to third on a passed ball. McDonald got hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Magee hit to left field for a single scoring Ryan. McDonald tried to make third and was thrown out. Fitzpatrick got hit by a pitched ball and walked. Blakeley drew a base on balls and then Delaney knuckled out a single scoring Magee and Fitzpatrick. At this point Eberley was taken out and Sweeney was put in to pitch. Wolfgang closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 4.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning Lavigne flied to Ryan. Sweeney and Dulin hit grounders to Wolfgang and were out at first.

Lowell got as far as second and third in the fourth but failed to score. Fitz was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. He went to second on Ryan's sacrifice. Cooney hit to Jolly and was out at first. Fitz going to third. McDonald drew a base on balls and stole second. Magee flied to Hendrickson.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 4.

Hendrickson drew a base on balls but was nipped while trying to steal second. Stankard got a free pass. Shannon hit to Wolfgang and was out at first. McLane flied to Blakeley and was third out.

In Lowell's half Fitzpatrick flied to McGovern. Blakeley struck out and Delaney hit to Jolly and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 5.

Sixth Inning
In the sixth inning Jolly hit to Fitz and was out at first. Lavigne singled and Sweeney did likewise. Wolfgang then caught Lavigne off second and Dulin was third out on strikes. Lowell forged to the front in the latter half of the inning. Wolfgang opened with a single and went to second on Fitz's sacrifice. Ryan hit to Shannon and died at first. Wolfgang going to third on the play. Cooney knocked a two bagger to right center field and Wolfgang scored. McDonald was third out on strikes.

DIAMOND NOTES

Brockton again today.

When Frankie Shannon hit to the center field fence a fan cried out: "I saw you do that 30 years ago." Little Ted had just framed his countenance into a huge smile when he heard the remark and he immediately tightened up. A few minutes later another fan asked him if he was going to parade Monday. Frank isn't so awfully old but he started in the game very young. He was first heard of as captain of the champion seven-year-old team in South Boston shortly after the war.

Many fans would like to see Jake Boutles on the slab for a while game yesterday.

When McDonald stepped on the field he was immediately christened "Cupid."

Terry McGovern was surprised at not finding Jonesey in the line-up. Terry says Jonesey always looked good to him.

The Lynn papers are of the opinion that Hamilton made a mistake in letting Stevill go. Here's hoping he did for we have Stevill. With an extra outfielder on the bench the three now working will have to keep going.

Lynn plays here Monday morning and Lowell at Lynn Monday afternoon.

The game Monday will start at 10 o'clock sharp.

Campbell, Moore and Foy were released last evening.

WILLIE LEWIS

Was Knocked Out By Stanley Ketchel

NEW YORK, May 28.—Stanley Ketchel of Michigan, the middleweight champion, knocked out Willie Lewis of this city, in the second round of a scheduled 10 round bout at the National Sporting club last night. Lewis, who was the Parisian idol some months ago, is a welterweight and was fully 10 pounds lighter than Ketchel, who weighed in yesterday afternoon at 155 pounds, according to agreement. Tom O'Rourke, the manager of the club, acted as referee.

Lewis went right at his man in the opening round and exchanged body blows at close quarters with Ketchel having the better of the exchange.

Lewis was very confident when he stepped to the centre of the ring in the second round. He went after Ketchel furiously but the first pace was too much for him and Ketchel sent him to the floor to be counted out. He lay there for several minutes before he revived sufficiently to be helped out of the ring.

In the semi-final bout, Jim Smith, a sparring partner of Lewis, stopped in five rounds. "Chuck" Carleton, a negro middleweight who claims the championship of the American navy. It was a clever bout and both men were badly beaten up.

GOODMAN AND SHEA

BROCKTON, May 28.—Kid Goodman of Boston and Kid Shea of Hallowell, Me., the latter substituting for Mike Glover of South Boston, who failed to put in an appearance, boxed six fast rounds in a no-decision bout before the members of the Young Men's Athletic and Social club in the Palace rink last night. It was the main bout of the evening, and was to have gone 12 rounds, but the men refused to go on for more than six because of the small crowd.

Shea had the better of the argument in the first two rounds. He was clever on his feet, getting away from a number of wicked punches, and having a straight left followed by a right swing that he worked repeatedly. Goodman came back in the next two rounds and with short arm punches slowed Shea down. In the fifth he put in a short right to the wind and a left to the face that sent Shea to the floor, but he was up instantly.

Both finished strong, with Shea still working first his left and then right to the face, and Goodman coming back with several wallopers to the body.

In the semi-final, scheduled for six rounds, Tony Marino of South Boston won from Young Murphy of Boston in three rounds. Murphy went down twice in the second, once for the count of three and again for the count of five. The going saved him in the third and the bout was awarded to Marino.

Speedy Nasey of Brockton stopped Cully Samuelson of Brockton in three rounds. Samuelson spent most of the time on the floor and hanging on to the ropes.

Lawyer Connolly Claims

$20,000 Damages

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Christopher P. Connolly, a lawyer of Montana and New York, and a well known writer for magazines, filed suit in the superior court of the District of Columbia to recover $20,000 damages for alleged slander from Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney-general for the interior department.

The suit is the first of the threatened legal proceedings growing out of the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry. It was rumored about the court yesterday that Secretary-Ballinger is prepared to invoke the law against some of his alleged traducers.

The basis of the action is the testimony alleged to have been given by Mr. Lawler before the Ballinger-Pinchot joint committee, wherein Mr. Lawler is said to have referred to Secretary-Ballinger as a "despicable scoundrel who would stoop to any depth of degradation." He is further alleged to have testified that a man named Connolly stood on the deck of the steamship Republic just before she went down and trampled down women and children in an attempt to get to a life boat.

When asked to identify the "Connolly" referred to, it is alleged that Mr. Lawler said "he is an employee of Collier's Weekly and is a tall, slender man with a short gray moustache."

This, Mr. Connolly says, describes him.

Mr. Lawler is further alleged to have said that he had considerable contempt for the "Connolly connected with Collier's Weekly any way and would not put him above anything of that kind."

Mr. Connolly charges that this connecting him with the person on board the Republic is false and that the accusation was maliciously made.

Mr. Connolly said also that at the time of the loss of the Republic he was in Los Angeles, Cal., many miles from the scene of the disaster.

Cowboys Captured Big Moth Hunter Had a Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, May 28.—"Buffalo" Jones, the American plainsman, came back from Africa on the Mauretania yesterday with a story of the wild west methods in capturing blood-thirsty animals which inhabit the dark continent.

"Buffalo" Jones, or Col. C. J. Jones as he signs his name, was accompanied by Lovelace, Means and Schull, cowboys from New Mexico. They had 10 ponies from the west and they captured more than 50 wild rhinoceroses, lions and other animals in Keron valley, East Africa. Though they were in danger at times, none of them was injured.

"We didn't bother with rifles," said Jones, "we just had lasso, which we knew would do the business."

"I guess the wild beasts never saw anything that could lasso like an American cowboy. We'd keep after those lions, hippos, rhinos and other things for hours sometimes, but the ponies always won in the end."

"We turned loose all our catches except one lioness, which we have shipped on a steamer that will reach here next week. That lioness was a tough one. We heard her roar three miles away. We drove her from the woods into an open space by exploding fire crackers. Then we surrounded her. Schull was at one time so close to her that we could not see daylight between them. I swung the lasso and caught her."

One day the party was charged by a huge rhinoceros.

"She was a hard proposition," said Jones. "We had to retreat. We might just as well have tried to lasso an express train."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Fleischmann of Cincinnati also came back on the Mauretania, after a hunting trip in Africa.

York city's best known hotels. A gas range four feet long does the work of a coal range six feet long. In other words a coal range takes up 50 per cent more room than a gas range of the same capacity. By installing gas ranges 86 feet will be saved in the floor space of these kitchens, and their cooking facilities will be greatly improved. What will save space in the hotel or restaurant will save space in the private house or apartment. Then, too, consider the handling of coal and ashes, and the dust and dirt that will be avoided, as well as the difference in the atmosphere in the kitchen during the summer months. Any housekeeper and every housekeeper who is not using a gas range will do well to consider what economy of space in the kitchen means in her own case. One can measure with eye or tape dimensions of gas range at John Street Appliance Store of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

Board of Trade Bill

Came too Late

On the petition of Mayor Meehan and others, on the Lowell board of trade bill to place on the statute books a law similar to the one in Boston governing the opening of new streets for public use, the house committee on rules yesterday voted leave to withdraw. The committee decided that it was too late a date to admit the bill. President Greene of the board declared that the matter is too important to be allowed to drop and a duplicate measure will be introduced next year early in the session. The purpose of the measure is to establish a board consisting of the mayor, the city civil engineer and the superintendent of streets, whose duty it shall be to approve in writing all plans of persons or corporations who plan to open new streets. The new streets must be satisfactory to this board as to location, direction, width and grade, before being opened for public travel. This bill was a duplicate, almost word for word, of the law now in force in Boston.

"JIM" CORBETT

To Look Into Jeffries' Condition

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Although James J. Corbett, according to his own declaration, has not come to California to take charge of Jeffries' training, it is generally believed that plans of the former champion for a revision of the work will be adopted and that Corbett will wield great influence henceforth in the regulation of the Ben Lomond program. He has some decided views as to the style of training Jeff should follow in preparation for his fight with Johnson. He says he has thoroughly analyzed Johnson's methods and that it is highly essential for Jeffries to school himself to a form of fighting best adapted to meet the negro's tactics. "And," he said last night, "it's fighting and boxing that Jeff requires from now on."

With the return of the Jeffries party to Ben Lomond today a conference will be held, it is said, to determine upon changes in Jeffries' training regime. Johnson will resume boxing this afternoon. He has extended a general invitation to all would-be partners.

THE BERNEICE

Won Power Boat Race to Havana

HAVANA, May 28.—The Berneice, owned by S. G. Granberry of Brookline, won the Yachtsmen club's powerboat race from Philadelphia to Havana.

The Berneice with her time allowance over the Caliph of three hours and forty minutes beat the latter boat by two hours, forty-four minutes and sixteen seconds. The Ibis and the Caroline had not been sighted this morning when their time allowance expired. The scratch boat, Leontine, owned by H. S. Peters of Trenton, N. J., had trouble with her machinery soon after the start and abandoned the race. The Caliph, owned by M. E. Brigham of the Ventnor Yacht club, finished first last evening. The Berneice arrived an hour later. The Caroline, Mr. F. Dennis of the Columbia Yacht club owner, had an allowance over the original scratch boat of 18 hours and 12 minutes and an allowance over the winner of six hours and 40 minutes. The Ibis had corresponding allowances of nineteen hours and three minutes and seven hours and twenty-eight minutes.

The vessels started on May 21 from Philadelphia and finished between Morro castle and Laputa fort at the entrance to the harbor here. The distance was 1125 nautical or 1300 statute miles.

The prizes were: first, City of Philadelphia cup, valued at $1000 and $1000 in cash; second, Yachtsmen's club cup valued at $500 and $500 in cash; third, the Alexander Van Rensselaer cup valued at $250 and $250 in cash.

BACHELOR CLUB

Made Another Big Hit Last Evening

So pleasing was the show of the Bachelor club, held a few weeks ago in Associate hall, that the Mathews, knowing a good thing in the show line, had them repeat the fun at their concert and dance last evening and they played to a big crowd in Associate hall.

Whatever little rough spots there might have been at the first performance had been eliminated last evening and everything went along smoothly. The Glendales, who were a trifle off color at the first performance, rolled out melody last evening that would make the Boston Opera company sit up and take notice. Prof. Arthur Martell's new song, "Sons of Uncle Sam," again made a big hit as sung by John J. Dalton and the company. Prof.

The program was as follows:

CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

The Engineering News for this month publishes an elaborate review of government by commission as adopted by 70 American cities. This plan of government originated as is well known at Galveston, Texas, after the great flood of 1900. Its success in that city was so remarkable that many other cities wishing to rid themselves of unbusinesslike methods and political bodies adopted the commission idea.

This plan consisted originally of five men, including the mayor of the city, its function being to transact the entire business of the city with an eye to economy and the best interests of the municipality. Gradually the commission idea was somewhat modified, many of the cities adopting it, engrafting upon it some local idea or some feature of the old system that the people wished to retain. The modifications in some cases consisted of reducing the number of members in the governing boards. In some cities that have not adopted the commission plan outright there has been a reduction in the size of the city council boards. Boston is a notable example of this, its present city council consisting of but nine members, whereas formerly its aldermen and councilmen numbered nearly 100. In Massachusetts three cities have adopted the commission idea, namely, Haverhill, Gloucester and Chelsea, while the city of Boston has adopted it in a modified form. It is but natural that the commission plan should be most widespread in Texas where it originated, and accordingly there are in that state 17 cities that have adopted this new idea of government. Kansas cities to the number of 16 have also adopted this plan, while the states of Iowa, Tennessee, North and South Dakota and California come next.

In order to avoid the possibility of autocratic power by these small governing bodies the principle of the "recall," together with the initiative and referendum, have been embodied in the charters so that whenever there is any necessity for removing the commission the power lies in the hands of the people. Judging from the successful working of this new plan of municipal government there is reason to believe that it will become still more popular, and that where it will not be adopted in its entirety some of the more important features will be engrafted upon the older forms of city charter. This change is going on rapidly in eliminating party politics and centering responsibility on executive heads, all of which, it is claimed, will make for more economic government and better general results.

MEMORIAL DAY

On Monday will be observed Memorial Day, a holiday in all the states and territories except Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The southern states have confederate memorial days, mainly upon April 26 and May 10. The time may come when there will be uniformity among the states on this matter of celebrating the memory of the fallen heroes; but never will the north shed tears over the sacrifices made by the confederates nor the south lament for any but her own. Nevertheless, it is the privilege of each state to honor its own dead, the men who responded to the call of duty, to defend the state against the contention or the dominance of a combination of other states.

The men who wore the blue or such of them as are alive today are loyal citizens reemitted to the union of states against which they fought, but they cannot forget the terrible struggle, the bloody conflict, the patriotic sacrifices of their brothers who laid down their lives in defense of a principle they believed to be right.

The survivors of the Confederate army are today as loyal citizens as if they had fought upon the Union side. Their numbers are few and still like the survivors of the Union army they are being rapidly mustered out.

It is too late now to stir up any sectional feeling; on the contrary we should fraternize with them on every opportunity; and hence it would be a grand thing if all the survivors of both Confederate and Union armies could come together in one great love feast, a great national jubilation upon the grandeur of the victory won by the Union cause when on April 9, 1865, Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. The survivors of the Union army should not grade the southerners all the little satisfaction they get out of erecting a statue to General Lee north of Mason and Dixon's line. We can afford to be magnanimous with the south on such matters, and it is best not to show any feeling that could be construed as enmity on account of disloyalty that is dead and buried.

While honoring our fallen heroes and the survivors who risked their all in the Civil war we must remember that these cannot be with us much longer, as the man who served his country in the field from 1862 to 1865 must now be well over sixty years even if he were but nineteen or twenty on enlistment. Most of our surviving veterans of the Civil war are nearing seventy or over, and at this age a man must necessarily conclude that his race is nearly run.

In this city, as in every other where true patriotism is found, these men are held in the highest veneration on account of their individual sacrifices, on account of the imperishable monument they have reared in this union of states one and inseparable forever.

The observance of Memorial Day is yearly becoming more and more sacred. The day is now observed with as much or even more solemnity than the Sabbath, for it reminds us of the patriotic sacrifices of our soldiers whose achievements remain to posterity for future ages. The survivors of that army link us with the dead and yearly on Memorial Day recall the religious duty of bringing fairest flowers to be laid as sweetest tokens of a nation's love upon her patriot graves.

DR. KOCH IS DEAD

Bacteriologist Victim of Heart Disease

BADEN BADEN, May 28.—Professor Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, died here yesterday from a disease of the heart. He was born at Clausthal, Hanover, Dec. 13, 1843. Undoubtedly no more distinguished figure has appeared in the medical world during the past two decades than Dr. Koch. Since Pasteur and Lister, none has contributed more to the general progress of medical science than has he. The very basis of practically all the great advances in surgery and medicine within the past decade can be traced to the bacteriologist's discoveries made by Dr. Koch.

He was educated at and graduated from the University of Göttingen. Shortly after taking his degree he commenced practice as a physician. He was first brought prominently before the public in 1880 through his work as an expert in the Spelchert poisoning case.

The conviction of the prisoner in this case was entirely due to the remarkable analyses and medical testimony of Dr. Koch. Later he was summoned to Berlin by reason of his appointment as a member of the sanitary commission of the metropolis and as professor of the Royal School of Medicine.

COMPANY K

The members of Company K, Sixth Infantry, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the organization of the company in the army last night. Many of the former members of the company were present to enjoy the festivities, and the affair proved one of the pleasures held this season. Private McDonald won first prize in the competitive drill, and Private Mountain second. Suitable cups were presented them. An entertainment followed.

THE MATTHEWS CONCERT

Sunday evening, May 29th, an exceptionally fine concert will be given by the Matthews Temperance Institute, in aid of the building fund, at the Matthews Moving Picture Palace in Fulton street.

The artists who have generously volunteered their services for this occasion are especially good and delightful entertainers, and with these fine reels of pictures added will make a most enjoyable evening for those who attend.

An excellent program has been arranged in which the following will appear: Arthur J. Martel, Master James Burke, Miss Mae O'Dwyer, W. H. Mulcahey, Joseph McMahon, Dragon quartet, Lindsey brothers and Lyons, Miss Mac Thistle, W. B. Brady, Frank E. Dresser, Miss Frances Tighe, and others.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

What might be termed "a laughing program" is the current offering at the Opera House, where a fine comedy program of vaudeville and motion pictures is the attraction. The Hub City Comedy Four are making a hit with the singing and comedy work. Robinson and Lafferty, comedy acrobats keep the audience in roars of laughter while Scott and Dupree are pleasing with a clever character change singing and dancing act of merit. The pictures shown are good and of the latest subjects and include both dramatic and comedy stories. Four full shows will be given today starting at 1:30, 3, 7 and 9:30. A fine Sunday concert program has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon and evening with the Hub City Four, Saminski, the Hungarian violinist, George Brown, vocalist and an entire change of pictures on the program. Sunday concerts are given from 1:30 to 5 and 7 to 10 with prices at five and ten cents. Commencing next Monday another of the excellent vaudeville and motion picture programs will be seen with the Defton Bros., Ward and Barton, Italian and Thayer and new songs and pictures.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is a happy show at the Theatre Voyons today inasmuch as every picture is either comedy or one with plenty of laughs in it. "The Wings of Love" is a clever love story of two young Hollanders and the settings are picturesque and quite correct. "The Centurion" and "The Husbands Dream" and "See 'em Late" are all comedies with real laughs in all of them. The musical selections please because they are well rendered. Sunday the usual good show will be given of motion pictures and illustrated songs each the best in the market. On Monday, Miss Ida Wilson leading contralto for the Boston Opera Company will join the Theatre Voyons singing staff.

SUPREME COURT

Again Takes up the Cherokee Indian Case

BOSTON, May 28.—After an absence of four years the famous Cherokee Indian case involving the distribution of more than $1,000,000 to these wards of the nation, returned today to the supreme court of the United States.

Attorneys for Head Captain John McIntosh, Second Captain Hildebrand, Sam Roney and others, today asked the supreme court to require the court of claims "to obey" the mandate of the supreme court in passing on the case four years ago.

At that time Attorneys Sullivan and Dashi claim the supreme court directed a distribution of the funds by the court of claims on a "per stripes" basis.

It is now complained that the court of claims has directed a distribution on a per capita basis.

Another objection is made to the proceedings of the court of claims. It is maintained by the attorneys that the supreme court directed the court of claims to have the secretary of the interior prepare the roll of persons entitled to participate in the distribution. Instead of following this mandate it is claimed a special commissioner was appointed by the court at great expense to prepare the roll. It is urged that this, too, was disobedience to the mandate of the supreme court which is urged to enforce its decree.

L. E. and it is supposed to be the one worn by Private Guy L. Fellows of the 15th company of Const. Artillery, who has been missing since last Saturday night and was supposed to have been drowned by falling off the bridge while on his way to Fort Constitution, New Castle.

The finding of the weighted cap has aroused a suspicion that Fellows' death may not have been accidental, as who ever threw the cap into the stream did so with the intention of effectually concealing it. Another queer circumstance is the fact that there are no granite chips like the one found in the cap near the scene where the cap was found, but there are very plentiful in the vicinity of the fort.

Major Uech states that his men have been working in the immediate vicinity of where the cap was found all of the week, but it was not noticed until yesterday.

WHIST CLUB GIVES MRS. DONAHUE A SURPRISE

The Metropolitan whist club, composed of well known ladies of this city, held a most delightful meeting on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Daniel J. Donahue in Fairmount street and there was a splendid attendance of members. Whist was played and some excellent scores were made, suitable prizes being awarded to the successful ones. There was another feature of the afternoon session which while not down on the program and unknown to the hostess of the occasion proved to be none the less enjoyable. It came during a lull in the festivities when Mrs. J. W. McKennedy, the well known organist, presented Mrs. Donahue with a silk umbrella and a handkerchief as a token of appreciation from the club for her generous hospitality on many occasions of the club meetings. Needless to say, Mrs. Donahue was almost completely overwhelmed, and it was with difficulty that she could express her thanks for the beautiful gifts. After the presentation, a delicious luncheon was served and there was an informal musical program.

Three Doctors Agree

That the Best Thing for Hair and Scalp Is Frequent Washing

Three of the leading authorities on the scalp and hair are Woods Hutchinson, M. D., and Dr. J. C. Bayles of New York, and Dr. Lassar of Germany. It is remarkable that all three agree absolutely that the first and foremost thing to do in treating hair and scalp troubles is to keep the head clean by frequent washing. Dr. Lassar says that the first step in treating dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair is to keep the scalp clean by washing. Woods Hutchinson, M. D., says: "The main hope of stopping the advance of baldness lies in the direction of improving the general health and vigor, while at the same time keeping the scalp and hair in a clean, antiseptic, well-ventilated condition. Avoid using too strong soaps, strong alkalis, such as ammonia and soda, and too hot water, as all of these take out too much of the natural lubricant, or oil, of the hair, and leave it dry and harsh." Dr. J. C. Bayles says: "The only thing the layman can do to avert baldness is to keep the head clean and in the direction of cleanliness. Hair that falls out, itching scalp and dandruff cannot be cured by fake tonics, renewers, growers and invigorators. The only sure way to benefit the hair and scalp is to keep them clean and free from dust and dandruff. For this reason, Dr. J. C. Bayles, the new scientific preparation, is most highly recommended because it is made of Refined Soap, White of Eggs, Coclin Cocconut Oil, Glycerine and Sulfuric Acid. Ask your doctor about it. CORPUS CHRISTI

Feast to be Observed in the Catholic Churches Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be the feast of Corpus Christi and will be observed in all Catholic churches with beautiful processions in which the host will be carried exposed. As has been the custom for years at St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception churches the processions will be held in the open. The day will be observed on a particularly elaborate plan for the first time this year by the people of St. Jean Baptiste's church, who will not only have a parade of several thousands through the streets in the vicinity of the church but will have benediction at a temporary altar erected in the open.

At St. Patrick's For years thousands have annually assembled for the Corpus Christi procession at St. Patrick's and this year's program will be in keeping with its many elaborate predecessors. The procession will be held in connection with the vesper service which starts at 2.30. At the Magnificat the procession consisting of the societies of the church, the pupils and choir of Notre Dame Academy, the church and sanctuary choirs with the sacred ministers bearing the host under a canopy will proceed from the church headed by the Lowell Cadet band to the academy grounds where benediction will be given at a temporary altar. Then the little will move farther along to the grove in the grounds where again benediction will be given. The procession will then proceed into Fenwick street and thence to the church yard, where a large temporary altar has been erected at the monument. Once more benediction will be given and then the procession will return to the church where the final benediction will be given. The band and chime bells will alternate in playing sacred music while the three choirs will alternate in singing. At the church yard all three choirs will combine in singing the "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" with accompaniment by the chimes. First communion service will be held at the 7 o'clock mass.

At St. Peter's church, the Corpus Christi procession will be held in connection with the solemn high mass at 10.45 o'clock. The procession will be confined to the aisles of the church and will take place immediately after mass. The formation of the procession will be as follows: cross bearer, James Marikham with Raymond Forays and George McDonough as acolytes; Harry Moray bearing large white dove. First division, banner bearer, Miss Katherine McKennedy, children with wreaths, four little girls as angels and eight flower girls; second division, banner bearer, Miss Josephine McHugh, thirty children wearing wreaths and carrying red and white streamers along the aisles; cross of flowers carried by Miss Mary Mahoney; anchor, by Miss Alice Gilligan and heart by Miss Nora Graffan; third division, chalice bearer, carried by Miss Rita Nawn, girls with wreaths and wearing purple sashes; Miss Dorothy Driscoll, carrying grapes and Lillian Rogers carrying wheat; fourth division, Children of Mary banner, carried by Miss Mabel Sheehan, girls wearing blue sashes and veils and carrying bouquets. Letters I. H. S. carried by Mollie Whelan, Katherine Cryan and Sally Hannagan; fifth division, Sacred Heart banner, carried by Miss Mabel Ferguson; fifth girls wearing red sashes and veils and carrying cypress palms, two girls carrying lights, altar boys, sanctuary choir, officiating priests under canopy borne by following: Messrs. Daniel F. Kelly, Michael Corbett, Patrick Gilbride and James E. Gorman.

In the evening the triduum which opened at the church on Thursday evening will come to a close with a sermon by Rev. Fr. Conway, S. J., vice president of Boston college. There will also be a reception into the Immaculate Conception sodality. Last evening the sermon was preached by Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., the eloquent president of Boston college and it was an able effort.

Big Procession Planned

The buildings in Little Canada are being profusely and generally decorated today in honor of the Fete Dieu, or feast of Corpus Christi, which occurs tomorrow when a beautiful outdoor observance will be held. In the event of inclement weather, the procession will be postponed until the following Sunday.

In the morning solemn high mass will be sung at St. Jean Baptiste church at 10 o'clock. Solemn vespers will be sung at 2.30 o'clock. After vespers, the procession will take place.

The march will be through Alken and Cheever streets to Pawtucket street, and back through Moody and Austin streets, to the church.

At the corner of Pawtucket and Cheever streets, a repository will be erected for the Blessed Sacrament, and there a station will be made and benediction will be sung. The choirs of both St. Joseph's and St. Jean Baptiste churches will take places around the repository and sing hymns to the Eucharist.

The procession will be an extensive one, on a scale seldom seen at a religious demonstration in Lowell. The French-American military guards, as well as the numerous French American societies having chaplains, as well as the children of the parish schools, will turn out.

Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., the organizer of the demonstration, has given out the following order for the procession:

The cross, with two torch bearers and 12 acolytes.

Garde des Saints-Anges.

St. Anne's sodality.

Immaculate Conception

The Corpus Christi procession at the Immaculate Conception church will be held at 8.30 in the evening in connection with the vesper service. A program similar to that of last year will be carried out, the procession winding through the paths of Columbus park in front of the church. The O. M. I. Cadets will act as guards of honor to the sacred ministers.

At St. Michael's, the Sacred Heart and St. Anthony's churches, processions will be held in connection with vesper service.

BASE BALL POOLS

Supt. Welch Gives Warning That Arrests Will be Made

All Pools Must Discontinue at Once, or Those Running Them Will be Prosecuted—The Sports Sadly Accept Supt.'s Ultimatum

It's all off with the baseball pools. Superintendent Welch, after warning the sports connected with the big pools being conducted in this city, this morning informed a reporter of The Sun that baseball pools such as have been running since the season opened will not be tolerated longer.

"We have received many complaints from parents of boys who work and who are spending a portion of their small wages in baseball pools, and hence we must stop pool selling. There is only one way to stop such a thing and that is by prosecuting those who are running the pools. Any man, regardless of who he may be who is detected conducting a pool after tonight will be arrested."

The news of the closing down of the pools will jar the baseball fans, for never in the history of the city has Lowell gone so completely crazy over baseball and baseball pools, and men, women and children have been playing them. There are small pools in every mill and workshop in the city, many of which will never be detected by the police. But certain big public pools have come to the attention of the police and these will be stopped forthwith. The men running the big pools in every instance will stop without further notice for none has any desire to buck against the dictum of Supt. Welch. A dollar pool which has been running since the season will pay to the winner tonight something over $400, while a 50 cent pool to be decided this evening will pay the winner something over $200. From the amount of the pools one can get an idea of the number of people who are playing them.

INSANE PATIENTS

Made Their Escape From Asylum

FOXBORO, May 28.—Two insane patients have escaped from the state hospital at Foxboro. They are Eugene Fish, 35, formerly of Attleboro, and Patrick Riley, 25, formerly of East Boston. The police have been notified, but owing to the start the lunatics secured, no clue has been obtained. The escape was made by means of rope formed from bed clothing, by means of which they lowered themselves from the window, first removing the gratings on the window with a spoon which was secreted in the clothing of one of them.

Fish has made several attempts to escape during the time he has been incarcerated, but has been discovered each time previously.

For some time neither of the men had given any manifestations of violence. They were confined in a building with grated windows and at supper one of them secured a spoon. Between the visits of the guard, who makes his rounds frequently, the prisoners, by the means of the handle of the spoon, removed the screws of the grating. The windows being some distance from the ground, the lunatics fashioned a rope out of strips of sheets and lowered themselves to the ground. They are not considered dangerous.

FUNERALS

TAFF.—The funeral of the late Christopher Taff took place this morning from the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Graham, 57 Andover street, at 8 o'clock, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church, where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Charles P. Smith, sang the Gregorian mass. Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. There was a large spray of pink carnations inscribed "Father," from Mrs. Thomas Roddy and family. The bearers were Messrs. John and James Graham, John Foster and James Roddy. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., read the committal services at the grave. Funeral Director Thomas J. McDermott had charge.

I., and Shawshagen of Billerica, together with Centralville, Grand Union and Highland Veritas lodges of Lowell and their O. D. G. Masters; also many high officials of the order. Oberlin will confer in presence of visiting brothers the second degree by the regular staff of Oberlin. It is intended to make the evening one of good fellowship as a fitting close of a successful season's work. All members of Oberlin are expected to be present and extend a hearty welcome to the visiting brothers.

NEGRESS NURSE

HAS ENTERED SUIT FOR $5000 AGAINST HOSPITAL

PITTSFIELD, May 28.—Claiming she has been discriminated against because of her color, Sarah O. Henderson, a Newport, R. I., negress, has filed a claim for $5000 against Hillcrest Surgical hospital of this city.

Some time ago she answered a prospectus of the hospital relative to a post-graduate course for trained nurses and was accepted. She gave her nationality as American and made no mention of her negro blood, as she claims the blank did not require her to.

When she arrived in this city, she says she was refused admittance to the hospital. Although a negress, she is light in color. She has retained an attorney.

For the past few months she has been conducting a private hospital in Dallas, Tex., closing it, she says, to come here.

Dr. Charles H. Richardson, in charge of the hospital, stated yesterday that had the woman stated her color, her application would have been turned down, as neither of the local hospitals enrolls colored women for nurses.

LICENSE YOUR DOG

Police Start a Crusade Against Dog Owners

Heretofore the Unlicensed Dog Was Asphyxiated, but This Year His Owner Will be Prosecuted

Go up to city hall and license that pup at once or you'll get "pinched!" The first case of the season of an arrest for keeping an unlicensed dog was heard in police court this morning.

Heretofore it has been customary for the police to notify owners of unlicensed dogs about the first of June to get out licenses lest they get into the meshes of the police, or their dogs suffer the penalty of the gas box.

The law says that all dogs must be licensed on May 1 and does not say that the police must notify the dog owner to license his animal.

This year the police have adopted a new procedure. They have waited a month beyond the time limit on licenses and are now starting out to prosecute all owners of unlicensed dogs without the formality of notifying them to license in advance.

"Thus if your dog is not licensed, get busy at city hall at once, for you'll not only be fined, but you'll have to get the license out anyway."

6 O'CLOCK FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Program of the Observance as
Arranged by G. A. R. Posts

Four Military Companies to Report on South Common at 3 O'Clock—Parade at 4 O'Clock The Route and Other Details

So far as business is concerned, there'll be very little doing in Lowell on Monday, Memorial day. All of the big mills and most of the smaller industries will not open after the closing hour this noon or this evening, until Tuesday morning. The big stores will all be closed and the day will be one of celebrating the memory of the dead, not only the soldiers but all those who have surviving friends.

Lowell's downtown streets have not taken on their patriotic colors, but in other sections of the city old glory is waving in the breeze.

At a meeting of the three Grand Army posts, held in Post 185 hall last night, final arrangements for the observance of Memorial Sunday tomorrow and Memorial day were completed.

The city council appropriated $100 for the proper observance of Memorial day by the three G. A. R. posts and $250 for Adelbert Ames camp, No. 97, Spanish War Veterans, the money to be expended by them and bills approved by the mayor.

Decorating the graves of the soldiers and sailors will be the impressive feature of the Memorial day exercises, and it seems a proper and good thing for the living to remember the dead at least once a year. Start out to make God's Acre beautiful; take the crimson roses of love, the white ones of innocence, the lavender heliotrope of devotion, the blue forget-me-nots of never-dying memory, the lilies of purity, and strew them about, here there and everywhere, making the day one of absolute union of hearts, union of feeling and union of remembrance. That is what Decoration day should be.

G. A. R. Arrangements
At the meeting of the Grand Army posts held last night Chief Marshal Earl A. Thissell presided. Chief of Staff George E. Worthen read the completed general orders which have been issued to the commanders of the three posts, the militia company commanders, and to the heads of the Sons of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans and High school regiment.

The following are announced as aides-de-camp for the day: Post 42, Patrick F. Brady; Post 129, William L. Dickey; Post 185, James P. Emerson; Spanish War Veterans, Oscar P. Ellis and William E. Goodwin; Sons of Veterans, Henry Gray; Company C, Sixth regiment, Sergeant James J. Powers and musician Chester E. GREEN SCHOOL

On the Joint Observance of Memorial and Peace Day—Governor Draper, Archbishop O'Connell, Sen. Lodge, Wm. J. Bryan, Ambassador Bryce, Admiral Dewey and Others—Other Programs

A patriotic program, quite out of the ordinary, and one of unusual excellence, was arranged by Principal Bacheller of the Green school in observance of Memorial Day and Peace Day. These days were unitedly observed at that school yesterday. Patriotic selections were read by Gladys King, Norman Roberts and James Bruin, and there was singing by the school. Principal Bacheller's remarks were very interesting and were closely followed by those present. Mr. Bacheller had written to several famous men and they all made answer. The answers were read by Mr. Bacheller, who before reading each letter told something of the life and distinction of the author.

EBEN S. DRAPER
Executive Department,
Boston, May 25, 1910.
Dear Mr. Bacheller: I think Memorial Day is one of the most beautiful observances which we have in this country. The placing of flowers on the veterans' graves, or the dropping of them onto the sea, which is the burial place of our seamen, is a beautiful tribute.

The memory of these men is kept green because they sacrificed their lives for their country might live. The effect of this day, and its exercises should be to impress on the minds of all young people the lasting remembrance that will come to them if they devote their lives to the service of their country. By this I do not mean necessarily service in war, but service for good citizenship and the promotion of every good thing—the more peaceful the better.

Very sincerely yours,
Eben S. Draper,
Governor of Massachusetts.

ARCHBISHOP O'CONNELL
Message to the pupils of the Green School, Lowell, from His Grace, the Most Rev. W. H. O'Connell, D. D., Archbishop of Boston.
Memorial Day Exercises, May 27th.
The youth of America are the heirs of two great possessions—citizenship in a blessed land, and liberty of worship.

The glorious opportunities which our dear country offers to the man and the woman of every condition of life are unequalled. There is almost no height of achievement to which our youth may not legitimately aspire, no sphere of splendid service which he may not enter, nor any his education and training have prepared him for them. If his character, his ideals, his industry, his self-restraint, are equal to his opportunity, his life is bound to be a record of honorable achievement; and whether he dwells among the humble or sits among the mighty, his work must count in the building of the nation.

Not place but quality is what a democracy most needs. No princely title, but a princely heart makes the true American. He who feels for the honor and the welfare of our country as a king for his royalty, he is the only rightful heir to the crown of American citizenship. The blessings which follow upon the path of holy peace are all yours, and the very greatest of all these is the right to worship God—our God—the God of truth and holiness.

This is the sacred union of our country. What matter all the rest if God be with us? For where God's blessing rests, there alone is perfect peace.

William H. O'Connell,
Archbishop, Boston.

U. S. SENATOR LODGE
United States Senate, May 16, 1910.
My Dear Sir:—I have received your very kind letter of the 18th, and feel much interest in the Memorial Day exercises that you are planning for your boys and girls.

The future of the country during the next generation will lie in their hands, and nothing is of greater moment than that they should, in their school days, learn the great lesson of the duty they owe to their country, which has given them so much.

I wish they could all be made to feel that one of their first duties, as citizens of the republic, is to take an interest in public affairs, and try to understand public measures and public men, so that they may use their influence with others, and cast their votes intelligently and patriotically.

I am, very truly yours,
Henry Cabot Lodge.

ADMIRAL GEO. DEWEY
Office of the Admiral of the Navy,
Washington, May 7, 1910.
Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 5th instant, requesting a few remarks suitable for use in your school for "Peace Day" celebration.

The strong tendency today throughout the world in its rapid progress in civilization and growing intelligence is toward peace between nations.

Many societies have been formed to advocate, and by various means to secure, if possible, this end. They are striving for universal peace by conciliation, and for arbitration between the United States and all foreign nations, through a permanent international court.

These measures, if accomplished, will no doubt serve their purpose well, and be a blessing. But until the principles are accomplished and thoroughly tried, adequate armament for national security is still a necessity.

Nations like individuals, will quarrel, and the only settlement of disputes is by force or by judicial action.

The subject of permanent peace is still a much mooted one, but it is hoped that some day war will be a thing of the past, and all questions will be settled without bloodshed.

Very truly yours,
George Dewey.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN
Office of the Comptroller,
Lincoln, Neb., May 11, 1910.
My Dear Sir: You may say for me that the peace movement is growing. Truth, whether it be political or moral truth, grows and at last triumphs. The proposition that disputes should be settled by arbitration rather than by force is both a political and a moral truth, and must in time prevail.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE
British Embassy,
Washington, May 16, 1910.
Dear Sir: I am so often requested to send messages that I have found it necessary, as a rule, to decline requests of the kind, but the object you have in view is so laudable that I may vary my practice so far as to say:

Manhood seems to have begun from a general state of war between tribes. Even the Greek philosophers thought that war was the natural condition of things between different independent communities.

There is no more evident march of progress than in the growing desire for peace, and for the providing of methods of securing it.

To this Christianity has more than any other moral force contributed. It remains for us to carry on and complete the good work.

I am, very truly yours,
James Bryce.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT
Knoxville, Tennessee,
May 20, 1910.
Dear Mr. Bacheller: Your letter was forwarded to me, so please excuse my delay in replying. I have been away from home for a long time. I am glad to comply with your request.

It pleases me to know that you honor the Grand Army of the Republic by having exercises held in your school on Memorial Day.

I believe that education and patriotism should go hand in hand, for if we can have the educated mind and the patriotic heart joined together, we need never fear for the safety of the republic. The hope and safety of the nation ever was, is now, and ever will be, in its young men.

The coming forward of the young men from '61 to '65 destroyed the hydra headed monster of secession, saved the Union, freed the slaves, and retained every star in our nation's flag.

Assure your boys and girls that the commander-in-chief, speaking for every living Civil War veteran, appreciates the honor they pay us in remembering our deathless dead, and trusts that they will ever be mindful of their duties as American citizens.

Tell them that soldiers are needed as much in time of peace as in time of war, and that a courage is required greater than to charge the enemy's lines, when the conflict rages in all its fury.

We do not need men now to die for their country, but to live for it.

And may your boys and girls so live and act that they may, at all times, faithfully serve their country, so that the future may be secure. If they do this, the republic, founded by the fathers, will ever remain as firm as a mountain on its base.

Cordially yours,
Samuel R. Van Sant,
Commander-in-Chief Grand Army of the Republic.

RICHMOND P. HOBSON
House of Representatives, U. S.,
Washington, D. C., May 10, 1910.
Mr. Albert L. Bacheller, Green School, Lowell, Mass.
My Dear Mr. Bacheller:—Your letter of May 5th is before me. It occurs to me that the thought that could be fittingly dwelt upon on your patriotic day, May 30th, the day set aside for commemorating the sacrifices of those who died in battle, fighting under their country's flag, would well be the great cost of sacrifices paid for the liberties and civic blessings that we enjoy as citizens of America.

The greatest of these blessings is the equality of opportunity and the greatness of opportunity in our vast and wonderful country. The sacrifices for securing equality of opportunity date from before the foundation of our government and go back to the days of Magna Charter and the original Bill of Rights, each successive step in securing and maintaining equality of opportunity having been made at a stupendous sacrifice on the part of our forefathers.

The vastness and greatness of our country have cost untold sacrifices. It is only necessary to refer to the more than 800,000 casualties of the Civil War to show what it has cost to keep this country united.

In view of the stupendous sacrifices that have thus been made by our fathers and forefathers, the young people of our day and generation should put the highest value upon the rights, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship.

The true way to show appreciation is for each American to develop the highest type of citizenship, making of himself a splendid specimen of manhood and womanhood in physique, intelligence and character, and to take an ever increasing part in the activities of our day and generation, to solve the problems of the home, of the city, of the state, of the nation, and even to contribute to the solution of the great problems of the world.

Whether in war or in peace, let the aim of your pupils be to pitch their lives on the plain of the maximum, to make of themselves the finest specimens of manhood and womanhood, and to render the maximum of useful service in their day and generation.

Wishing you and your school every success, I remain

Sincerely yours,
Richmond Pearson Hobson.

REAR ADMIRAL WINFIELD SCOTT SCHLEY

Washington, D. C., May 10, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller:—I do not know of any better message to young ladies and young boys in these days than to impress upon them the value of the example of their fathers and mothers, and in the days of their youth, to cultivate the qualities of truthfulness, honor and religious consecration. These things constitute the sound foundation for good citizenship in this land which we love.

The beautiful lives of John and Margaret Winthrop, Massachusetts' first colonial officials, and within their reach and are inspiring examples for every life in our favored land.

Very truly yours,
Winfield Scott Schley.

JOHN SERGEANT WISE

Kiptopeke's Lodge, Cape Charles, P. O.,
Virginia, May 17, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller.

Dear Sir: When your boys and girls meet May 30th, give them my affectional greetings, and wish them success.

Forty-six years ago on May 15th, I was shot in battle, fighting for the Confederate cause.

At the end of that war I spoke of it as a "Lost cause," I myself as subjugated. I have lived to realize that I was not so much subjugated as I thought I was, and that may be I did not lose as much as I then thought I had lost.

I teach my children to realize that the world had passed the point of slavery, and that God never intended the union which Washington and Marshall did so much for, to be dissolved.

I also teach them that this country could never have attained its present power and glory if it had been divided.

I also teach them that their fathers, in that struggle, believed themselves to be contending for the inalienable right of local self-government, for which right, if need be, they were ready to die. I teach them that the southern people were just as brave and just as honest in that war, and not a bit braver or more honest, than the northern people.

I teach them that the war ended, as it should, for the happiness of all the people, and the glory of our nation.

It is a harder task for the defeated to learn this lesson than it should be for the victorious. But until both sides learn it, our common country can never be at its best.

The causes which tended to divide our country are removed forever. Let the bitterness engendered by them also be removed and forgotten.

Yours truly,
John Sergeant Wise.

ERNEST T. SETON

Wyndygoul, Cos Cab, Conn.,
May 14, 1910.

My Dear Sir:—In reply to yours of May 11th.

We now know a great deal about the pre-Columbian history of America, as well as the post-Columbian history of its native peoples. And we realize that again and again the red man was advancing rapidly toward a peculiarly high and beautiful civilization of his own, and each time he was dropped from the mountain side and back into the swamps of savagery by the demon of war.

The lesson of American history is that war is the great enemy.

Very truly yours,
Ernest Thompson Seton.

Richmond, Virginia.

My dear Sir:—Your letter of the 12th has been forwarded to me from Birmingham, Alabama, which is not now my place of residence.

Tell your boys and girls for me that war is an ugly and cruel thing, living in a horrible fortress guarded by death thoughts, and that Universal Brotherhood is the knight we are going to send against him, and that Universal Peace is the pure and beautiful princess that the dwarf keeps prisoner in his fortress, and that universal arbitration is the golden key that will let the princess out, and that love and common sense are the sword and spear with which the knight is going to slay the dwarf, and with all good wishes for the success of your Peace day, believe me

Very sincerely yours,
Mary Johnston.

IN A BATTING FEST

Lowell Walloped Brockton Team
at Spalding Park

In a free batting and interesting game at Spalding park yesterday Lowell defeated Brockton by a score of 8 to 5, delighting some 700 spectators for the batting game is what the crowd appears to like.

Lowell presented three new players, Delaney behind the bat, McDonald on first base and Blakeley in center field. All made a good impression. Wolfgang was on the slab for Lowell and while at times he appeared to be going bad he always had his head in tight places and pulled himself out of a couple of dangerous places. Brockton presented Eberley, a new one to the Lowell fans and he didn't last three innings when another new one, Sweeney, went in and Sweeney appeared to be a little better.

Terry McGovern distinguished himself by making a home run over the left field fence while little Frank Shannon cracked out a dandy three-bagger.

The game in detail:

First Inning

There was a batting carnival in the first inning. Lowell getting two runs while the visitors scored one run. Dulin drew a free pass and McGovern popped a fly to Fitzpatrick. Hendrickson bunted along the first base line and beat the ball out. Stankard singled to left field, scoring Dulin. Shannon hit to Cooney who threw to second getting Stankard and the ball was returned to first for a double play.

In the latter half of the inning Fitz hit to McGovern, who threw him out at first. Ryan singled over second base and went to second on a balk. He scored on Cooney's two-bagger to left field. McDonald hit to Shannon and died at first. Magee singled and Cooney scored. Magee then stole second. Fitzpatrick drew a free pass. Blakeley hit to Dulin and failed to reach first.

Score—Lowell 2, Brockton 1.

Second Inning

In the second inning there was a different story to tell. The visitors scored two runs and Lowell failed to send a man across the plate.

McLane fled to Magee and Jolly hit to Cooney, who threw bad to first. Lavigne singled by Ryan. Eberley hit along the first base line to McDonald and was out. Jolly scoring. Dulin singled to right field scoring Lavigne. Dulin stole second, but McGovern fled to Blakeley.

In Lowell's half Delaney hit to the pitcher and was out to first and Wolfgang followed with a fly to McLane. Fitz reached first in safety but was nailed between first and second while trying to steal the latter base.

Score—Lowell 2, Brockton 3.

Third Inning

Another run for the visitors in the third inning. Hendrickson fanned the breeze and Stankard singled and was caught between first and second. Shannon hit the ball out to the center field fence for three bases. McLane scored him with a single and then Blakeley stole second. Jolly was third out on a foul fly to Delaney.

In the latter half of the inning the home team slammed Eberley and scored three runs. Ryan started out with a scratch single. He went to second on Cooney's sacrifice and traveled to third on a passed ball. McDonald got hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Magee hit to left field for a single scoring Ryan. McDonald tried to make third and was thrown out. Eberley got hit by a pitched ball and walked. Blakeley drew a base on balls and then Delaney knocked out a single scoring Magee and Fitzpatrick. At this point Eberley was taken out and Sweeney was put in to pitch. Wolfgang closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 4.

Fourth Inning

In the fourth inning Lavigne fled to Ryan. Sweeney and Dulin hit grounders to Wolfgang and were out at first.

Lowell got as far as second and third in the fourth but failed to score. Fitz was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. He went to second on Ryan's sacrifice. Cooney hit to Jolly and was out at first. Fitz going to third. McDonald drew a base on balls and stole second. Magee fled to Hendrickson.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 4.

Fifth Inning

The visitors tied the score in the fifth inning. McGovern hit the first ball pitched over the left field fence for a home run. Hendrickson drew a base on balls but was nailed while trying to steal second. Stankard got a free pass. Shannon hit to Wolfgang and was out at first. McLane fled to Blakeley and was third out.

In Lowell's half Fitzpatrick fled to McGovern. Blakeley struck out and Delaney hit to Jolly and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 5.

Sixth Inning

In the sixth inning Jolly hit to Fitz and was out at first. Lavigne singled and Sweeney did likewise. Wolfgang then caught Lavigne off second and Dulin was third out on strikes.

Lowell forged to the front in the latter half of the inning. Wolfgang opened with a single and went to second on Fitz's sacrifice. Ryan hit to Shannon and died at first. Wolfgang going to third on the play. Cooney knocked a two-bagger to right center field and Wolfgang scored. McDonald was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 6, Brockton 5.

Many fans would like to see Jake Bouttes on the slab for a while game.

All the new men looked very good yesterday.

When McDonald stepped on the field he was immediately christened "Cudd." Young Sweeney, the Brockton pitcher who finished out the game, looks good.

Terry McGovern was surprised at not finding Cooney in the lineup. Terry says Jones always looked good to him.

The Lynn papers are of the opinion that Hamilton made a mistake in letting Stovall go. Here's hoping he did for we have Stovall. With an extra outfielder on the bench the three now working will have to keep going.

Lynn plays here Monday morning and Lowell at Lynn Monday afternoon.

The game Monday will start at 10 o'clock sharp.

Campbell, Moore and Foy were released last evening.

Willie Lewis
NEW YORK, May 28.—Stanley Ketchel of Michigan, the middleweight champion, knocked out Willie Lewis of this city, in the second round of a scheduled 10 round bout at the National Sporting club last night. Lewis, who was the Parisian idol some months ago, is a welterweight and was fully 10 pounds lighter than Ketchel, who weighed in yesterday at 155 pounds, according to agreement. Tom O'Rourke, the manager of the club, acted as referee.

Lewis went right at his man in the opening round and exchanged body blows at close quarters with Ketchel having the better of the exchange.

Lewis was very confident when he stepped to the centre of the ring in the second round. He went after Ketchel furiously but the fast pace was too much for him and Ketchel sent him to the floor to be counted out. He lay there for several minutes before he revived sufficiently to be helped out of the ring.

In the semi-final bout, Jim Smith, a sparring partner of Lewis, stopped in five rounds. "Chuck" Carleton, a negro middleweight who claims the championship of the American navy. It was a clever bout and both men were badly beaten up.

GOODMAN AND SHEA
BROCKTON, May 28.—Kid Goodman of Boston and Kid Shea of Lowell, Me., the latter substituting for Mike Glover of South Boston, who failed to put in an appearance, boxed six fast rounds in a no-decision bout before the members of the Young Men's Athletic and Social club in the Palace rink last night. It was the main bout of the evening, and was to have gone 12 rounds, but the men refused to go on for more than six because of the small crowd.

Shea had the better of the argument in the first two rounds. He was clever on his feet, getting away from a number of wicked punches, and having a straight left followed by a right swing that he worked repeatedly. Goodman came back in the next two rounds and with short arm punches slowed Shea down. In the fifth he put in a short right to the wind and a left to the face that sent Shea to the floor, but he was up instantly.

Both finished strong, with Shea still working first his left and then right to the face, and Goodman coming back with several wallops to the wind.

In the semi-final, scheduled for six rounds, Tony Marling of South Boston won from Young Murphy of Boston in three rounds. Murphy was down twice in the second round for the count of three and again for the count of five. The bout was awarded to Marling.

Speedy Nasey of Brockton stopped Cully Samuelson of Brockton in three rounds. Samuelson spent most of the time on the floor and hanging on to the ropes.

SUIT IS ENTERED

Lawyer Connolly Claims $20,000 Damages

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Christopher P. Connolly, a lawyer of Montana and New York, and a well known writer for magazines, filed suit in the superior court of the District of Columbia to recover $20,000 damages for alleged slander from Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney-general for the interior department.

The suit is the first of the threatened legal proceedings growing out of the Badinger-Pinchot inquiry. It was rumored about the court yesterday that Secretary Ballinger is prepared to invoke the law against some of his alleged traducers.

The basis of the action is the testimony alleged to have been given by Mr. Lawler before the Badinger-Pinchot inquiry. It was rumored about the court yesterday that Secretary Ballinger is prepared to invoke the law against some of his alleged traducers.

Mr. Lawler before the Badinger-Pinchot inquiry. It was rumored about the court yesterday that Secretary Ballinger is prepared to invoke the law against some of his alleged traducers.

Mr. Connolly and others as "despicable scoundrels who would stoop to any depth of degradation." He is further alleged to have testified that a man named Connolly stood on the deck of the steamship Republic just before she went down and trampled down women and children in an attempt to get to a life boat.

When asked to identify the "Connolly" referred to, it is alleged that Mr. Lawler said "he is an employee of Collier's Weekly" and is a tall, slender man with a short gray moustache.

This, Mr. Connolly says, describes him.

IN EAST AFRICA

Cowboys Captured Big Game

NEW YORK, May 28.—"Buffalo" Jones, the American plainsman, came back from Africa on the Mauretania yesterday with a story of the use of wild west methods in capturing blood-thirsty animals which inhabit the dark continent.

"Buffalo" Jones, or Col. C. J. Jones as he signs his name, was accompanied by Lovelace, Means and Schull, cowboys from New Mexico. They had 10 ponies from the west and they captured more than 50 wild rhinoceroses and other animals in Koon valley, East Africa. Though they were in danger at times, none of them was injured.

"We didn't bother with rifles," said Jones, "we just had lariats, which we knew would do the business."

"I guess the wild beasts never saw anything that could jump along like an American cowboy. We'd keep after them—lions, hippos, rhinos and other things for hours sometimes, but the ponies always won in the end."

"We turned loose all our catches except one lioness, which we have shipped on a steamer that will reach here next week. That lioness was a tough one. We heard her roar three miles away. We drove her from the woods into an open space by exploding fire crackers. Then we surrounded her. Schull was at one time so close to her that we could not see daylight between them. I swung the lasso and caught her."

One day the party was charged by a huge rhinoceros.

"She was a hard proposition," said Jones. "We had to retreat. We might just as well have tried to lasso an express train."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Fleischmann of Cincinnati also came back on the Mauretania, after a hunting trip in Africa.

BURNED BY WIRE

Moth Hunter Had a Narrow Escape

LEXINGTON, May 28.—John McCarthy of Arlington, an employee of the gypsy moth department of this town, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon while at work up in a tree at Massachusetts avenue and Bedford street, directly opposite Battle green.

In reaching out he touched a live electric light wire and received a shock of 2300 volts. Instantly his body became rigid and he fell across two other wires. The live wire burned the flesh of McCarthy's left hand and foot.

Michael Murphy, a fellow employee, who was up in the same tree, at once went to McCarthy's assistance. A fire alarm was sounded and the hook and ladder turned out, but before it arrived Murphy had reached McCarthy. Calling to his comrades below to get a horse blanket with which to improvise a life-net, Murphy raised the prostrate man from the wires and dropped him to the blanket below, into which he was safely landed.

Dr. J. O. Tilton had been summoned and, after severe efforts, McCarthy was somewhat revived. The live wire had burned into the flesh of the hand badly and through his shoe into the foot. It is thought that the young man's rubber coat saved him from death.

In a serious condition, McCarthy was taken to his home in Arlington.

LOWELL IS NOT ALONE IN ITS EFFORTS

We have noted the efforts of one of our Lowell corporations in the line of advertising. Much of it has a flavor of the eleemosynary and no doubt is so intended and being so is none the less creditable to the company's management. The New York City Gas company, of which Cortelyou is president, has entered upon a campaign of advertising and we notice the following, which is good reading and applies to Lowell or any city equally well: "Floor space in New York city is more valuable than in any other city in the world. Economy in its use with an increase in its productiveness for business purposes is therefore 'good business.' During the month of April hotel and restaurant proprietors in the Borough of Manhattan gave orders for 173 linear or running feet of gas ranges. These figures do not include an order for a gas range 60 feet long, now being constructed for one of New York city's best known hotels. A gas range four feet long does the work of a coal range six feet long. In other words, a coal range takes up 50 per cent more space than a gas range of the same capacity. By installing gas ranges 36 feet will be saved in the floor space of these kitchens, and their cooking facilities will be greatly improved. What will save space in the hotel or restaurant will save space in the private house or apartment. Then, too, consider the handling of coal and ashes, and the dust and dirt that will be avoided, as well as the difference in the atmosphere in the kitchen during the summer months." Any housekeeper and every housekeeper who is not using a gas range will do well to consider what economy of space in the kitchen means in her own case. One can measure with eye or tape dimensions of gas ranges at John Street Appliance Store of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

Board of Trade Bill

Came too Late

On the petition of Mayor Meehan and others, on the Lowell board of trade bill to place on the statute books a law similar to the one in Boston governing the opening of new streets for public use, the house committee on rules yesterday voted leave to withdraw. The committee decided that it was too late a date to admit the bill. President Greene of the board declared that the matter is too important to be allowed to drop and a duplicate measure will be introduced next year early in the session. The purpose of the measure is to establish a board consisting of the mayor, the city civil engineer and the superintendent of streets, whose duty shall be to approve or disapprove all plans of persons or corporations who plan to open new streets. The new streets must be satisfactory to this board as to location, direction, width and grade, before being opened for public travel. This bill was a duplicate, almost word for word, of the law now in force in Boston.

"JIM" CORBETT

To Look Into Jeffries' Condition

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Although James J. Corbett, according to his own declaration, has not come to California to take charge of Jeffries' training, it is generally believed that plans of the former champion for a revision of the contract will be adopted and that Corbett will wield great influence henceforth in the regulation of the Ben Lomond program. He has some decided views as to the style of training Jeff should follow in preparation for his fight with Johnson. He says he has thoroughly analyzed Johnson's methods and that it is highly essential for Jeffries to school himself to a form of fighting best adapted to meet the negro's tactics. "And," he said last night, "it's fighting and boxing that Jeff requires from now on."

With the return of the Jeffries party to Ben Lomond today a conference will be held. It is said, to determine upon changes in Jeffries' training regime. Johnson will resume boxing this afternoon. He has extended a general invitation to all would-be partners.

THE BERNEICE

Won Power Boat Race to Havana

HAVANA, May 28.—The Berneice, owned by S. G. Granberry of Brooklyn, won the Yachtmen's club's powerboat race from Philadelphia to Havana.

The Berneice with her time allowance over the Caliph of three hours and forty minutes beat the latter boat by two hours, forty-four minutes and eighteen seconds. The Iis and the Caroline had not been sighted this morning when their time allowance expired. The scratch boat, Loantaka, owned by H. S. Peters of Trenton, N. J., had trouble with her machinery soon after the start and abandoned the race. The Caliph, owned by M. E. Brigham of the Venthur Yacht club, finished first last evening. The Berneice arrived an hour later. The Caroline, M. E. Dennis of the Columbia Yacht club owner, had an allowance over the original scratch boat of 15 hours and 12 minutes and an allowance over the winner of six hours and 50 minutes. The Iis had corresponding allowances of nineteen hours and three minutes and seven hours and twenty-eight minutes.

The vessels started on May 21 from Philadelphia and finished between Morro castle and Laputa fort at the entrance to the harbor here. The distance was 1133 nautical or 1399 statute miles.

The prizes were: first, City of Philadelphia cup, valued at $1000 and $1000 cash; second, Yachtmen's club cup valued at $500 and $500 in cash; third, the Alexander Van Rensselaer cup valued at $250 and $250 in cash.

CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

The Engineering News for this month publishes an elaborate review of government by commission as adopted by 70 American cities. This plan of government originated as is well known at Galveston, Texas, after the great flood of 1900. Its success in that city was so remarkable that many other cities wishing to rid themselves of unbusinesslike methods and political bodies adopted the commission idea.

This plan consisted originally of five men, including the mayor of the city, its function being to transact the entire business of the city with an eye to economy and the best interests of the municipality. Gradually the commission idea was somewhat modified, many of the cities adopting it, ungrafting upon it some local idea or some feature of the old system that the people wished to retain. The modifications in some cases consisted of reducing the number of members in the governing boards. In some cities that have not adopted the commission plan outright there has been a reduction in the size of the city council boards. Boston is a notable example of this, its present city council consisting of but nine members, whereas formerly its aldermen and councilmen numbered nearly 100. In Massachusetts three cities have adopted the commission idea, namely, Haverhill, Gloucester and Chelsea, while the city of Boston has adopted it in a modified form. It is but natural that the commission plan should be most widespread in Texas where it originated, and accordingly there are in that state 17 cities that have adopted this new idea of government. Kansas cities to the number of 16 have also adopted this plan, while the states of Iowa, Tennessee, North and South Dakota and California come next.

In order to avoid the possibility of autocratic power by these small governing bodies the principle of the "recall," together with the initiative and referendum, have been embodied in the charters so that whenever there is any necessity for removing the commission the power lies in the hands of the people. Judging from the successful working of this new plan of municipal government there is reason to believe that it will become still more popular, and that where it will not be adopted in its entirety some of the more important features will be grafted upon the older forms of city charter. This change is going on rapidly in eliminating party politics and centering responsibility on executive heads, all of which, it is claimed, will make for more economic government and better general results.

MEMORIAL DAY

On Monday will be observed Memorial Day, a holiday in all the states and territories except Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The southern states have confederate memorial days, mainly upon April 26 and May 10. The time may come when there will be uniformity among the states on this matter of celebrating the memory of the fallen heroes; but never will the north shed tears over the sacrifices made by the confederates nor the south lament for any but her own. Nevertheless, it is the privilege of each state to honor its own dead, the men who responded to the call of duty, to defend the state against the contention or the dominance of a combination of other states.

The men who wore the blue or such of them as are alive today are loyal citizens reconciled to the union of states against which they fought, but they cannot forget the terrible struggle, the bloody conflict, the patriotic sacrifices of their brothers who laid down their lives in defense of a principle they believed to be right.

The survivors of the Confederate army are today as loyal citizens as if they had fought upon the Union side. Their numbers are few and still like the survivors of the Union army they are being rapidly mustered out.

It is too late now to stir up any sectional feeling; on the contrary we should fraternize with them on every opportunity; and hence it would be a grand thing if all the survivors of both Confederate and Union armies could come together in one grand love feast, a great national jubilation upon the grandeur of the victory won by the Union cause when on April 9, 1865, Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. The survivors of the Union army should not grudge the southerners all the little satisfaction they get out of erecting a statue to General Lee north of Mason and Dixon's line. We can afford to be magnanimous with the south on such matters, and it is best not to show any feeling that could be construed as enmity on account of disloyalty that is dead and buried.

While honoring our fallen heroes and the survivors who risked their all in the Civil war we must remember that these cannot be with us much longer, as the man who served his country in the field from 1862 to 1865 must now be well over sixty years even if he were but nineteen or twenty on enlistment. Most of our surviving veterans of the Civil war are nearing seventy or over, and at this age a man must necessarily conclude that his race is nearly run.

In this city, as in every other where true patriotism is found, these men are held in the highest veneration on account of their individual sacrifices, an account of the imperishable monument they have reared in this union of states one and inseparable forever.

The observance of Memorial Day is yearly becoming more and more sacred. The day is now observed with as much or even more solemnity than the Sabbath, for it reminds us of the patriotic sacrifices of our soldiers whose achievements remain to posterity for future ages. The survivors of that army link us with the dead and yearly on Memorial Day recall the religious duty of bringing fairest flowers to be laid as sweetest tokens of a nation's love upon her patriot graves.

DR. KOCH IS DEAD

Bacteriologist Victim of Heart Disease

BADEN BADEN, May 28.—Professor Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, died here yesterday from a disease of the heart. He was born at Clausthal, Hanover, Dec. 11, 1843. Undoubtedly no more distinguished figure has appeared in the medical world during the past two decades than Dr. Koch. Since Pasteur and Lister, none has contributed more to the general progress of medical science than has he. The very basis of practically all the great advances in surgery and medicine within the past decade can be traced to the bacteriological discoveries made by Dr. Koch.

THE LATE DR. KOCH.

He was educated at and graduated from the University of Göttingen. Shortly after taking his degree he commenced practice as a physician. He was first brought prominently before the public in 1880 through his work as an expert in the Speichert poisoning case.

The conviction of the prisoner in this case was entirely due to the remarkable analyses and medical testimony of Dr. Koch. Later he was summoned to Berlin by reason of his appointment as a member of the sanitary commission of the metropolis and as professor of the Royal School of Medicine.

COMPANY K

The members of Company K, Sixth Infantry, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the organization of the company in the armory last night. Many of the former members of the company were present to enjoy the festivities, and the affair proved one of the pleasantest held this season. Private McDonald won first prize in the competitive drill, and Private Mountain second. Suitable cups were presented them. An entertainment followed.

THE MATHEWS CONCERT

Sunday evening, May 28th, an exceptionally fine concert will be given by the Mathew Temperance Institute in aid of the building fund at the Mathew Moving Picture Palace in Dutton street. The artists who have generously volunteered their services for this occasion are especially good and delightful entertainers, and with three fine reels of pictures added will make a most enjoyable evening for those who attend.

An excellent program has been arranged in which the following will appear: Arthur J. Martel, Master James J. Bourke, Miss Mae O'Dwyer, W. H. Mulecay, Joseph McMahon, Paragon quartet, Lindsay brothers and Lyons, Miss Mae Thistle, W. B. Ready, Frank L. Dresser, Miss Frances Tighe, and others.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

What might be termed "a laughing program" is the current offering at the Opera House, where a fine comedy program of vaudeville and motion pictures is the attraction. The Hub City Comedy Four are making a big hit with the singing and comedy work. Robinson and Lakota, comedy acrobats, will be given today starting at 1.30, 3, 5, and 8.30. A fine Sunday concert program has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon and evening with the Hub City Four, Sarinski, the Hungarian violins, Florence Brown, vocalist and an entire change of pictures on the program. Sunday concerts are given from 1.30 to 5, and 8.30 to 10, with prices at five and ten cents. Commencing next Monday another of the excellent vaudeville and motion picture programs will be seen with the Belton Bros., Ward and Barton, Hallen and Hayes and new songs and pictures.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is a happy show at the Theatre Voyons today, inasmuch as every picture is either comedy or one with plenty of laughs in it. "The Wings of Love" is a clever love story of two young Hollanders and the settings are picturesque and quite correct. "The Centurion," "The Fishers Dream" and "The Fun Land" are all comedies with real laughs in all of them. The musical selections please because they are well rendered. Sunday the usual good show will be given of motion pictures and illustrated songs each the best in the market. On Monday Miss Ida Wilson leading contralto for the Justice Opera Company will join the Theatre Voyons singing staff.

The picture shows such a peaceful expression that the queen, it is said, will permit the picture to be reproduced on postal cards.

GRANITE CHIPS MAY BE CLUE TO A MURDER OF SOLDIER

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 28.—Yesterday morning a workman at work on the first New Castle bridge saw a soldier's cap embedded in the mud. He notified Major Urich, the manager of the bridge corporation, and he finally succeeded in bringing the cap to the surface at low tide. The cap contained a piece of granite weighing several pounds, which was carefully placed under the inside band. The cap also contained the initials "G. L. F." and it is supposed to be the one worn by Private Guy L. Fellows of the 16th company of Coast Artillery, who has been missing since last Saturday night and was supposed to have been drowned by falling off the bridge while on his way to Fort Constitution, New Castle.

Why Have an Overheated Kitchen in Summer?

When the sultry days come and the coal range makes the kitchen almost unbearable and cooking a dreaded task, put out the range fire and try the newest method of cooking in hot weather—use a

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

What a contrast! The kitchen no longer is stifling hot, the work is now done with comfort, and the housewife is not worn out with the heat.

Cautionary Note—Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

She saves her strength, keeps her health and is better able to enjoy the summer.

The New Perfection does everything that any other stove can do—all the family cooking, baking, washing and ironing. No smoke, no dust, no odor. Heat is applied directly and not wasted. A turn, and the flame is out.

The New Perfection stove has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot, drop shelves for the coffee pot or saucepans, and nicked towel rack.

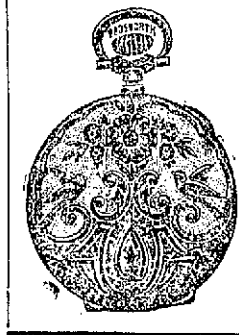

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove very attractive and invites cleanliness. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

SUPREME COURT

Again Takes up the Cherokee Indian Case

BOSTON, May 28.—After an absence of four years the famous Cherokee Indian case involving the distribution of more than $1,000,000 to these wards of the nation, returned today to the supreme court of the United States. The attorneys for Head Captain John McInish, Second Captain Hildebrand, Sam Boney and others, today asked the supreme court to require the court of claims "to obey" the mandate of the supreme court in passing on the case four years ago.

At that time Attorneys Sullivan and Daish claim the supreme court directed a distribution of the funds by the court of claims on a "per stripes" basis.

It is now complained that the court of claims has directed a distribution on a per capita basis.

Another objection is made to the proceedings of the court of claims. It is maintained by the attorneys that the supreme court directed the court of claims to have the secretary of the interior prepare the roll of persons entitled to participate in the distribution. Instead of following this mandate it is claimed a special commissioner was appointed by the court at great expense to prepare the roll. It is urged that this, too, was disobedience to the mandate of the supreme court which is urged to enforce its decree.

THE MILK REPORT

Committee Finds That Contractors Important Amendment to Be Considered By Senate

BOSTON, May 28.—The special joint legislative committee investigating the milk problem rendered its report late last night, there being two minority reports besides the majority report.

The majority report finds that the firm of D. Whiting & Sons, H. P. Hood & Sons, and the Boston Dairy Co. are active competitors in the marketing of milk and upon the evidence submitted it appears "the present retail prices charged by the contractors for milk are sufficient to afford them a fair profit."

for milk are sufficient to afford them a fair profit."

The majority report makes three distinct recommendations: That the railroads should own, control, operate and man cars for the transportation of milk as common carriers, putting into effect the "open car system" that the board of railroad commissioners should have full authority to recommend with reference to the subject of milk transportation as to both rates and service, and finally that the work of inspection should be done by some central authority. The use of trolley cars for the transportation of milk is also recommended.

Sen. Tinkham in his minority report, declares he is of the opinion there is a lack of efficient inspection of milk, either at the farm or in Boston. He wants legislation for the protection of the consumers, asking that an adequate permit system be immediately made mandatory at least in Boston.

Sen. Meany dissents, being of the mind that the situation demands definite affirmative legislation concerning the matter of transportation of milk and that the consumers may be relieved from the anxiety of circumstances which present transportation conditions impose upon them.

AUTO RECORDS

Three Were Broken at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—Records went down in yesterday's races at the motor speedway and the new course, the only brick track in the world, justified all the hopes of its constructors that it would prove satisfactory.

In three classes of American stock cars time was hammered down. The record event of the day was the 100-mile race for cars of 301 to 450 cubic inches piston displacement. It was won by Kincaid in a National in 1:23.43. The previous record, set by Chevrolet in a Buick at Atlanta, was 1:24.08.

All-fortune took this race away from Dayton driving a Marmon, by a tremendous burst of speed in the home stretch, which carried him from the field to the fore. His time was 4:05, bettering the record by 40 seconds.

Harroun had his lining in the 100-mile event for cars of 231 to 300 inches displacement. He won in 1:08.18, breaking the record of 1:10.38. Dawson (Marmon) was second; Fox (Pope-Hartford) third.

Chevrolet, driving a Buick in the five-mile race for the little cars of 161 to 230 inches displacement, won with a brilliant dash in 4:31.3, breaking the previous time of 5:12.5. Elliott, in a Cole, was second, and Frayer, in a Firestone, was third.

The withdrawal of the Buick and Jackson entries, because the technical committee barred several cars that were said to exceed classification of power, caused some of fatal accidents. On Memorial day the first national championship races of the American Automobile association will be run.

In the five-mile free-for-all amateur Greiner (National) was first. Tousey (National) second. Time 4m 9 2-10s.

There were only two starters.

In the five-mile free-for-all handicap Greiner (National), scratch, finished first; Tousey (National), 35s; second; Green (Stoddard-Dayton), scratch, third. Time, 5m 44 9-10s.

In the 10-mile for cars of 451 to 600 displacement, Aitken (National) was first, Kincaid (National) second, Wilcox (National) third. Time, 8m 25 9-10s.

THE RAILROAD BILL

Important Amendment to Be Considered By Senate

WASHINGTON, May 28.—At the last moment before reaching the point of voting upon the railroad bill yesterday the senate took the important step of adding an amendment, placing interstate telegraph and telephone lines under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission. This action was followed by an effort to restore a portion of section 12, affecting mergers, which heretofore was voted out.

Both provisions were introduced so suddenly as to surprise the senate, and the latter was considered so important that rather than vote upon it without more consideration than it was able to give the senate took an adjournment until today.

The action of the senate on telegraph and telephone companies insures their inclusion in some form in the proposed law as the subject is covered in the house bill.

The suggestion for the inclusion of telegraph and telephone companies within the control of the interstate commerce commission was made by Senator Dixon of Montana, but ultimately his amendment was superseded by one in simpler form which was offered by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin.

SHOTS FIRED

ALLEGED THAT LODGER ASSAULTED LANDLORD

BOSTON, May 28.—William White, a lodger at 31½ Dwight street, rushed up to a policeman on Tremont street last night and shouted that he had killed a man. He was taken to the police station and questioned.

The police state that they learned White had fired two shots at his landlord, Harry Seylor, in the dining room of the lodging house, neither of the bullets taking effect.

The shooting, the police say, was the culmination of a business wrangle between the two men. White had been doing some work for Seylor, but the two could not agree on the payment.

At the station house, according to the police, White vehemently asserted that he intended to kill Seylor, and claimed that he was willing to hang for it.

Seylor, however, refused to make a formal complaint. His brother, Thomas White, assumed responsibility for William White, and took him to his rooms at the Hotel Langham, claiming that the man was slightly deranged.

Col. Chandler of New York is at the Salvation Army barracks for today and tomorrow.

THE CALIPH

THE FIRST MOTOR BOAT TO REACH HAVANA

HAVANA, May 28.—Running under the full capacity of her 35 horse power engine and with forest and jib set, the Caliph, the first boat to reach Havana in the ocean motor boat race, which started at Philadelphia last Saturday, whizzed across the line between Morro castle lighthouse and a buoy across the mouth of the harbor at 6:03.14 last evening.

Goln at the rate of 12 miles an hour the Berneyo crossed at 7:04.00 p. m.

The Caroline and the Irs have not yet been reported.

While the Caliph led the Berneyo by 1 hour, 1 minute, 14 seconds, the race thus far is to the advantage, by reason of handicap, of the Berneyo by 3 hours, 22 minutes, 13 seconds. The Caliph had a time allowance of 7 hours, 12 minutes, 40 seconds, and the Berneyo one of 11 hours, 35 minutes, 7 seconds. The Berneyo, however, cannot yet be proclaimed the winner, as the little Irs and the Caroline, both have large handicaps, the former 19 hours, 3 minutes, 7 seconds, and the latter 13 hours, 12 minutes, 40 seconds.

On her arrival the Caliph was greeted by a great fleet of steam yachts, launches, tug and government craft, which escorted her to an anchorage near the wreck of the battleship Maine. The Caliph reported having encountered choppy seas and the head winds almost the entire passage.

There was no accident of any kind during the trip, and all on board are well though greatly fatigued.

The Berneyo is owned by S. W. Granbery of the Brooklyn Yacht club. She is 60 feet long and her engines develop 25 horse power. The Caliph, which is owned by Commodore M. B. Brigham of the Ventnor (N. J.) Yacht club, also is a 60 footer, and her engines are of 35 horse power.

GAVE A HEARING

Committee on Sewers Hears Petitioners

The committee on sewers gave a hearing on a number of petitions last night and later, at a business meeting, considerable business was disposed of.

The heirs of William Lawrence asked for an abatement in connection with the Crescent street sewer.

Ald. Qua moved that the clerk be instructed to write to the petitioner stating that the committee did not see its way clear to make an exception in a case where a sewer runs in front of property to the advantage of numerous other property holders. It was so voted.

Frank W. Cheney petitioned for a sewer in Mammoth road, near the bridge. Present conditions have been complained of by the board of health. The estimated cost was $300.

Charles L. Sweetser and others petitioned for a sewer in Ray court. As this is not a public street the objection of one property owner was sufficient to kill the petition, and this objection was made by Joseph Fay. The petition was tabled.

Alva Sawyer and others wanted a sewer in White street. Mr. Sawyer said that if the sewer went through, there would be three new structures built. The estimated cost of the sewer was $1100 of which about $300 would come back. The committee took favorable action.

A Jan asked for a sewer in Melvin street. Engineer Dowers said he would have an estimate as to the cost of the work at the next meeting.

Alderman Qua said that he did not like the idea of laying a sewer where there was to be little return to the city.

Alderman Connors declared the Locks and Canals to be interested in the project, and he said he did not see why the committee should favor this corporation.

"I think the Locks and Canals should get little consideration from this committee, for the reason that they get a few favors from the Locks and Canals," said Alderman Connors.

It was voted to table the petition.

SCHOOL BOARD

Was Scored by Ex-Mayor Doyle

NASHUA, N. H., May 28.—The members of the board of education in general and the teachers' convention in particular were severely criticized last night by ex-Mayor J. J. Doyle, after the recommendations for teachers to be elected for the next year were made.

Mr. Doyle's remarks were opened with a query directed at the teachers' committee, asking if Miss Katharine Moriarty had resigned as a teacher at the Belvidere school of her own volition or was asked to do so. Dr. Brudford Allen for the committee stated that Miss Moriarty's work had not been satisfactory and her resignation was expected earlier than it came.

Mr. Doyle then opened on the board and said that it had made a business of raising salaries and now the places in the schools were being filled by out-of-town teachers, referring to Miss Erel A. Hagerman of Tyngsboro, just elected in Miss Moriarty's place. Mr. Doyle stated that he had examined Miss Moriarty's college examinations and found that she received the highest marks. He alleged that she was requested to resign, because she could not play the piano well. The woman in question is a sister of Councilman Daniel Moriarty.

The board last night elected James H. Fassett superintendent of schools, E. C. Hood director of music, Miss Elizabeth Buckenham director of drawing, and Henry McCaffrey trustee officer. A long list of teachers was chosen.

Miss Mary Hammond, principal of the Palm street school 45 years, the oldest teacher in service in the state, resigned, and Miss Charlotte Cushing was elected to her place. There were other changes, including the election of Miss May E. Gould, a Bates graduate, and E. Everett Clark, a Dartmouth graduate, to teaching in Amesbury, Mass., to fill vacancies in the high school staff. A leave of absence for the next full term was granted to Miss Katherine L. Rinnells.

The salary of Frank W. Lakeman, principal of the Spring street grammar school, was increased to $1200. Dr. Charles E. Congdon for the manual training committee reported that the committee had secured the services of Ernest W. Beck of Trenton, N. J., as the first instructor in manual training in this city. Mr. Beck was formerly at the Mechanic Arts high school in Boston. His salary will be $1500 a year.

Hagerman of Tyngsboro, just elected in Miss Moriarty's place. Mr. Doyle stated that he had examined Miss Moriarty's college examinations and found that she received the highest marks. He alleged that she was requested to resign, because she could not play the piano well. The woman in question is a sister of Councilman Daniel Moriarty.

The board last night elected James H. Fassett superintendent of schools, E. C. Hood director of music, Miss Elizabeth Buckenham director of drawing, and Henry McCaffrey trustee officer. A long list of teachers was chosen.

Miss Mary Hammond, principal of the Palm street school 45 years, the oldest teacher in service in the state, resigned, and Miss Charlotte Cushing was elected to her place. There were other changes, including the election of Miss May E. Gould, a Bates graduate, and E. Everett Clark, a Dartmouth graduate, to teaching in Amesbury, Mass., to fill vacancies in the high school staff. A leave of absence for the next full term was granted to Miss Katherine L. Rinnells.

The salary of Frank W. Lakeman, principal of the Spring street grammar school, was increased to $1200. Dr. Charles E. Congdon for the manual training committee reported that the committee had secured the services of Ernest W. Beck of Trenton, N. J., as the first instructor in manual training in this city. Mr. Beck was formerly at the Mechanic Arts high school in Boston. His salary will be $1500 a year.

That a sewer be laid in West Manchester street was the petition of Flavel Dillette, and the committee voted in the affirmative.

Favorable action was also taken in the petition of Frank Burns for a sewer in Glenwood avenue.

Charles A. Felton and others asked for a sewer in South Wilder street at a cost of $1100. Favorable action was taken.

C. E. Guthrie and others petitioned for a sewer in Cumberland road and it was voted to table the matter.

Frank E. Harris asked for sewers in Chauncey street, Harris avenue and Wilder street. The petitioner wishes to build houses in these streets. The estimated cost of the sewer in these streets was $7700. Favorable action was taken.

F. E. Dunbar and others asked for a sewer in East Merrimack street near the immaculate Conception church. The petition was tabled pending more information.

Susanna Wilde asked for an abatement of sewer assessment in Lawrence street. It was admitted that there is no sewer in front of the petitioner's property and in view of this fact, the committee voted to abate the amount assessed, $18.

STYLISH LITTLE GIRLS WEAR THEIR HAIR BOWS THIS WAY

The ribbons used were wide, just as wide as those we have been wearing, but they were so soft that, to revert to the old simile, they could be "pulled through a keyhole." With white frocks many of the hair ribbons worn were in Persian effects, pale pastel tints predominating. And I also made a mental note of how many of the smartest children were wearing their hair in long old world ringlets with the front quaint mothers with the proper bow effects for her daughter's hair more satisfactorily than descriptive of the so I respectfully suggest that she take more than a cursory look at the ways of hair bows designed this season for juvenile heads.

When the smart embryo belles of New York donned their spring bonnets I noticed what a lovely frame for the dear little rosy faces the new hats

SMART SIDE BOW

EVERY mother in the land is interested in the "newest" way of arranging her small daughter's hair. And she knows, or, rather, she should know, that an especially important coiffure point is the disposition of the bow or bows that add so much to the becomingness of Marjorie's or Dorothy's hairdressing.

The parent who follows the modes at a distance will be perfectly content to gather up the front locks of the "Dutch cut" or long curl arrangement of her daughter's hair with a wide piece of ribbon tied in the butterfly effect that has been so popular for the last few years.

But how way off from present juvenile hairdressing habits will this mother be if she does! How do I know? Let me tell you.

At the famous playhouse, called by the unregenerate "the millionaire's theater," but officially known as the New Theater of New York city, there was recently given a matinee performance of "Hansel and Gretel." Humperdink's fairy opera. The performance was produced especially for the pleasure of the children of Gotham, and a very fashionable audience was in attendance.

The little children of the rich turned out in full force. There were theater parties chaperoned by smart mammas and aunts and groups of children who came with their French or English governesses. And between the acts there was much visiting among the "buds" of many seasons hence. Indeed, the superbly appointed corridors at times resembled a night of daintily colored human butterflies flitting to and fro between the tea room and their seats.

As I watched these migrations I noticed that not a single ribbon bow on the heads of these smart children stood aloft at attention, as it were, on the top of the head—that is, not a single bow was tied in the old fashion butterfly fashion. Rather, the hair bows followed in the wake of all the present modes and disported themselves in the "daddy" hair must style that is the "thing" this season. They didn't stand up; they sat down in an indolent sort of way, resting comfortably and gracefully on the pretty curly locks of the little misses heads.

ing goes merrily on until tea is announced. It is well to have a large quantity of cut up figures so that the guests may not find it too easy or be stopped for want of materials. The puzzles are examined, and the competitor who has made the greatest number of correct pictures is declared winner.

After tea another puzzle is introduced. Envelopes are distributed, and each person on opening it discovers a quantity of letters taken from the game called "word making and word taking."

These letters represent a sentence which is written on paper and put into a small sealed envelope which fits into the envelope containing the loose letters. The box lid again comes into play for shifting the letters about in the effort to find the words to form the hidden sentence.

cardboard box or lid in which to keep the puzzles and a sheet of foolscap paper as well. The hostess then hands round the tray of heads, and each person selects one. When the heads are distributed it is explained that every one can go and search the tray that contains the bodies and try to find the correct one. A good big bowl of paste is ready on the table, with several brushes, and the first person who succeeds in securing a body to fit rushes to the paste pot and with a dab of the brush sticks the head and body on to the foolscap and is then eligible to search for the legs. When the correct legs have been pasted to the picture, which is then complete, a fresh head may be sought, and so the puzzle making goes merrily on until tea is announced.

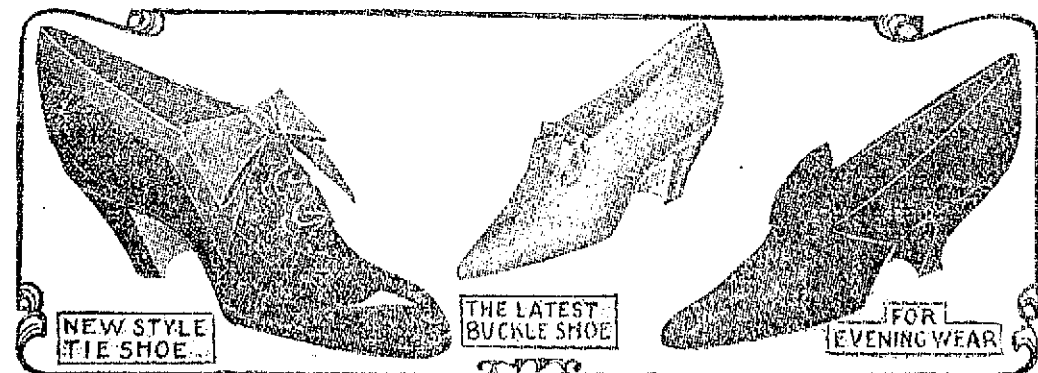

A PUZZLE TEA

HOSTESSES are ever on the lookout for something new to amuse their guests at afternoon parties. Every one cannot afford an expensive entertainment, and the following simple ideas may be of service to such as these:

There is a childish game called "heads, bodies and legs," in which heads are drawn on paper which is folded over. The slices are passed around, bodies and legs being drawn in their turn, and comic pictures result when the paper is unfolded.

For your puzzle tea collect figures of any description from advertisements in magazines. Cut off the heads, bodies and legs, keeping these members separate from one another in different trays. Each guest is provided with a

Newness of the Season's Footwear

NEW STYLE PUMP SHOE

THE LATEST SLIPPER SHOE

FOR EVENING WEAR

THE famous old couplet—
Her feet beneath her petticoat
Like little mice stole in and out—has an especial application this season, for the little slippers and shoes are very mouse-like in appearance and often in color. At a famous shoe shop of Gotham, which numbers among its patrons many of the "smart set," the following news about the new footwear was recently gleaned:

For morning attire stout Oxford ties with thick soles and medium heels are worn. They are in Russia leather, tan or black, according to the costume. The toes are of comfortable proportion. In the afternoon pumps with bow or buckle or the low tongue shoe is put on milady's dainty little foot, and the curved Louis XV. heels are used to some extent. The colors are in kid or suede to match the gown. The buckles used on afternoon shoes are of cut steel, giving the foot a more dressy effect than those used on the shoes worn in the morning.

For evening wear slippers without straps are considered more stylish than those with straps. The ornaments are very elaborate. Gold, silver, rhinestones and cut steel set with great care and skill are most approved adornments. Tennis shoes for both men and women are made with combination cork and rubber soles. White canvas and buckskin are preferred. Many Russia leathers are used on account of not showing soil, and they are more easily cleaned.

For mourning shoes dull leathers are used, suede and black buckskin, as the highly polished leathers make too great a contrast with the mourning costume. Trimmings for the evening slippers are dull jet or black steel.

THE NEW ALSATIAN ARRANGEMENT

made. Most of these chapaneus were of the variety that sat down well on the head with moderately small brims, having a gentle curve or roll and large sized crowns, some broad and flat, others high and broad. But the beauty of them all was the fact that they seemed to have been made to stay on the head in the most comfortable manner.

Surely these new hats are more sensible than the small crown, wide rolled and straight brim shapes that always slip and slide on the least provocation. Soft satin in Persian colorings, soft taffeta and cretonne are materials, together with straws, that make many of the prettiest little bonnets. The fabric is covered plainly over a frame which is edged with straw braid. And black straw bonnets in poke shape are very chic faced on the top and lower side with finely plaited soft black satin. The left side of a particularly fetching model of this poke shape has the left side of the brim rolled up in front. A cluster of small open rosebuds, made of Persian chiffon in pink tones with pale green silk ribbon leaves, is placed where the brim turns up. One could go on indefinitely reciting the charms of the new headgear for the wee girl, but all I can say is that to see them is to love them almost as much as their wearers.

ALL ABOUT THE HOUSE

WHEN CLEANING.
BEFORE applying black lead for polishing a greasy grate make a pad of the old cloth and rub soot from the back of the grate or from the flues on all the greasy parts. The grates will then take the polish and with much less labor than usual.

To clean tan shoes take two pieces of flannel and a small bottle of turpentine. Apply the turpentine and rub well with the other flannel. This removes all spots and stains, making the shoes look nearly new.

To clean and restore ebonyized wood use a mixture of equal parts of powdered pumice stone and linseed oil. Rub carefully the way of the grain and polish with a dry, soft cloth.

To remove stains and discolorations from marble washstands or mantelpieces dissolve powdered whiting in strong soda water. Apply with flannel and leave on to dry for twenty-four hours, when it will be found that all stains have disappeared.

On the pantry shelf always keep a jar with some finely powdered bath brick and a large cork. It is valuable for removing stains from china and enamel saucepans. Dampen the cork, dip it in the brick and apply with elbow grease.

Why Not Go A-Gypsying?

WHEN Elizabeth, she of the German garden, spent a summer roving about England in a van she set a fashion that has been increasing in popularity summer by summer. A number of American girls are planning this method of getting back to nature this summer. One party who will spend June, July, and August drifting about a certain lovely part of the country have a regular caravan, six vans or wagons and six women, with a useful young man on hire bringing up the rear in a seventh van.

When this caravan gets under way it will be difficult for the onlooker to believe that the vans are old furniture wagons newly painted. One of the members of the party is an interior decorator, and she is fitting up the vans, which are hired from storage warehouses—old style vans considered by their owners to be too small to be of much use in hauling furniture, but just the right size for pleasure vans. A large van requires two horses, and that would make the trip too expensive.

When the vans come from under the ministrations of the interior decorator their walls will be draped with chintz. A different pattern is to be used in each van. Grass rugs will cover the floors, and a wicker armchair, a wicker couch, a folding table and a large mirror hanging from the walls will make the interior very homelike. The trunks of the caravanteers will serve as wardrobes and as seats when they are closed.

The useful young man's caravan will be the kitchen, the same young man preferring to sleep in a small tent. He has been instructed to "knock up" shelves on two sides of his van, whose future use will be as a resting place for pots, pans and kettles. Two kerosene stoves will stand in one end of the van, and that part of the wall not shelved will be hung with cooking utensils. Three small nursery ice-boxes, a tent and a folding screen will complete the kitchen outfit. The cooking will be done in the tent when it is rainy, but on pleasant days the stoves will be transferred to the camping ground. Whenever in their wanderings a particularly pleasant spot is found the caravanteers will set up their lures and penates for a day or two.

Each of the young women will drive her own van. One of them is a widow and will act as chaperon. All, by the way, have their own interests. One is an artist and plans to do a lot of sketching, two are writers and expect to gather inspiration and study village and country types, while the interior decorator counts on getting suggestions in the woods and fields for her dadoes and friezes.

Of course on a trip like this much of the comfort depends on the sort of clothes worn. These caravanteers plan to dress in short skirts of green or tan colored wool, with rough linens for warmer days. Each woman will carry with her a folding rubber bathtub, so she can have her morning splash in the van—that is, if the useful young man gets time to bring the water.

THE HEAD POISE.

DO you sigh to be called a stylish looking woman? Consider the poise of your head.

You may have taste and money to gratify it, but you will never show off your clothes if you turtur your head, thrust out your chin, carry your neck to one side or draw your chin back until your whole carriage is rigid.

A Frenchwoman when asked why her countrywomen usually had such finely poised heads said that it was because they were taught to show the tops of their collars.

Most of us hide our collar tops, as the condition of ruchings plainly shows. Try to remember the simple rule of showing the collar edge and you will quickly assume the head poise of a thoroughbred.

If you have a double chin this rule holds doubly good. Don't think that by drawing in the rolls of flesh you diminish or conceal them.

The one hope for the double chinmed woman is to turn haughty, hold her head high and pay money to the masseuse.

THE NEW RAINCOAT.

It is of messaline silk, delightfully soft and light. It is rubberized by a process which detracts nothing from its lightness and softness, yet makes it absolutely waterproof. It comes in all the desirable shades and a very pale tan, almost a white, and is made in a smart style with excellent lines. In looks and service nothing has been omitted to make it thoroughly satisfactory.

But the most delightful feature of all about it is that it is so soft and light that it can be rolled up and put in a little bag which comes with it made of the same material. It is not much larger than a case for a wash cloth and has a strap so that it can be slipped over the arm. It makes a thing of the past of the heavy, cumbersome raincoat.

A HOMEMADE FLOWER.

Here is pretty work for the lover of fine stitches, not embroidery, but ordinary sewing of the fancy work type. The large velvet flower for the side of the straw hat is now made on a cabbion lines.

Cut out about five petals, rose shaped petals preferably, suggestive of the wide open briar rose, but very much larger. Cut them from the darkest shade of blue velvet known as corbeau blue. Before forcing them into the rose (just as you would a paper flower) bind each petal with bias white

Ocean Travelers, Take Notice

CROSSING the ocean is today an affair of little moment. It takes less than a week unless one of the slow steamers is taken by preference. The woman who is wise will have a good box of books sent on board with her stateroom luggage, and she will see the steward "officially" as to having her chair placed in a sheltered nook. After this, if a good sailress, she may take all that comes as a pleasure. If not an experienced sea going woman she may order the books just the same, but she should confer with the stewardess of her corridor as to having lead champagne at certain intervals and also lead lemon juice with club soda. Ginger ale is also refreshing, and hot ginger snaps are a solid that will stay. In fact, the ginger snaps and a baked apple are the special recommendations of an old voyager who always spends four days of the trip in her stateroom and has found all other food distasteful under the circumstances. The bad sailor should provide herself with a flannel bed jacket, besides a heavy elderdown wrapper, and she should also arrange for an outside stateroom, as the air is a great aid toward prompt recovery.

In The Cookery World

COTTAGE PUDDING WITH STRAWBERRIES.

Beat one-third cupful of butter to a cream; gradually beat in one cupful of sugar, one well beaten egg and alternately half a cupful of milk and one and three-fourth cupfuls of flour sifted with two slightly rounding teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a shallow pan about half an hour. Cut in squares and serve with a basket of strawberries.

NUT FRITTERS.

Two eggs, three cupfuls of flour, one cupful of chopped nut meat, one cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of baking powder soda, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one and a half cupfuls of milk. Mix all dry ingredients together. Beat up eggs, add milk to them, then add them gradually to the mixture. Drop in spoonfuls in smoking hot fat. Drain and serve hot.

ASPARAGUS SALAD.

Place cold cooked asparagus stalks from which the tough portions have been cut on nests of well craped lettuce hearts. Put a spoonful of tartar sauce over the asparagus in each nest and serve at once. The lettuce, asparagus and sauce should all be well chilled before serving. For the tartar sauce take a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and to it add two tablespoonfuls each of capers, olives and gherkins chopped fine and just before serving half a cupful of double cream beaten solid and salt to taste.

BREAKFAST BREADS.

This recipe for biscuits has been well tested by an excellent cook. Mix flour with cream to a proper consistency and salt to taste. One pound of flour to a quarter of a pint of thin cream will make a paste sufficiently stiff. Form into small biscuits, prick them and bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes or mix flour, as stated, with a bit of butter the size of a pigeon's egg and moisten with a quarter of a pint of cold water and add a little salt and bake.

Another recipe for "puffball doughnuts" is equally good. Three eggs, one cupful of sugar, a pint of sweet milk, salt, nutmeg and flour enough to permit the spoon to stand upright in the mixture. Add two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder to the flour and beat until very light. Drop by the dessertspoonful into hot fat. They will not absorb the fat and are delicious eaten fresh and hot.

Woodchopper Decapitated Near Lundberg St. Bridge

John King, a wood chopper, was struck and instantly killed by a freight train on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad about 150 feet beyond the Lundberg street bridge. The head was completely severed from the body.

The train, which was in charge of Engineer William B. Dresser and Conductor George Brooks, was quickly stopped and the body taken from under the cars. King's companions were arrested on a charge of drunkenness. The body was removed to the undertaker's rooms of J. J. O'Connell, where it now lies. It is that of a man about five feet, six inches tall, and in the vicinity of 31 years of age.

STUART TRUNKS

Held Up by the Customs Officials

NEW YORK, May 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Stuart of the well known Stuart family of Virginia, had a clash with the customs authorities on their return from Europe on the Mauretania yesterday, but both sides admitted last night that there had been misunderstanding. Eight of Mrs. Stuart's trunks, of a lot of 25 pieces of baggage, were seized and sent to the public stores as containing valuable goods not declared. But as Mr. Stuart has expressed willingness to pay duty in full, they will be released when he does so, and he may appeal for redress if he considers the appraisement unfair.

George Smyth, a deputy surveyor of the port, talked with the Stuaris yesterday. Afterward he explained that inasmuch as Mrs. Stuart had been living abroad for the last two years, he thought she was a non-resident, and this misapprehension caused all the trouble. The fact that Mr. Stuart is a resident, however, Mr. Smyth said.

George Smyth, a deputy surveyor of the port, talked with the Stuaris yesterday. HEALTH MATTERS

Doctor Reprimanded for Laxity in Case of Scarlet Fever

Job of Bad Plumbing Condemned—Board to Meet Representatives of Am. Hide and Leather Company on June 4—Other Matters

The board of health at its meeting held yesterday afternoon voted to reprimand a doctor who did not act in good faith with the board in the case of scarlet fever cases. The doctor was charged with making false statements to the board. His excuse was a very lame one. The board received a letter from Mr. Hall of the American Hide and Leather company asking for an appointment with the board for the purpose of discussing the proposed beam house. The board will meet Mr. Hall and the company's engineer in this city at 11 o'clock on the forenoon of June 4. Dr. C. A. Hambliet, inspector of meats and provisions, said he had visited most of the milk rooms in the city and had found but a few of them that were sufficiently clean and wholesome to meet his approval. The milk question took up considerable of the board's time and the following amendment to rule 5, submitted by Dr. Martin, was adopted:

"Milk distributors may obtain permission from the board to deliver milk in bulk containers to boarding houses, restaurants, etc., in sealed cans, but they must first file at the office of the board of health, a list of such places, and the said list must be approved by the board of health."

Asked To Explain

The first business before the board had to do with Dr. L. V. Rochette and was in consequence of a complaint made by Agent Bates. The doctor had reported a case of scarlet fever at 230 Woburn street and six days later the agent received a card from Dr. Rochette, notifying the board that he had personally visited the family and found no danger of infection passed. Because of the card coming so closely on the heels of the original notice of the case Agent Bates decided to investigate. He sent a physician to the house, with an inspector. The physician found four children still in the infectious stage of scarlet fever, and one of them was out at the time the inspector called.

The doctor admitted that he wrote the card and that he knew it wasn't true; but he said the family was after him all the time to get the card taken off, and he thought the board would send somebody to inspect before removing the card.

"The attending physician is the proper one to say when the card can be removed," said Dr. Martin. "The board of health is not required to treat cases. You, as the family physician, accepted a trust and were unfaithful to it. We look to the physicians of Lowell to help us out, and we cannot do with such reports as that."

Agent Bates explained that if he had not been suspicious of this case, he should have let four children out to contaminate the whole neighborhood; but he thought it was not possible for that child to be out, so he investigated. Dr. Rochette reiterated that he knew it was not possible for the card to be removed, but he wanted to get rid of the family and he thought the board would not go there to remove the card, before about four weeks.

"If you were called to a case of smallpox," said Dr. Huntress, "and the family asked you to say nothing to us about it, would you do as they asked?"

"No," replied the doctor. "but in cases like this one, don't you send some one?"

"To see whether you tell the truth or not? No, we do not."

"We look to our physicians to be men of honor and integrity," said Dr. Martin. "you did this just to let us take the kids that you ought to take."

The doctor admitted that such was the fact, but promised to be more particular in future.

There were three cases of scarlet fever in the house, that had not been reported at all.

The doctor was excused and later a vote was taken to notify the agent to issue a formal reprimand to the doctor.

On the Hog

Inspector Connors made a report on the condition of the premises of E. L. Gray, who had been complained of for keeping pigs in a tenement district in Chelmsford street. The inspector reported that the pigs were gone, but he did not know about other conditions. Complaint had been made by the neighbors that Gray was collecting swill, and also selling milk.

Gray was present and said that the very morning that he started in to sell milk, he came down to get a permit, and found nobody in. He kept only four cows, and had previously used the milk in his own family, and fattened calves on it. As for the swill, the neighbors gave it to him. He admitted that the place was a little dirty.

but as for keeping pigs, the city set a pretty good example. They had 300 or 400 out there.

It had been reported to the board that their men found the buckets empty when they went around that neighborhood to collect the swill.

"They haven't found any empty except where the neighbors gave the swill to me," said Mr. Gray. "If a man gives me 50 cents, haven't I a right to take it?"

Complaint had been made before, about Mr. Gray's pigs, and it was the opinion of the board that he simply removes them when ordered and then brings them back again. A vote was passed, permanently prohibiting him from keeping pigs. In regard to the milk and swill business, Mr. Gray's attention was called to the rules of the board, and he was told to make application in the usual way.

Dr. C. A. Hambliet, inspector of meats and provisions, reported on the conditions found in the milk rooms inspected by him. He said that clean milk rooms are in the minority. One or two have been made well-nigh perfect, but in some places nothing has been done.

EX-SECY GARFIELD ATTACKED

EXTRA

BALLINGER'S LAWYER

Denounced Garfield and Pinchot in Very Severe Terms

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Mr. Ballinger will hear to his grave scars placed upon him by reason of the disappointment and revenge of men incapable of generous impulses and sentiments," exclaimed his defender, John J. Vertrees, during the continuance of his summing up argument before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee today. For more than two hours of the forenoon session of the final public hearing of the committee, Mr. Vertrees discussed the Cunningham-Anson coal claims in support of the contention that there was nothing in Mr. Ballinger's connection with them, either as commissioner of the land office, as secretary of the interior, or as a private citizen, that justified criticism.

Former Secretary Garfield and Former Forester Pinchot were bitterly criticized by Mr. Ballinger's attorney. He said Garfield's attack upon Ballinger was the act of a "disappointed office-seeker," and that Pinchot as "forger" reminded him of a "small possum up a very big tree."

Vertrees asserted that every official act of Mr. Ballinger had been above reproach.

When the committee took the usual luncheon recess Mr. Vertrees had about an hour of his time remaining. It was the expectation that Attorney Brandeis and Pepper would occupy about an hour of their remaining two hours in replying to Vertrees' argument.

CARTER WILL GET PART OF FATHER'S ESTATE

CHICAGO, May 28.—The suit of Leslie Dudley Carter, the will of whose father, Leslie Carter, deprived him of participation in the estate while he lived with his mother, Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, was dismissed in the circuit court here yesterday. The estate is valued at $75,000.

It is believed that a compromise has been reached whereby an arrangement will be sufficient to satisfy legal requirements to allow the son to receive a portion of the estate. The divorce, about 20 years ago, of the elder Carter from his actress wife was unusually sensational, attracting the attention of the entire country.

COL. ROOSEVELT

May Go to Aid of Insurgents

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Ex-President Roosevelt has written a letter from London to a prominent republican insurgent member of the house of representatives requesting the latter to meet him in a conference as soon after the ex-president's arrival in New York on June 15 as possible. Mr. Roosevelt's letter indicates that he is desirous of learning the insurgent situation in the house from first hand as soon as possible after his return to this country. The member receiving the letter declined to allow the use of his name in connection with it as he said it might prove embarrassing for both Mr. Roosevelt and himself if made known at this time. He did, however, show the letter to one or two persons with the injunction that they should not disclose its text.

It is known that there has been an interchange of letters between this member and the ex-president since the latter's arrival in Europe. The insurgent is a long-time personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt and for that reason has not hesitated advising the ex-president unreservedly about the various events political that have occurred since Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Africa a year ago. In response to Mr. Roosevelt's request the insurgent member has made a hotel reservation in New York for June 15.

This member expressed no doubt whatever that Mr. Roosevelt would support the cause of the house insurgents and prophesied that he would find making a few speeches this fall in the district represented by insurgents who might be in danger of defeat.

CHINESE BRIDES

ARRIVED AT THE PORT OF BOSTON YESTERDAY

BOSTON, May 28.—Among the 36 Chinese immigrants who arrived in Boston yesterday on the steamer Halifax were two Chinese women about whom centres two romances of Oriental interest.

Leon Chet is one of the women. She comes with her infant to join her young husband who left China less than a year ago to run a store in Philadelphia. His love for his young wife did not suffer by distance, and yesterday he met her at the dock with outstretched arms and a broad grin.

The other woman who arrived represented a romance of still greater interest, inasmuch as she had the courage to cross the seas to an unknown country to meet the man whom she has not seen for 12 years. Her name is Luan She and his is Young Chong. He left her 12 years ago, when she was 9 years old.

COL. ROOSEVELT

TO BE THE GUEST OF IRISH PARLIAMENTARIANS

LONDON, May 28.—Several members of the nationalist party are coming here from Ireland to attend a luncheon to Col. Theodore Roosevelt on June 1, at which John Redmond, John Dillon, Joseph Devlin, T. P. O'Connor and other nationalists will be the hosts.

The luncheon was to have been tendered by the entire Irish representation in parliament, but owing to the difficulties arising from the death of King Edward and the adjournment of parliament this was found to be impracticable.

In a recent conversation with Mr. O'Connor, Col. Roosevelt expressed a strong desire to meet the Irish parliamentarians.

SMOOTH PAVING

Progress Made on Prescott Street Job

The smooth paving job in Prescott street is going along at a good rate and about all of the real slow work has been attended to. The two worst snags that the pavers had to contend with was a sewer connection, that had been overlooked last year and the job at the Central street end of Prescott street where changes, slow and tedious, were made.

When Bridge street was smooth paved last year the canal at the mills proved a stumbling block. The Locks & Canals and Boston & Northern were to build a new bridge there but there was nothing doing on the new bridge work when the pavers reached that point and the season was then too far advanced. The old bridge had to do service for another winter and there were spaces at either end of the street that the pavers did not pave. Now that a new bridge has been built, the pavers will pave the spaces in question and persons using the street will no longer have to encounter the rough spots.

From Prescott street the pavers will move into Middlesex street. That street will be paved from the railroad crossing to Nichols street and the other big paving job will be Merrimack street from Dutton street to Tilden street. The street department will not tackle the Merrimack street job until the proposition to extend Dummer street has been settled either one way or the other. The extension of Dummer street would affect the grade in Merrimack street.

EMPEROR WILLIAM

SUFFERING FROM BITE OF AN INSECT

BERLIN, May 28.—Emperor William is experiencing some inconvenience because of an eruption on the right hand caused by the bite of an insect. The court physician states that there is no danger of serious consequences from the irritation which they expect will disappear within a few days. They have, however, opened and treated the affected part against the possible development of blood poisoning.

For the time being his majesty has delegated the signature of state documents to Crown Prince Frederick William and all urgent decrees will appear with the double signatures of the crown prince and the imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, preceded by the notation: "By order of the emperor."

This is the first occasion during the reign of the emperor which the documents of state have received other than his majesty's autograph.

NO. DAKOTA MAN

Says He Never Heard of Pres. Taft

MINOT, N. D., May 28.—John Brana, a 52 year old farmer, born in southern Indiana, but living for the last seven years 28 miles south of Minot, in the "bad lands," said that he had never heard of President Taft and that he "might o' heard" of Roosevelt, but had long forgotten the name. Brana was the only one selected out of a special venire of 50 men for a jury to try Robert S. Nonh, alleged murderer of a homesteader.

"But," inquired Judge Goss, "do you not get newspapers?" Brana explained that occasionally he got a farm paper published at Fargo, from a neighbor, and that his wife still "insisted" on getting a story paper for one of his children, of which he had four, the eldest aged 24. He did not know what the word "juror" meant. The picture of acrophanes he thought those of kites, and uttered incredulously when told his fellowmen had mastered the air.

"Roosevelt, Roosevelt," muttered Brana, unfamiliarly. "It seems I have heard tell of the name, but I clean forgot it. Soldier, wasn't he?"

"Your honor," said State Attorney George A. McGee of Minot, "the attorney for the defense will not challenge the juror and I will not."

"The juror is selected," said Judge Goss, grimly. "Take a seat in the box, please. At any event the juror knows nothing about the case," remarked the judge.

"Your honor," said Attorney Duncan for the defense, "will admit we have made an ideal choice of a juror?"

Brana said he left his farm in Indiana, owned by his father, in a prairie schooner ten years ago and farmed as a laborer near Waseka and Quincy, Ill., before coming to North Dakota and getting a homestead.

"I never took no interest in newspapers," he said.

FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Program of the Observance as Arranged by G. A. R. Posts

Four Military Companies to Report on South Common at 3 O'Clock—Parade at 4 O'Clock The Route and Other Details

So far as business is concerned, there will be very little doing in Lowell on Monday, Memorial day. All of the big mills and most of the smaller industries will not open after the closing hour this noon or this evening, until Tuesday morning. The big stores will all be closed and the day will be one of celebrating the memory of the dead, not only the soldiers but all those who have surviving friends.

Lowell's downtown streets have not taken on their patriotic colors, but in other sections of the city old glory is waving in the breeze.

At a meeting of the three Grand Army posts, held in Post 185 hall last night, final arrangements for the observance of Memorial Sunday tomorrow and Memorial day were completed.

The city council appropriated $100 for the proper observance of Memorial day by the three G. A. R. posts and $350 for Adelbert Ames camp, No. 97, Spanish War Veterans, the money to be extended by them and bills approved by the mayor.

Decorating the graves of the soldiers and sailors will be the impressive feature of the Memorial day exercises, and it seems a proper and worthy thing for the living to remember the dead at least once a year. Start out to make God's Acre beautiful; take the crimson roses of love, the white ones of innocence, the lavender heliotropes of devotion, the blue forget-me-nots of never-fading memory, the lilies of purity, and strew them about, here and there, wherever, making the day one of absolute union of hearts, union of feeling and union of remembrance. That is what Decoration day should be.

G. A. R. Arrangements

At the meeting of the Grand Army posts held last night Chief Marshal Earl A. Thissell presided. Chief of Staff George E. Worthen read the completed general orders which have been issued to the commanders of the three posts, the militia company commanders, and to the heads of the Sons of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans and High school regiment.

The following are announced as aides-de-camp for the day: Post 42, Patrick F. Brady, Post 120, William L. Dickey; Post 185, James P. Emerson; Spanish War Veterans, Oscar P. Ellis and William E. Goodwin; Sons of Veterans, Henry Gray; Company C, Sixth regiment, Sergeant James J. Powers and Muscian Chester E. Cornejo; Company G, Sixth regiment, Muscian Arthur Lawler and Private William McGookin; Company K, Sixth regiment, Corporal Victor F. Jewett and Private Everett R. Mountain; Company M, Ninth regiment, Lieut. Daniel F. Christian and Muscian John A. Aspin; High school regiment, Capt. John D. MacIver, Adjutant Harry D. Brown, Lieut. Norris Tibbels, Sergeant Major Moses Strauss, Corporal Lorin Kew, Corporal James Markham, Private Harold Leland and Private William Kelly.

These aides will report to the chief marshal at 3.30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the headquarters for the day on the South common, near Highland street.

Delegations from each of the three posts will report to the chief marshal on John street at 5.30 o'clock, a. m. for exercises at the Gorbun street armory. The following are announced as aides-de-camp for the day: Post 42, John J. Sullivan, O. M. L. of the immaculate Conception church, will officiate at the services in the Catholic cemetery.

At 1 o'clock p. m. the American band will report to Capt. Henry J. Draper, Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, Memorial building, and report to the camp and disabled veterans in carriages to the Highland cemetery, Dracut, where ceremonies will be held; thence to the armory in Westford street, and report to Capt. Philip McNulty. On arriving at the common the band will form on the right of the militia.

Drivers of carriages assigned to posts will report at 12.15 o'clock. When these carriages are filled they will report to Aid-de-Camp Henry Gray at Memorial hall at 1 o'clock. Drivers assigned to carry guests will report at city hall at 2.45 o'clock. While the line is being formed drivers of carriages holding guests and disabled veterans will form on Highland street, the leading carriage on Thorneike street. During the parade they will be driven in double column. Arriving at Monument square they will form column of fours on Worthen street, with right wheel on Moody street.

The Lowell Military band will report to Post 42, John Harrington, commander, at Memorial building at 2.45 o'clock. At 3 o'clock this post will move from Memorial building down Merrimack and Central streets en route for the South common, being joined by Posts 120 and 185, respectively, as their headquarters are passed.

Commanders of the four militia companies will report with their commands at the South common at 3.30 o'clock p. m. Col. Chester A. Wheeler, commanding the High school regiment, will report at the same time and place.

The line will be formed on South common with the right near Thorneike street. In the following order: American band, battalion of militia, High school regiment, Post 42, Lowell Military band, Post 120, Post 185, Spanish War Veterans, Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, and carriages.

The formation of the march will be wherever practicable as follows: Armed escort in column of companies, all others in column of fours. The column will move at 4 o'clock over the following line of march: Thorneike, Middlesex, Central, Merrimack and Moody streets to Monument square, where the usual ceremonies will be held. The escort will halt at Tremont street. The Grand Army, Spanish War Veterans and Sons of Veterans will take post on the sidewalk surrounding the square, close to the curb. At the conclusion of the ceremonies at Monument square the column will re-form and moving through Tremont and Merrimack streets, will be reviewed by the mayor and members of the city council at city hall and by the chief marshal at Dutton street. The troops will then be dismissed, the Grand Army going to their respective headquarters, where camp fires will be held.

IN A BATTING FEST

Lowell Walloped Brockton Team at Spalding Park

In a free batting and interesting game at Spalding park yesterday Lowell defeated Brockton by a score of 8 to 5, delighting some 700 spectators for the batting game is what the crowd appears to like.

Lowell presented three new players, Delaney behind the bat, McDonald on first base and Blakeley in center field. All made a good impression. Wolfgang was on the slab for Lowell and while at times he appeared to be going bad he always had his head in tight places and pulled himself out of a couple of dangerous places. Brockton presented Eberley, a new one to the Lowell fans and he didn't last three innings when another new one, Sweeney, went in and Sweeney appeared to be a little better.

Terry McGovern distinguished himself by making a home run over the left field fence while little Frank Shannon cracked out a dandy three bagger.

The game in detail:

First Inning
There was a batting carnival in the first inning, Lowell getting two runs while the visitors scored one run. Lowell drew a free pass and McGovern popped a fly to Fitzpatrick. Hendrickson bunted along the first base line and beat the ball out. Stankard singled to left field, scoring Dulin. Shannon hit to Cooney who threw to second getting Stankard and the ball was returned to first for a double play. In the latter half of the inning Fitz hit to McGovern, who threw him out at first. Ryan singled over second base and went to second on a balk. He scored on Cooney's two bagger to left field. McDonald hit to Shannon and died at first. Magee singled and Cooney scored. Wolfgang then stole second. Fitzpatrick drew a free pass. Blakeley hit to Dulin and failed to reach first.

Second Inning
In the second inning there was a different story to tell. The visitors scored two runs and Lowell failed to send a man across the plate.

McLane flied to Magee and Jolly hit to Cooney, who threw bad to first. Lavigne singled by Ryan. Eberley hit along the first base line to McDonald and was out. Jolly scoring. Dulin singled to right field scoring Lavigne. Magee then stole second. Fitzpatrick hit to Dulin and failed to reach first.

Third Inning
Another run for the visitors in the third inning. Hendrickson fanned the breezes and Stankard singled and was caught between first and second. Shannon hit the ball out to the center field fence for three bases. McLane scored him with a single and then Mac stole second. Jolly was third out on a foul fly to Delaney.

In the latter half of the inning the home team slammed Eberley and scored three runs. Ryan started out with a scratch single. He went to second on Cooney's sacrifice and traveled to third on a passed ball. McDonald got hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Magee hit to left field for a single scoring Ryan. McDonald tried to make third and was thrown out. Fitzpatrick got hit by a pitched ball and walked. Blakeley drew a base on balls and then Delaney knocked out a single scoring Magee and Fitzpatrick. At this point Eberley was taken out and Sweeney was put in to pitch. Wolfgang closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 4.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning Lavigne flied to Ryan. Sweeney and Dulin hit grounders to Wolfgang and were out at first.

DIAMOND NOTES

Brockton again today.

When Frankie Shannon hit to the center field fence a fan cried out: "I saw you do that 20 years ago." Little Tom had just framed his countenance in a huge smile when he heard the remark and he immediately tightened up. A few minutes later another fan asked him if he was going to parade Monday. Frank said so awfully old but he started in the game very young. He was first heard of as captain of the "champion" seven-year-old team in South Boston shortly after the war.

Many fans would like to see Jake Doules on the slab for a whole game.

All the new men looked very good yesterday.

When McDonald stepped on the field he was immediately christened "Cupid."

Terry McGovern was surprised at not finding Jonesy in the line-up. Terry says Jonesy always looked good to him.

The Lynn papers are of the opinion that Hamilton made a mistake in letting Steval go. Here's hoping he did for we have Shoval. With an extra outfielder on the bench the three now working will have to keep going.

Lynn plays here Monday morning and Lowell at Lynn Monday afternoon.

The game Monday will start at 10 o'clock sharp.

Campbell, Moore and Foye were released last evening.

IN EAST AFRICA BURNED BY WIRE

Cowboys Captured Big Moth Hunter Had a Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, May 28.—"Buffalo" Jones, the American plainsman, came back from Africa on the Mauretania yesterday with a story of the use of wild west methods in capturing blood-thirsty animals which inhabit the dark continent.

"Buffalo" Jones, or Col. C. J. Jones as he signs his name, was accompanied by Lovelace, Means and Schull, cowboys from New Mexico. They had 10 ponies from the west and they captured more than 50 wild rhinoceros, lions and other animals in Keron valley, East Africa. Though they were in danger at times, none of them was injured.

"We didn't bother with rifles," said Jones. "We just had lasso which we knew would do the business."

"I guess the wild beasts never saw anything that could lasso along like an American cowboy. We'd keep after those lions, hippos, rhinos and other things for hours sometimes, but the ponies always won in the end."

"We turned loose all our catches except one lioness, which we have shipped on a steamer that will reach here next week. That lioness was a tough one. We heard her roar three miles away. We drove her from the woods into an open space by exploding fire crackers. They were surrounded her. Schull was at one time so close to her that we could not see daylight between them. I swung the lasso and caught her."

One day the party was charged by a huge rhinoceros.

"She was a hard proposition," said Jones. "We had to retreat. We might just as well have tried to lasso an express train."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Fleischmann of Cincinnati also came back on the Mauretania, after a hunting trip in Africa.

200 MILE RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 28.—The big feature of the automobile speedway program today was the 200 mile race left undecided last season because of fatal accidents that attended it. Oldfield, Harroun, Chevrolet, Burman, Lytle, Kline, Dawson and other celebrated drivers are expected to be in the line that will face the starter in this race this afternoon.

LEXINGTON, May 28.—John McCarthy of Arlington, an employee of the gypsy moth department of this town, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon while at work up in a tree at Massachusetts avenue and Bedford street, directly opposite Battle green.

In reaching out he touched a live electric light wire and received a shock of 2800 volts. Instantly his body became rigid and he fell across two other wires. The live wire burned the flesh of McCarthy's left hand and foot.

Michael Murphy, a fellow employee, who was up in the same tree, at once went to McCarthy's assistance. A fire alarm was sounded and the hook and ladder turned out, but before it arrived Murphy had reached McCarthy. Calling to his comrades below to get a horse blanket with which to improvise a life-net, Murphy raised the prostrate man from the wires and dropped him to the blanket below, into which he was safely landed.

Dr. J. O. Tilton had been summoned and, after severe efforts, McCarthy was somewhat revived. The live wire had burned into the flesh of the hand badly and through his shoe into the foot. It is thought that the young man's rubber coat saved him from death.

In a serious condition, McCarthy was taken to his home in Arlington.

LOWELL IS NOT ALONE IN ITS EFFORTS

We have noted the efforts of one of our Lowell corporations in the line of advertising. Much of it has a flavor of the deejay and no doubt is so intended and being so is none the less creditable to the company's management. The New York City Gas company, of which Cortisyou is president, has entered upon a campaign of advertising and we notice the following, which is good reading and applies to Lowell or any city equally well: "Floor space in New York city is more valuable than in any other city in the world. Economy in its use with an increase in its productivity for business purposes is therefore good business." During the month of April hotel and restaurant proprietors in the Borough of Manhattan gave orders for 173 meals or running feet of gas ranges. These figures do not include an order for a gas range 60 feet long, now being constructed for one of New York city's best known hotels. A gas range four feet long does the work of a coal range six feet long. In other words, a coal range takes up 50 per cent more room than a gas range of the same capacity. By installing gas ranges 36 feet will be saved in the floor space of these kitchens, and their cooking facilities will be greatly improved. What will save space in the hotel or restaurant will save space in the private house or apartment. Then, too, consider the handling of coal and ashes, and the dust and dirt that will be avoided, as well as the difference in the atmosphere in the kitchen during the summer months. Any housekeeper and every housekeeper who is not using a gas range will do well to consider what economy of space in the kitchen means in her own case. One can measure with eye or tape dimensions of gas range at John Street Appliance Store of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

Board of Trade Bill

Came too Late

On the petition of Mayor Meehan and others, on the Lowell board of trade bill to place on the statute books a law similar to the one in Boston governing the opening of new streets for public use, the house committee on rules yesterday voted leave to withdraw. The committee decided that it was too late a date to admit the bill. President Greene of the board declared that the matter is too important to be allowed to drop and a duplicate measure will be introduced next year early in the session. The purpose of the measure is to establish a board consisting of the mayor, the city civil engineer and the superintendent of streets, whose duty it shall be to approve in writing all plans of persons or corporations who plan to open new streets. The new streets must be satisfactory to this board as to location, direction, width and grade, before being opened for public travel. This bill was a duplicate, almost word for word, of the law now in force in Boston.

"JIM" CORBETT

To Look Into Jeffries' Condition

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Although James J. Corbett, according to his own declaration, has not come to California to take charge of Jeffries' training, it is generally believed that plans of the former champion for a revision of the work will be adopted and that Corbett will wield great influence henceforth in the regulation of the Ben Lomond program. He has some decided views as to the style of training Jeff should follow in preparation for his fight with Johnson. He says he has thoroughly analyzed Johnson's methods and that it is highly essential for Jeffries to school himself to a form of fighting best adapted to meet the negro's tactics. "And," he said last night, "it's fighting and boxing that Jeff requires from now on."

With the return of the Jeffries party to Ben Lomond today a conference will be held. It is said to determine upon changes in Jeffries' training regime. Johnson will resume boxing this afternoon. He has extended a general invitation to all would-be partners.

THE BERNEICE

Won Power Boat Race to Havana

HAVANA, May 28.—The Berneice, owned by S. G. Granberry of Brooklyn, won the Yachtmen's club's powerboat race from Philadelphia to Havana.

The Berneice with her time allowance over the Callip of three hours and forty minutes beat the latter boat by two hours, forty-four minutes and eighteen seconds. The IIs and the Caroline had not been sighted this morning when their time allowance expired. The scratch boat Loantaka, owned by H. S. Peters of Trenton, N. J., had trouble with her machinery soon after the start and abandoned the race. The Callip, owned by M. E. Brigham of the Ventnor Yacht club, finished first last evening. The Berneice arrived an hour later. The Caroline, M. F. Dennis of the Columbia Yacht club owner, had an allowance over the original scratch boat of 15 hours and 12 minutes and an allowance over the winner of six hours and 50 minutes. The IIs had corresponding allowances of nineteen hours and three minutes and seven hours and twenty-eight minutes.

The vessels started on May 21 from Philadelphia and finished between Morro castle and Laputa fort at the entrance to the harbor here. The distance was 1138 nautical or 1309 statute miles.

The prizes were: first, City of Philadelphia cup, valued at $1000 and $1000 in cash; second, Yachtmen's club cup valued at $500 and $500 in cash; third, the Alexander Yacht club cup valued at $250 and $250 in cash.

Work on the building will begin soon.

BAN JOHNSON

TO HAVE A CONFERENCE WITH JOHN MITCHELL

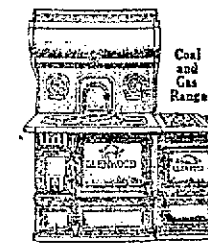

CLEVELAND, May 28.—President Ban Johnson is in this city to hold a conference today with John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, and a number of local leaders with the object of putting an end to the boycott of the Cleveland American league team. It is said both sides are willing to make some concessions, and Johnson says he expects to have the affair smoothed over before the Memorial day double-header. The trouble started over the construction of the club's new grandstand.

BACHELOR CLUB

Made Another Big Hit Last Evening

So pleasing was the show of the Bachelor club, held a few weeks ago in Associate hall, that the Matthews, knowing a good thing in the show line, had them repeat the fun at their concert and dance last evening and they played to a big crowd in Associate hall.

Whatever little rough spots there might have been at the first performance had been eliminated last evening and everything went along smoothly. The Glendales, who were a trifle off color at the first performance, rolled out melody last evening that would make the Boston Opera company sit up and take notice. Prof. Arthur Martel's new song, "Sons of Uncle Sam," again made a big hit as sung by John J. Dalton and the company. Prof.

Greatest Medicine of the Age

Mr. Walter Clark of Bluefield, W. Va., was laid up with lung trouble, unable to work for two months. He tried numerous medicines without results until he took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It completely cured him and now he is in perfect health.

"Having been afflicted with a serious case of lung trouble and used many remedies without result—in fact, I was unable to do any work whatever for two months—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended, and I commenced taking the same. I desire to state that I am entirely cured, having been pronounced so by my physician."

"This testimonial is conscientiously given and without any solicitation whatsoever. I consider this the greatest medicine of the present age."—Walter Clark, Bluefield, W. Va. Mr. Clark is a member of the firm of Clark & Co., prominent grocers of Bluefield.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a wonderful remedy in the treatment and cure of all diseases of the lungs, throat and stomach and for all weakening and wasting conditions. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. When taken at mealtime it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It is prescribed by doctors and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

If in need of advice write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet, containing rare common sense rules for health, which you cannot afford to be without, and some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine and who continue to enjoy good health. Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers or direct $1.00 a large bottle.

CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

The Engineering News for this month publishes an elaborate review of government by commission as adopted by 70 American cities. This plan of government originated as is well known at Galveston, Texas, after the great flood of 1900. Its success in that city was so remarkable that many other cities wishing to rid themselves of unbusinesslike methods and political bodies adopted the commission idea.

This plan consisted originally of five men, including the mayor of the city, its function being to transact the entire business of the city with an eye to economy and the best interests of the municipality. Gradually the commission idea was somewhat modified, many of the cities adopting it, engrafting upon it some local idea or some feature of the old system that the people wished to retain. The modifications in some cases consisted of reducing the number of members in the governing boards. In some cities that have not adopted the commission plan outright there has been a reduction in the size of the city council boards. Boston is a notable example of this, its present city council consisting of but nine members, whereas formerly its aldermen and councilmen numbered nearly 100. In Massachusetts three cities have adopted the commission idea, namely, Haverhill, Gloucester and Chelsea, while the city of Boston has adopted it in a modified form. It is but natural that the commission plan should be most widespread in Texas where it originated, and accordingly there are in that state 17 cities that have adopted this new idea of government. Kansas cities to the number of 16 have also adopted this plan, while the states of Iowa, Tennessee, North and South Dakota and California come next.

In order to avoid the possibility of autocratic power by these small governing bodies the principle of the "recall," together with the initiative and referendum, have been embodied in the charters so that whenever there is any necessity for removing the commission the power lies in the hands of the people. Judging from the successful working of this new plan of municipal government there is reason to believe that it will become still more popular, and that where it will not be adopted in its entirety some of the more important features will be engrafted upon the older forms of city charter. This change is going on rapidly in eliminating party politics and centering responsibility on executive heads, all of which, it is claimed, will make for more economic government and better general results.

MEMORIAL DAY

On Monday will be observed Memorial Day, a holiday in all the states and territories except Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The southern states have confederate memorial days, mainly upon April 26 and May 10. The time may come when there will be uniformity among the states on this matter of celebrating the memory of the fallen heroes; but never will the north shed tears over the sacrifices made by the confederates nor the south lament for any but her own. Nevertheless, it is the privilege of each state to honor its own dead, the men who responded to the call of duty, to defend the state against the contention or the dominance of a combination of other states.

The men who wore the blue or such of them as are alive today are loyal citizens reconciled to the union of states against which they fought, but they cannot forget the terrible struggle, the bloody conflict, the patriotic sacrifices of their brothers who laid down their lives in defense of a principle they believed to be right.

The survivors of the Confederate army are today as loyal citizens as if they had fought upon the Union side. Their numbers are few and still like the survivors of the Union army they are being rapidly mustered out.

It is too late now to stir up any sectional feeling; on the contrary we should fraternize with them on every opportunity; and hence it would be a grand thing if all the survivors of both Confederate and Union armies could come together in one great love feast, a great national jubilation upon the grandeur of the victory won by the Union cause when on April 9, 1865, Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. The survivors of the Union army should not grudge the southerners all the little satisfaction they get out of erecting a statue to General Lee north of Mason and Dixon's line. We can afford to be magnanimous with the south on such matters, and it is best not to show any feeling that could be construed as enmity on account of disloyalty that is dead and buried.

While honoring our fallen heroes and the survivors who risked their all in the Civil war we must remember that these cannot be with us much longer, as the man who served his country in the field from 1862 to 1865 must now be well over sixty years even if he were but nineteen or twenty on enlistment. Most of our surviving veterans of the Civil war are nearing seventy or over, and at this age a man must necessarily conclude that his race is nearly run.

In this city, as in every other where true patriotism is found, these men are held in the highest veneration on account of their individual sacrifices, on account of the imperishable monument they have reared in this nation of states one and inseparable forever.

The observance of Memorial Day is yearly becoming more and more sacred. The day is now observed with as much or even more solemnity than the Sabbath, for it reminds us of the patriotic sacrifices of our soldiers whose achievements remain to posterity for future ages. The survivors of that army link us with the dead and yearly on Memorial Day recall the religious duty of bringing fairest flowers to be laid as sweetest tokens of a nation's love upon her patriot graves.

DR. KOCH IS DEAD

Bacteriologist Victim of Heart Disease

BADEN BADEN, May 28.—Professor Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, died here yesterday from a disease of the heart. He was born at Clausthal, Hanover, Dec. 11, 1843. Undoubtedly no more distinguished figure has appeared in the medical world during the past two decades than Dr. Koch. Since Pasteur and Lister, none has contributed more to the general progress of medical science than has he. The very basis of practically all the great advances in surgery and medicine within the past decade can be traced to the bacteriological discoveries made by Dr. Koch.

THE LATE DR. KOCH.

He was educated at and graduated from the University of Göttingen. Shortly after taking his degree he commenced practice as a physician. He was first brought prominently before the public in 1876 through his work as an expert in the Speichers poisoning case.

The conviction of the prisoner in this case was entirely due to the remarkable analyses and medical testimony of Dr. Koch. Later he was summoned to Berlin by reason of his appointment as a member of the sanitary commission of the metropolis and as professor of the Royal School of Medicine.

COMPANY K

The members of Company K, Sixth Infantry, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the organization of the command in the army last night. Many of the former members of the company were present to enjoy the festivities, and the affair proved one of the pleasantest held this season. Private McDonald won first prize in the competitive drill, and Private Mountain second. Suitable cups were presented them. An entertainment followed.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

What might be termed "a laughing program" is the current offering at the Opera House, where a fine comedy program of vaudeville and motion pictures is the attraction. The Thub City Comedy Four are making a big hit with the singing and comedy work. Robinson and LaFave, comedy acrobats keep the audience in roars of laughter while Scott and Dupree are pleasing with a clever character change singing and dancing act of merit. The pictures shown are good and of the latest subjects and include both dramatic and comedy stories. Four full shows will be given today starting at 1:30, 3, 5 and 8:30. A fine Sunday concert program has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon and evening with the Thub City Four, Sarinski, the Hungarian violinists, Florence Brown, vocalist and an entire change of pictures on the program. Sunday concerts are given from 1:30 to 5 and 8:30 to 10 with prices at five and ten cents. Commencing next Monday another of the excellent vaudeville and motion picture program will be given with the Boston Bros., Ward and Barton, Hallen and Hayes and new songs and pictures.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is a happy show at the Theatre Voyons today inasmuch as every picture is either comedy or one with plenty of laughs in it. "The Wings of Love" is a clever love story of two young Hollanders and the settings are picturesque and quite correct. "The Centurion," "The Hashers Dream" and "Gen' Im Late" are all comedies with real laughs in all of them. The musical selections please because they are well rendered. Sunday the usual good show will be given of motion pictures and illustrated songs each the best in the market. On Monday Miss Ida Wilson leading contralto for the Boston Opera Company will join the Theatre Voyons singing staff.

SUPREME COURT

Again Takes up the Cherokee Indian Case

BOSTON, May 28.—After an absence, of four years the famous Cherokee Indian case involving the distribution of more than $1,000,000 to these wards of the nation, returned today to the supreme court of the United States.

Attorneys for Head Captain John McIntosh, Second Captain Hildebrand, Sam Boney and others, today asked the supreme court to require the court of claims "to obey" the mandate of the supreme court in passing on the case four years ago.

At that time Attorneys Sullivan and Danish claim the supreme court directed a distribution of the funds by the court of claims on a "per stripes" basis. It is now complained that the court of claims has directed a distribution on a per capita basis. Another objection is made to the proceedings of the court of claims. It is maintained by the attorneys that the supreme court directed the court of claims to have the secretary of the interior prepare the roll of persons entitled to participate in the distribution. Instead of following this mandate it is claimed a special commissioner was appointed by the court at great expense to prepare the roll. It is urged that this, too, was disobedience to the mandate of the supreme court which is urged to enforce its decree.

NIGHT EDITION CORPUS CHRISTI

Feast to be Observed in the Catholic Churches Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be the feast of Corpus Christi and will be observed in all Catholic churches with beautiful processions in which the host will be carried exposed. As has been the custom for years at St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception churches, the processions will be held in the open. The day will be observed on a particularly elaborate plan for the first time this year by the people of St. Jean Baptiste's church, who will not only have a parade of several thousands through the streets in the vicinity of the church but will have benediction at a temporary altar erected in the open.

At St. Patrick's
For years thousands have annually assembled for the Corpus Christi procession at St. Patrick's and this year's program will be in keeping with its many elaborate predecessors. The procession will be held in connection with the vesper service which starts at 7.30. At the magnificent procession consisting of the societies of the church, the pupils and choir of Notre Dame Academy, the church and sanctuary choirs with the sacred ministers bearing the host under a canopy will proceed from the church headed by the Lowell Cadet band to the academy grounds where benediction will be given at a temporary altar. Then the line will move farther along to the grove in the grounds where again benediction will be given. The procession will then proceed into Fenwick street and thence to the church yard, where a large temporary altar has been erected at the monument. Once more benediction will be given and then the procession will return to the church where the final benediction will be given. The band and choir bells will alternate in playing sacred music while the three choirs will alternate in singing. At the church yard all three choirs will combine in singing the "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" with accompaniment by the chorales. First communion service will be held at the 7 o'clock mass.

At St. Peter's
At St. Peter's church the Corpus Christi procession will be held in connection with the solemn high mass at 10.45 o'clock. The procession will be confined to the aisles of the church and will take place immediately after mass. The formation of the procession will be as follows: first division, Markham with Raymond Forgays and George McDonough as acolytes; Harry Moran, bearing large white dove. First division, banner bearer, Miss Katherine McKenney, children with wreaths, four little girls as angels and boys, second division, banner bearer, Miss Josephine McHugh, thirteen children wearing wreaths and carrying red and white streamers along the aisles; cross of flowers carried by Miss Mary Mahoney; anchor, by Miss Alice Gilligan and heart, by Miss Flora Grant. Third division, chalice bearer, carried by Miss Rita Nawn, girls with wreaths and wearing purple sashes; Miss Loretta Nawn, carrying lilies; Miss Dorothy Driscoll, carrying grapes and Lillian Rogers carrying wheat; fourth division, Children of Mary banner, carried by Miss Mabel Stuchess, girls with blue sashes and vells and carrying bouquets. Letters I. H. S. carried by Mollie Whelan, Katherine Cryan and Sally Flanagan; fifth division, Sacred Heart banner, carried by Miss Mabel Ferguson; thirty girls wearing red sashes and carrying bouquets; altar boys, sanctuary choir, officiating priests under canopy borne by following: Messrs. Daniel F. Kelly, Michael Corbett, Patrick Gilbride and James E. Gorman.

In the evening the triduum which opened at the church on Thursday evening will come to a close with a sermon by Rev. Fr. Conway, S. J., vice president of Boston college. There will also be a reception into the Immaculate Conception sodality. Last evening the sermon was preached by Rev. Thomas J. Cassady, S. J., the present president of Boston college and it was an able effort.

Big Procession Planned
The buildings in Little Canada are being profusely and generally decorated today in honor of the Peto Dion, or feast of Corpus Christi, which occurs tomorrow when a beautiful outdoor observance will be held. In the event of inclement weather, the procession will be postponed until the following Sunday.

In the morning solemn high mass will be sung at St. Jean Baptiste church at 10 o'clock. Solemn vespers will be sung at 7.30 o'clock. After vespers, the procession will take place. The march will be through Aiken and Cheever streets to Pawtucket street and back through Moody and Austin streets to the church.

At the corner of Pawtucket and Cheever streets, a repository will be erected for the Blessed Sacrament, and there a station will be made and benediction will be sung. The choir of both St. Joseph's and St. Jean Baptiste churches will take places around the repository and sing hymns to the Eucharist.

The procession will be an extensive one, on a scale seldom seen at a religious demonstration in Lowell. The French-American military guards, as many of the numerous French American societies having chaplains, as well as the children of the parish schools, will turn out.

Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., the organizer of the demonstration, has given out the following order for the procession:
The cross, with two torch bearers and 12 acolytes.
Garde des Saints-Anges.
St. Anne's sodality.
Congregation do Notre-Dame de Lourdes.
The Children of Mary and the pupils

Heretofore the Unlicensed Dog Was Asphyxiated, but This Year His Owner Will be Prosecuted
Go up to city hall and license that pup at once or you'll get "pinched!" The first case of the season of an arrest for keeping an unlicensed dog was heard in police court this morning. Heretofore it has been customary for the police to notify owners of unlicensed dogs about the first of June to get out licenses lest they get into the meshes of the police, or their dogs suffer the penalty of the gas box. The law says that all dogs must be licensed on May 1 and does not say that the police must notify the dog owner to license his animal. This year the police have adopted a new procedure. They have waited a month beyond the time limit on licenses and are now starting out to prosecute all owners of unlicensed dogs without the formality of notifying them to license in advance. Thus if your dog is not licensed, get busy at city hall at once, for you'll not only be fined, but you'll have to get the license out anyway.

ROOF CAVED IN

Several Workmen Went Down With It
BOSTON, May 28.—Nearly 40 feet of the roof of the new Cambridge subway now in process of construction caved in last night, carrying with it several workmen who were laboring on the top of the underground passage. None of the men was injured. With a crashing sound that could be heard for blocks, and which many Cambridge residents thought to be an explosion, the portion of the subway on the Boston side of Central square came down, leaving the work of weeks a tangled mass of intertwined iron and wooden supports mixed with cement not yet hardened.

Those in the immediate vicinity of the crash believed it to be an explosion, as clouds of dust rolled from the hole. There was an immediate hurry call rung in for the police ambulance, which was quickly on the spot, as it was believed at that time that some of the laborers had been pinned beneath the tangled mass. Those in charge of the work cleared the men out as quickly as possible and had a roll-call, which at first showed that one man was missing, but which the second time proved that all were safe other than a shaking up and a few scratches. The cave-in happened about 9 o'clock when Massachusetts avenue at this point is always crowded. Thousands swarmed around the scene of the accident, and it was with difficulty that the police kept them back until the last man had been taken from the hole. When it was learned that none of the men were injured they started to clear the place, but it was soon learned that this section of the tunnel will be delayed for some time, as new arching and sides will have to be placed in position and the top recovered with cement. The amount of damage done is not known at this time, nor is it known how long the work will be delayed by it, but it is believed that it will be weeks before this section will resume its condition before the crash.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

CONCORD, N. H., May 28.—Refusing to turn aside from the path of a speeding express train, an unknown man chose a strange way of committing suicide early today near this city. Headless of the warning whistles of the locomotive, the man simply leaped his head as the train neared him and allowed it to strike him squarely. There was nothing on his person to furnish a clue to the suicide's identity.

PLAYGROUNDS CONGRESS

Many real estate men of Rochester, N. Y., have signified their intention of attending the playground congress here June 7-11. One of the prominent ones who will probably attend is William E. Harmon, one of the biggest operators in New York. Mr. Harmon is convinced that the location of a playground is one of the best assets residential real estate property can have. "That a small park increases the value of the surrounding land is not a new idea," said Mr. Harmon today. "We can prove our case from assessors' books. Lots fronting or adjacent to small parks increase in value more than enough to offset the land value of the park." "Big real estate operators today are laying out small parks or playgrounds as cold-blooded business propositions. It is not money wasted nor land wasted but just as much an investment as water and sewerage connection."

BASE BALL POOLS

Supt. Welch Gives Warning That Arrests Will be Made
All Pools Must Discontinue at Once, or Those Running Them Will be Prosecuted—The Sports Sadly Accept Supt.'s Ultimatum
It's all off with the baseball pools. Superintendent Welch, after warning the sports connected with the big pools being conducted in this city, this morning informed a reporter of The Sun that baseball pools such as have been running since the season opened will not be tolerated longer. "We have received many complaints from parents of boys who work and who are spending a portion of their small wages in baseball pools, and hence we must stop pool selling. There is only one way to stop such a thing and that is by prosecuting those who are running the pools. Any man, regardless of who he may be who is detected conducting a pool after tonight will be arrested." The news of the closing down of the pools will jar the baseball fans, for never in the history of the city has Lowell gone so completely crazy over baseball and baseball pools, and men, women and children have been playing them. There are small pools in every mill and workshop in the city, many of which will never be detected by the police. But certain big public pools have come to the attention of the police and these will be stopped forthwith. The men running the big pools in every instance will stop without further notice for none has any desire to buck against the dictum of Supt. Welch. A dollar pool which has been running since the season will pay to the winner tonight something over $400, while a 50 cent pool to be decided this evening will pay the winner something over $200. From the amount of the pools one can get an idea of the number of people who are playing them.

CLINTON, Ia., May 28.—Elmer Lison killed May Klingens in her home today and seriously wounded Policeman Lorenz who tried to arrest him. Barricading himself in a room he held the entire police force and sheriffs at bay for hours before surrendering.

BIG HIPPODROME

TO BE OPENED AT THE BASEBALL PARK
William Fox, the millionaire theatrical manager of New York, has conceived a unique and novel idea in the shape of presenting in Spalding park in this city a show to be given at night only, consisting of circus acts, hippodrome events, with augmented vaudeville acts on an elevated stage with a big 42 foot circus ring. The novel portion of the affair is that the grounds are to be used only at night, allowing the afternoons for the regular league baseball games. The portability of the open air stage and circus ring is something decidedly novel in amusement circles, for it is to be remembered that the diamond which must often be used the next afternoon cannot be injured in any way by the entertainment of the previous evening.

The cost of this elaborate equipment, together with the alterations now being made to accommodate performers, the animals, mechanical apparatus and all necessary paraphernalia will aggregate more than $7000. The show itself will be made up of features that have proved thrilling events both here and in Europe. The inaugural bill will be rich in features and of intense interest. One attraction will be Arthur Holden, who will perform the so-called "Loop of Death," after which he will dive into a tank from a pedestal raised one hundred feet in the air. The remarkable feat of this act is that the tank into which Holden will plunge is only four feet in depth. There will be exhibitions of trained lions, educated ponies, high school riding by Mlle. Dolores, equestrian acts by the celebrated Vivian Sisters, trick dogs and pony circus to amuse the children, through funny clowning will caper throughout the performances, and many other Hippodrome and circus acts that will tend to amuse in general. In addition to the foregoing, five big vaudeville acts will be given on the elevated stage. A brass band will be in attendance and will discourse music throughout the performance. Fox's big American Hippodrome will open in about ten days. Due notice of the exact date will be given in the daily papers.

BALLINGER'S LAWYER

Denounced Garfield and Pinchot in Very Severe Terms

WASHINGTON, May 28.—"Mr. Ballinger will bear to his grave scars placed upon him by reason of the disappointment and revenge of men incapable of generous impulses and sentiments," exclaimed his defender, John J. Vertrees, during the continuance of his summing up argument before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee today. For more than two hours of the forenoon session of the final public hearing of the committee, Mr. Vertrees discussed the Cunningham-Alaska coal claims in support of the contention that there was nothing in Mr. Ballinger's connection with them, either as commissioner of the land office, as secretary of the interior, or as a private citizen, that justified criticism.

There were about 1500 fans present at Spalding park this afternoon to witness the game between Lowell and Brockton. Dark clouds hung over the ground and the major portion of the first inning was played in a downpour of rain. Batters were to have pitched for the home team but owing to the fact that he is suffering from a sore arm Tyler was put on the slab. Sweeney, who finished the game out yesterday afternoon, was in the points for the visitors.

When Umpire Connolly called the game at three o'clock the batting order of the teams was as follows:

Lowell
Fitzpatrick 2b
Ryan 3b
Conney ss
McDonald 1b
Magee lf
Fluharty rf
Blakeley cf

Brockton
Hendrickson 1b
Dulin 2b

MAN CAUGHT IN ACT OF ROB- BING A BOOTH

BOSTON, May 28.—Three men are charged with breaking into the refreshment booth conducted by Anthony Gregory at the City Point end of Castle island bridge yesterday, one of whom was captured by Patrolman James Keating, who fired his revolver at the others, hitting, it is believed, a second member of the trio.

Another booth belonging to Gregory on Castle island had been entered just before Patrolman Keating found thieves at work at the little store on the bridge. A man was in the booth getting confectionery and tobacco together, preparatory to lowering it to two men in a boat under the bridge.

The patrolman had tussled with the man in the booth, who later said he was Joseph Welch of 422 Second Street. While the struggle was on the men being pulled on their ears. Keating held Welch and fired his revolver.

It was the patrolman's intention to frighten the fleeing pair, but one of the bullets struck one of the men in the boat. The officer hoped that they might then turn back, but the uninjured man rowed away faster with his injured companion.

A search was made for Welch's companions, but without success. A man who called at the outpatient department of the Carney hospital and had his hand dressed, having sustained a bullet wound, is thought to be the one Patrolman Keating shot, as the name and address he gave were both fictitious.

Welch refused to tell the names of the men with him. He was arraigned in the South Boston court and held in $500 for the June term of the grand jury.

CITY SCALES DAMAGED

The city scales in the rear of the police station went to the bad yesterday and this morning carpenters and builders were summoned to repair the timbers. Mensurer of bark and wood, George Noonan, said that there would be no trouble so far as the weighing and measuring of wood and bark was concerned, as the scales will be ready for use Tuesday morning.

SUIT ENTERED

BY MANAGER LAKE OF THE BOSTON NATIONALS
Albert S. Howard and Daniel J. Donahue have entered suits in Middlesex county against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company, in the interest of Fred Lake, manager of the Boston National baseball team. Fred J. Hoey, sporting editor of the Boston Journal and about 25 other plaintiffs, who claim to have received injuries in the wreck at Saxtons, Ky., on the night of April 6.

Members of the Boston National League baseball team, and a party of newspaper reporters, were traveling from Knoxville to Louisville and while the train was running, it is claimed, at the rate of 56 miles an hour, it ran into some freight cars, part of a train that had been switched on to a side track, but had been left overhanging the main track.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to those who extended their sympathy to me at the time of my great bereavement, and to those who so kindly sent the many beautiful floral tributes to the funeral of my late husband.

DIAMOND NOTES

Many fans would like to see Jake Boutles on the slab for a whole game. The Brocktons are a snappy lot and get there at the bottom. They're a good team of hitters.

Close Contests

Are Expected on Franklin Field

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 28.—So eagerly are the men matched and so keenly contested are the fights for points, that the last event will be fought out on Franklin field today to determine the winner of the intercollegiate track and field championships. A review of yesterday's performances in the trials still leaves the University of Pennsylvania a slight favorite to carry off the honors in the finals with Yale, Harvard, Michigan and possibly Cornell and Princeton as contenders for second place.

However, there are so many good men scattered among the smaller colleges that an unexpected win where one of the big colleges is picked to triumph may badly upset the calculations.

The weather today is clear and a little cool. The games will begin at 3 o'clock and one of the largest crowds that has witnessed the star athletic meet of the college year in this city is expected to be on hand. The first four places, as usual, will count in the competition, the points being five, three, two and one.

100 yards dash, semi-final in two heats, first and second men to qualify for the final and third will be run over, the winner of the latter heat going into the final.

First heat—Won by Craig, Michigan; second, Mims, Pennsylvania; third, Jessup, Princeton. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

Second heat—Won by Ramsdell, Pennsylvania; second, Cook, Princeton; third, Roberts, Amherst. Time 10 2-5.

Heat for third men—Won by Jessup, Princeton; second, Roberts, Amherst; Jessup qualifying in finals. Time 10 3-5 seconds.

First heat won by Chisholm, Yale, second, Long, Harvard. Time—16 1-5.

Second heat won by Dwight, Princeton; second, Lewis, Harvard. Time—16 1-5.

One mile run—Won by Taylor, Cornell; second, Paul, Penna.; third, Tabor, Brown; fourth, Jacques, Harvard. Time—42 3-5.

Shot put—Won by Horner, Michigan, 46 feet 4 1/2 inches; second, Waite, Syracuse, 44 feet 11 1/2 inches; third, Coy, Yale, 43 feet 8 1/2 inches; fourth, Kilpatrick, Yale, 43 feet 7 inches.

6 O'CLOCK FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Four Military Companies to Report on South Common at 3 O'Clock—Parade at 4 O'Clock The Route and Other Details

So far as business is concerned, there'll be very little doing in Lowell on Monday, Memorial day. All of the big mills and most of the smaller industries will not open after the closing hour this noon or this evening, until Tuesday morning. The big stores will all be closed and the day will be one of celebrating the memory of the dead, not only the soldiers but all those who have surviving friends.

Lowell's downtown streets have not taken on their patriotic colors, but in other sections of the city old glory is waving in the breeze.

At a meeting of the three Grand Army posts, held in Post 185 hall last night, final arrangements for the observance of Memorial Sunday tomorrow and Memorial day were completed.

The city council appropriated $1000 for the proper observance of Memorial day by the three G. A. R. posts and $350 for Adelbert Ames camp, No. 97, Spanish War Veterans, the money to be extended by them and bills approved by the mayor. Decorating the graves of the soldiers and sailors will be the impressive feature of the Memorial day exercises, and it seems a proper and kindly thing for the living to remember the dead at least once a year. Start out to make God's Acre beautiful; take the crimson roses of love, the white ones of innocence, the lavender heliotropes of devotion, the blue forget-me-nots of never-dying memory, the lilies of purity, and strew them about, here there and everywhere, making the day one of absolute union of hearts, union of feeling and union of remembrance. That is what Decoration day should be.

G. A. R. Arrangements

At the meeting of the Grand Army posts held last night Chief Marshal Earl A. Thissell presided. Chief of Staff George E. Worthen read the completed general orders which have been issued to the commanders of the three posts, the militia company commanders, and to the heads of the Sons of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans and High school regiments.

The following are announced as aides-de-camp for the day: Post 42, Patrick P. Brady; Post 120, William L. Dickey; Post 185, James P. Emerson; Spanish War Veterans, Oscar P. Ellis and William E. Goodwin; Sons of Veterans, Henry Gray; Company C, Sixth regiment, Sergeant John J. Fowers and Musician Chester E. Corcock; Company G, Sixth regiment, Musician Arthur Lawler and Private William McGookin; Company K, Sixth regiment, Corporal Victor F. Jewett and Private Everett R. Mountain; Company M, Ninth regiment, Lieutenant Daniel F. Christian and Musician John A. Axon; High school regiment, Capt. John D. Maciver, Adjutant Harry D. Brown, Lieut. Norris Tibbitts, Sgt. Major Moses Strauss, Corporal Loring Kew, Corporal James Markham, Private Harold Leland and Private William Kelly.

These aides will report to the chief marshal at 3.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, at the headquarters for the day on the South common, near Highland street.

Delegations from each of the three posts will report to chief marshal on John street at 3.30 o'clock, m. for ceremonies at the Gorham street and Lowell cemeteries. Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. L. of the Immaculate Conception church, will officiate at the services in the Catholic cemetery.

At 4 o'clock p. m. the American band will report to Capt. Henry J. Draper, Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, Memorial building, and accompany the camp and disabled veterans in carriages to the Hildreth cemetery, Draught, where ceremonies will be held; thence to the cemetery in Westford street, and report to Capt. Philip McNulty. On arriving at the common the band will form on the right of the militia.

Drivers of carriages assigned to posts will report at 12.45 o'clock. When these carriages are filled they will report to Aid-de-camp Henry Gray at Memorial hall at 1 o'clock. Drivers assigned to carry guests will report at city hall at 2.45 o'clock. While the line is being formed drivers of carriages holding guests and disabled comrades will form on Highland street, the leading carriage on Thornehill street.

During the parade they will be driven in double column. Arriving at Monument square they will form column of fours on Worthen street, with right resting on Moody street.

The Lowell Military band will report to Post 42, John Harrington, commander, at memorial hall at 1 o'clock. At 1 o'clock this post will move from Memorial building down Merrimack and Central streets en route for the South common, being joined by Posts 120 and 185, respectively, as their headquarters are passed.

Commanders of the four militia companies will report with their commands at the South common at 3.30 o'clock p. m. Col. Chester A. Wheeler, commanding the High school regiment, will report at the same time and place.

The line will be formed on South common with the right near Thornehill street, in the following order: American band, battalion of militia, High school regiment, Post 42, Lowell Military band, Post 120, Post 185, Spanish War Veterans, Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, and carrying with them the formation of the march will be wherever practicable, as follows: Armed escort in column of companies, all others in column of fours. The column will move at 4 o'clock over the Rev. Pitt Dillingham of Boston, who spent 15 years in the south as an apostle of education.

AT TEWKSBURY

Memorial day will be observed in Tewksbury in the usual manner. The Chelmsford band will give the concert at 8 a. m. and will furnish the music for the exercises at the cemetery at 11 o'clock. The exercises at the cemetery will be given by Rev. George B. Dean of Somerville.

Memorial Sunday will be observed in the Congregational church by appropriate services. National hymns will be sung by the choir, and Rev. Sarah Dixon will preach a memorial sermon. The evening service will be held at 6 o'clock, instead of 7, the usual time. At this service Miss Dixon will read Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, and the male quartet will sing.

Rev. Miss Dixon delivers the Memorial day oration at Barnstable this year.

Mr. Curtiss seemed less perturbed than anyone of the crowd that had gathered to see the start.

GREEN SCHOOL

On the Joint Observance of Memorial and Peace Day—Governor Draper, Archbishop O'Connell, Sen. Lodge, Wm. J. Bryan, Ambassador Bryce, Admiral Dewey and Others—Other Programs

A patriotic program, quite out of the ordinary, and one of unusual excellence, was arranged by Principal Bacheller of the Green school in observance of Memorial day and Peace day. These days were unitedly observed at that school yesterday. Patriotic selections were read by Gladys King, Norman Roberts and James Bruin, and there was singing by the school. Principal Bacheller's remarks were very interesting and were closely followed by those present. Mr. Bacheller had written to several famous men and they all made answer. The answers were read by Mr. Bacheller, who before reading each letter told something of the life and distinction of the author.

MR. S. DRAPER

Executive Department,
Boston, May 25, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller: I think Memorial day is one of the most beautiful observances which we have in this country. The placing of flowers on the graves, or the dropping of them onto the sea, which is the burial place of our seamen, is a beautiful tribute.

The memory of these men is kept green because they sacrificed their lives that their country might live.

The effect of this day, and its excellence should be to impress on the minds of all young people the lasting remembrance that will come to them if they devote their lives to the service of their country. By this I do not mean necessarily service in war, but service for good citizenship and the promotion of every good thing—the more peaceful the better.

Very sincerely yours,

Wm. S. Draper,
Governor of Massachusetts.

ARCHBISHOP O'CONNELL

Message to the pupils of the Green School, Lowell, from His Grace, the Most Rev. W. H. O'Connell, D. D., Archbishop of Boston.

Memorial Day Exercises, May 27th. The youth of America are the heirs of two great possessions—citizenship in a blessed land, and liberty of worship.

The glorious opportunities which our dear country offers to the man and the woman of every condition of life are unequalled.

There is almost no height of achievement to which our youth may not legitimately aspire, no sphere of splendid service which he may not enter, if only his education and training have prepared him for them.

If his character, his ideals, his industry, his self-restraint, are equal to his opportunity, his life is bound to be a record of honorable achievement; and whether he dwells among the humble or sits among the mighty, his work must count in the building of the nation.

Not place but quality is what a democracy most needs. No princely title, but a princely heart makes the true American. He who feels for the honor and the welfare of our country as a king for his royalty; he is the only rightful heir to the crown of American citizenship. The blessings which follow upon the path of holy peace are all yours, and the very greatest of all these is the right to worship God—our God—the God of truth and holiness.

This is the sacred union of our people. What matter all the rest if God be with us?

For where God's blessing rests, there alone is perfect peace.

William H. O'Connell,
Archbishop, Boston.

U. S. SENATOR LODGE

United States Senate, May 18, 1910.

My Dear Sir:—I have received your very kind letter of the 13th, and feel much interest in the Memorial Day exercises that you are planning for your boys and girls.

The future of the country during the next generation will lie in their hands, and nothing is of greater moment than that they should, in their school days, learn the great lesson of the duty they owe to their country, which has given them so much.

I wish they could all be made to feel that one of their first duties, as citizens of the republic, is to take an interest in public affairs, and try to understand public measures and public men, so that they may use their influence with others, and cast their votes intelligently and patriotically.

I am, very truly yours,
Henry Cabot Lodge.

ADMIRAL GEO. DEWEY

Office of the Admiral of the Navy,
Washington, May 7, 1910.

Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 5th instant, requesting a few remarks suitable for use in your school for "Peace Day" celebration.

The strong tendency today throughout the world in its rapid progress in civilization and growing intelligence is toward peace between nations. Many societies have been formed to advocate, and by various means to secure, if possible, this end. They are striving for universal peace by conciliation, and for arbitration between the United States and all foreign nations, through a permanent international court.

These measures, if accomplished, will no doubt serve their purpose well, and be a blessing. But until the principles are accomplished and thoroughly tried, adequate armament for national security is still a necessity.

Nations, like individuals, will quarrel, and the only settlement of disputes is by force or by judicial action.

The subject of permanent peace is still a much mooted one, but it is hoped that some day war will be a thing of the past, and all questions will be settled without bloodshed.

Very truly yours,
George Dewey.

My Dear Sir: You may say for me that the peace movement is growing. Truth, whether it be political or moral truth, grows and at last triumphs. The proposition that disputes should be settled by arbitration rather than by

AMBASSADOR BRYCE

British Embassy,
Washington, May 16, 1910.

Dear Sir: I am so often requested to send messages that I have found it necessary, as a rule, to decline requests of the kind, but the object you have in view is so laudable that I may vary my practice so far as to say:

Mankind seems to have begun from a general state of war between tribes. Even the Greek philosophers thought that war was the natural condition of things between different independent communities.

There is no more evident march of progress than in the growing desire for peace, and for the providing of methods of securing it.

To this Christianity has more than any other moral force contributed.

It remains for us to carry on and complete the good work.

I am, very truly yours,
James Bryce.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT

Knoxville, Tennessee,
May 20, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller: Your letter was forwarded to me, so please excuse my delay in replying. I have been away from home for a long time. I am glad to comply with your request.

It pleases me to know that you honor the Grand Army of the Republic by having exercises held in your school on Memorial day.

I believe that education and patriotism should go hand in hand, for if we can have the educated mind and the patriotic heart joined together, we need never fear for the safety of the republic. The hope and safety of the nation ever was, is now, and ever will be, in its young men.

The coming forward of the young men from '61 to '65 destroyed the hydra-headed monster of secession, saved the Union, freed the slaves, and retained every star in our nation's flag.

Assure your boys and girls that the commander-in-chief, speaking for every living Civil War veteran, appreciates the honor they pay us in remembering our deathless dead, and trusts that they will ever be mindful of their duties as American citizens.

Tell them that soldiers are needed as much in time of peace as in time of war, and that a courage is required greater than to charge the enemy's lines, when the conflict rages in all its fury.

We do not need men now to die for their country, but to live for it.

And may your boys and girls so live and act that they may, at all times, faithfully serve their country, so that the future may be secure. If they do this, the republic, founded by the fathers, will ever remain as firm as a mountain on its base.

Cordially yours,

Samuel R. Van Sant,
Commander-in-Chief, Grand Army of the Republic.

RICHMOND P. HOBSON

Washington, D. C., May 19, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller, Green School,
Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Mr. Bacheller:—Your letter of May 5th is before me. It occurs to me that the thought that could be fittingly dwelt upon on your patriotic day, May 30th, the day set aside for commemorating the sacrifices of those who died in battle, fighting under their country's flag, would well be the great cost of sacrifices paid for the liberties and civil blessings that we enjoy as citizens of America.

The greatest of these blessings is the equality of opportunity in our vast and wonderful country. The sacrifices for securing equality of opportunity date from before the foundation of our government and go back to the days of Magna Charta and the original Bill of Rights, each successive step in securing and maintaining equality of opportunity having been made at a stupendous sacrifice on the part of our forefathers.

The vastness and greatness of our country have cost untold sacrifices. It is only necessary to refer to the more than 800,000 casualties of the Civil war to show what it has cost to keep this country united.

In view of the stupendous sacrifices that have thus been made by our fathers and forefathers, the young people of our day and generation should put the highest value upon the rights, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship.

The true way to show appreciation is for each American to develop the highest type of citizenship, making of himself a splendid specimen of manhood and womanhood in physique, intelligence and character, and to take an ever increasing part in the activities of our day and generation, to solve the problems of the home, of the city, of the state, of the nation and even to contribute to the solution of the great problems of the world.

Whether in war or in peace, let the aim of your pupils be to pitch their lives on the plain of the maximum, to make of themselves the finest specimens of manhood and womanhood, and to render the maximum of useful service in their day and generation.

Wishing you and your school every success, I remain

Sincerely yours,
Richmond Pearson Hobson.

REAR ADMIRAL WINFIELD SCOTT SCHLEY

Washington, D. C., May 16, 1910.

Dear Mr. Bacheller:—I do not know of any better message to young ladies and young boys in these days than to impress upon them the value of the example of their fathers and mothers, and in the years of their youth, when most impressionable, to cultivate daily the qualities of truthfulness, honor and religious consecration. These things constitute the sound foundation for good citizenship in this land which we love.

The beautiful lives of John and Marcella (Winthrop) Massachusetts' first colonial officials, are within their reach, and are inspiring examples for every life in our favored land.

Very truly yours,
Winfield Scott Schley.

JOHN SERGEANT WISE

Kiptopeke's Lodge, Cape Charles, P. O.,
Virginia, May 17, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller,

Dear Sir: When your boys and girls meet May 30th, give them my affectionate greeting.

Forty-six years ago on May 15th, I was shot in battle, fighting for the Confederate cause.

At the end of that war I spoke of it as a "lost cause." I myself as a subjugated, I have lived to realize that I was not so much subjugated as I thought I was, and that may be I did not lose as much as I then thought I had lost.

I teach my children to realize that the world had passed the point of slavery, and that God never intended the union which Washington and Marshall did so much for, to be dissolved.

I also teach them that this country could never have attained its present power and glory if it had been divided.

I also teach them that their fathers, in that struggle, believed themselves to be contending for the inalienable right of local self-government, for which right, if used by them, they were ready to die. I teach them that the southern people were just as brave and just as honest in that war, and not a bit braver or more honest, than the northern people.

I teach them that the war ended, as it should, for the happiness of all the people, and the glory of our nation.

It is a harder task for the defeated to learn this lesson than it should be for the victorious. But until both sides learn it, our common country can never be at its best.

The causes which tended to divide our country are removed forever. Let the bitterness engendered by them also be removed and forgotten.

Yours truly,
John Sergeant Wise.

ERNEST T. SETON

Wyndygoul, Cos Cob, Conn.,
May 14, 1910.

My dear Sir:—In reply to yours of May 11th.

We now know a great deal about the pre-Columbian history of America, as well as the post-Columbian history of its native peoples. And we realize that again and again the red man was advancing rapidly toward a peculiarly high and beautiful civilization of his own, and each time he was dropped from the mountainside and back into the swamps of savagery by the demon of war.

The lesson of American history is that war is the great enemy.

Very truly yours,
Ernest Thompson Seton.

MARY JOHNSTON

Richmond, Virginia,
May 14, 1910.

Mr. Albert L. Bacheller, Lowell, Mass.:

My dear Sir:—Your letter of the twelfth has been forwarded to me from Birmingham, Alabama, which is not now my place of residence.

Tell your boys and girls for me that war is an evil and cruel dwarf, living in a horrible fortress guarded by Dreadnoughts, and that Universal Brotherhood is the knight we are going to send against him, and that Universal Peace is the pure and beautiful princess that the dwarf keeps prisoner in his fortress, and that universal arbitration is the golden key that will let the princess out, and that love and common sense are the sword and spear with which the knight is going to slay the dwarf, and with all good wishes for the success of your Peace day, believe me,

Very sincerely yours,
Mary Johnston.

COL. ROOSEVELT SMOOTH PAVING

May Go to Aid of Progress Made on Prescott Street Job

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Ex-President Roosevelt has written a letter from London to a prominent republican insurgent member of the house of representatives requesting the latter to meet him in a conference as soon after the ex-president's arrival in New York on June 18 as possible. Mr. Roosevelt's letter indicates that he is desirous of learning the insurgent situation in the house from first hand as soon as possible after his return to this country. The member receiving the letter declined to allow the use of his name in connection with it as he said it might prove embarrassing for both Mr. Roosevelt and himself if made known at this time. He did, however, show the letter to one or two persons with the injunction that they should not disclose its text.

It is known that there has been an interchange of letters between this member and the ex-president since the latter's arrival in Europe. The insurgent is a long-time personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt and for that reason has not hesitated advising the ex-president unreservedly about the various events political that have occurred since Mr. Roosevelt's departure for Africa a year ago. In response to Mr. Roosevelt's request the insurgent member has made a hotel reservation in New York for June 18.

CHINESE BRIDES

ARRIVED AT THE PORT OF BOSTON YESTERDAY

BOSTON, May 28.—Among the 16 Chinese immigrants who arrived in Boston yesterday on the steamer Hall-fax were two Chinese women about whom centres two romances of Oriental interest.

Leon Chet is one of the women. She comes with her infant to join her young husband who left China less than a year ago to run a store in Philadelphia. His love for his young wife did not suffer by distance, and yesterday he met her at the dock with outstretched arms and a broad grin.

The other woman who arrived represented a romance of still greater interest, inasmuch as she had the courage to cross the sea to an unknown country to meet the man whom she has not seen for 12 years. Her name is Lum She and his is Young Cheng. He left her 12 years ago, when she was 9 years old.

COL. ROOSEVELT TO BE THE GUEST OF IRISH PARLIAMENTARIANS

LONDON, May 28.—Several members of the nationalist party are coming here from Ireland to attend a luncheon to Col. Theodore Roosevelt on June 1, at which John Redmond, John Dillon, Joseph Devlin, R. P. O'Connor and other nationalists will be the hosts.

The luncheon was to have been tendered by the entire Irish representation in parliament, but owing to the difficulties arising from the death of King Edward and the adjournment of parliament this was found to be impracticable.

In a recent conversation with Mr. O'Connor, Col. Roosevelt expressed a strong desire to meet the Irish parliamentarians.

WORTHEN STREET

The smooth paving job in Prescott street is going along at a good rate and about all of the real slow work has been attended to. The two worst snags that the pavers had to contend with was a sewer connection that had been overlooked last year and the job at the Central street end of Prescott street where changes, slow and tedious, were made.

When Bridge street was smooth paved last year the canal at the mills proved a stumbling block. The Locks & Canals and Boston & Northern were to build a new bridge there but there was nothing doing on the new bridge work when the pavers reached that point and the season was then too far advanced. The old bridge had to do service for another winter and there were spaces at either end of the bridge that the pavers did not pave. Now that a new bridge has been built the pavers will pave the spaces in question and persons using the street will no longer have to encounter the rough spots.

From Prescott street the pavers will move into Middlessex street. That street will be paved from the railroad crossing to Nichols street and the other big paving job will be Merrimack street from Union street to "Widder" street. The street department will not tackle the Merrimack street job until the proposition to extend Dummer street has been settled either one way or the other. The extension of Dummer street would affect the grade in Merrimack street.

EMPEROR WILLIAM SUFFERING FROM BITE OF AN INSECT

BERLIN, May 28.—Emperor William is experiencing some inconvenience because of an eruption on the right hand caused by the bite of an insect. The court physician states that there is no danger of serious consequences from the irritation which they expect will disappear within a few days. They have, however, opened and treated the affected part against the possible development of blood poisoning.

For the time being his majesty has delegated the signature of state documents to Crown Prince Frederick William and all urgent decrees will appear with the double signatures of the crown prince and the imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, preceded by the notation: "By order of the emperor."

This is the first occasion during the reign of the emperor which the documents of state have received other than his majesty's autograph.

MINOT'S WILL LEAVES INCOME OF $1,000,000 ESTIMATE TO WIDOW

BOSTON, May 28.—The net income of an estate valued at over $1,000,000 is left to his widow by the will of Robert S. Minot of Dover, Boston attorney and manager of trust estates, filed yesterday in the Norfolk registry. The will is dated Jan. 30, 1895, and leaves to the widow, who was Abby H. Manning, all household furniture, etc. The residue is declared a trust fund, with the testator's brother, William Minot, Jr., and Henry O. Minot, Boston, as trustees.

FEW MEMBERS PRESENT

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The new adjournment of Congress was indicated today for only nine representatives were present. Mr. Macon of Arkansas, democrat, promptly and as the chair held very properly, raised the point of no quorum.

"Count the spectators in the galleries," suggested Mr. Stephens of Texas. A call of the house brought out a sufficient attendance to proceed with the consideration of the sundry civil bill.

JEWISH FAMILIES EXILED

KIEV, Russia, May 28.—One thousand and two Jewish families have received official information that they must leave the city in accordance with the determination of the Russians to drive within the pale all Hebrews who are unable to show their legal right to remain outside of its confines. The Jewish relief committee estimates that between 200 and 300 Jewish families already have quitted the city.

STUDENTS QUARANTINED

PROVIDENCE, May 28.—As a result of a small epidemic of measles at the Delta Phi frat house at Brown university the students rooming there have been quarantined. There have been three cases thus far: R. J. Busset of Chicago, E. S. Stanton of Derby, Conn., and D. P. Belland of this city. Stanton and Belland have been sent to their respective homes while Busset is being treated at a private hospital here.

This remarkable picture of King Edward's funeral arrived in this country early in the morning on the Mauretania. The king's favorite dog and horse are seen following the gun carriage, while kings and emperors and princes are shown on horseback. This picture was taken before the remains were placed in St. George's chapel for the final services.

NO. DAKOTA MAN

Says He Never Heard of Pres. Taft

MINOT, N. D., May 28.—John Bruma, a 52 year old farmer, born in southern Indiana, but living for the last seven years 28 miles south of Minot, in the "bad lands," said that he had never before heard of President Taft and that his "night of heard" of Roosevelt, but had long forgotten the name. Bruma was the only one selected out of a special venire of 50 men for a jury to try Robert S. Noah, alleged murderer of a homesteader.

"But," inquired Judge Goss, "do you not get newspapers?" Bruma explained that occasionally he got a farm paper published at Fargo, from a neighbor, and that his wife still "insisted" on getting a story paper for one of his children, of which he had four, the eldest aged 24. He did not know what the word tariff meant. The picture of aeroplanes he thought of as kites, and uttered incredulously when told his fellowman had mastered the air.

"Roosevelt, Roosevelt," muttered Bruma, unfamiliarly. "It seems I have heard tell of the name, but I clean forgot it. Soldier, wasn't he?" "Your honor," said State Attorney George A. McGee of Minot, "the attorney for the defense will not challenge the juror and I will not."

"The juror is selected," said Judge Goss, grimly. "Take a seat in the box, please. At any event the juror knows nothing about the case," remarked the judge.

"Your honor," said Attorney Dugan for the defense, "we have made an ideal choice of a jurymen." Bruma said he left his farm in Indiana, owned by his father, in a prairie schooner ten years ago and farmed as a laborer near Watseka and Quincy, Ill., before coming to North Dakota and getting a homestead.

"I never took no interest in newspapers," he said.

CONG. PETERS ENGAGED TO MARRY MISS MARTHA PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The engagement will be announced in Boston today of Miss Martha Phillips to Representative Andrew J. Peters of Boston. Their engagement has been known to a small circle of intimate friends here for some time, but was not permitted to become public, as they wished the announcement to be made in their home city.

Miss Phillips is a sister of former Assistant Secretary of State William Phillips of Boston, now secretary of embassy in London, who married a daughter of J. Coleman Drayton of New York.

Representative Peters is serving his second term in congress. He has been one of the most popular bachelors in congress, and has been quite prominent in the younger society circles of Washington.

Miss Phillips has also been prominent in Washington society, and has a home here in Sixteenth street.

FOUNDER OF SISTERHOOD DEAD

BOSTON, May 28.—Rev. Mother Ruth Margaret (Ruth Margaret Voss), one of the founders of the sisterhood of the Holy Nativity (Episcopal) died today at the convent of the order in Fond du Lac, Wis. Mother Ruth was born in Boston 44 years ago and was prominent in church work here for many years. For a dozen years she was stationed at the Providence convent of the order.

BROKE WORLD'S RECORD

BOULDER, Colo., May 28.—Captain L. F. Scott of the Stanford university track team yesterday broke the world's pole vault, held by himself, with a vault of 12 feet, 10 7/8 inches in the dual track meet with the University of Colorado. The former record was 12 feet, 10 3/4 inches.

WILLIE LEWIS

Was Knocked Out By Stanley Ketchel

NEW YORK, May 28.—Stanley Ketchel of Michigan, the middleweight champion, knocked out Willie Lewis of this city, in the second round of a scheduled 10 round bout at the National Sporting club last night. Lewis, who was the Parisian idol some months ago, is a waterweight and was fully 10 pounds lighter than Ketchel, who weighed in yesterday afternoon at 153 pounds, according to agreement. Tom O'Rourke, the manager of the club, acted as referee.

Lewis went right at his man in the opening round and exchanged body blows at close quarters with Ketchel, having the better of the exchange. Lewis was very confident when he stepped to the centre of the ring in the second round. He went after Ketchel furiously, but the fast pace was too much for him and Ketchel sent him to the floor to be counted out. He lay there for several minutes before he revived sufficiently to be helped out of the ring.

In the semi-final bout, Jim Smith, a sparring partner of Lewis, stopped in five rounds. "Chuck" Carleton, a negro middleweight who claims the championship of the American navy. It was a clever bout and both men were badly beaten up.

GOODMAN AND SHEA

BROCKTON, May 28.—Kid Goodman of Boston and Kid Shea of Hallowell, Me., the latter substituting for Mike Glover of South Boston, who failed to put in an appearance, boxed six fast rounds in a no-decision bout before the members of the Young Men's Athletic and Social club in the Palace rink last night. It was the main bout of the evening, and was to have gone 12 rounds, but the men refused to go on for more than six because of the small crowd.

Shea had the better of the argument in the first two rounds. He was clever on his feet, getting away from a number of wicked punches, and having a straight left followed by a right swing that he worked repeatedly. Goodman came back in the next two rounds and with short arm punches slowed Shea down. In the fifth he put in a short burst to the wind and a left to the face that sent Shea to the floor, but he was up instantly.

Both finished strong, with Shea still working first his left and then right to the face, and Goodman coming back with several wallops to the wind.

In the semi-final, scheduled for six rounds, Tony Macio, of South Boston won from Young Murphy, of Boston, in three rounds. Murphy went down twice in the second, once for the count of three and again for the count of five. The gong saved him in the third and the bout was awarded to Marlingo. Tony Macio, a native of South Boston, stopped Cully Samuelson of Brockton in three rounds. Samuelson spent most of the time on the floor and hanging on to the ropes.

Lawyer Connolly Claims $20,000 Damages

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Christopher P. Connolly, a lawyer of Montana and New York, and a well known writer for magazines, filed suit in the superior court of the District of Columbia to recover $20,000 damages for alleged slander from Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney-general for the interior department.

The suit is the first of the threatened legal action alleged to have been given by Mr. Lawler before the Ballinger-Pinchot joint committee, wherein Mr. Lawler is said to have referred to Mr. Connolly and others as "despicable scoundrels who would stoop to any depth of degradation." He is further alleged to have said that Connolly was a "despicable scoundrel who stood on the deck of the steamship Republic just before she went down and trampled down women and children in an attempt to get to a life boat."

When asked to identify the "Connolly" referred to, it is alleged, Mr. Lawler said "he is an employee of Collier's Weekly and is a tall, slender man with a short gray moustache."

This, Mr. Connolly says, describes him. Mr. Lawler is further alleged to have said that he had conspired with Connolly for the "Collier's Weekly" and that Collier's Weekly any way and would not put him above anything of that kind."

Mr. Connolly charges that this connecting him with the person on board the Republic is false and that the accusation was maliciously made.

Mr. Connolly says that at the time of the loss of the Republic he was in Los Angeles, Cal., many miles from the scene of the disaster.

Cowboys Captured Big Game

NEW YORK, May 28.—"Buffalo" Jones, the American plainsman, came back from Africa on the Mauretania yesterday with a story of the use of wild west methods in capturing blood-thirsty animals which inhabit the dark continent.

"Buffalo" Jones, or Col. C. J. Jones as he signs his name, was accompanied by Lovelace, Means and Schull, cowboys from New Mexico. They had 10 ponies from the west and they captured more than 50 wild rhinoceros, lions and other animals in the Kordon valley, East Africa. Though they were in danger at times, none of them was injured.

"We didn't bother with rifles," said Jones, "we just had lariats, which we knew would do the business." "I guess the wild beasts never saw anything that could lasso like an American cowboy. We'd keep them those lions, hippos, rhinos and other things for hours sometimes, but the ponies always won in the end."

"We turned loose all our catches except one lioness, which we have shipped on a steamer that will reach here next week. That lioness was a tough one. We heard her roar three miles away. We drove her from the woods into an open space by exploding fire crackers. Then we surrounded her. Schull was at one time so close to her that we could not see daylight between them. I swung the lasso and caught her."

One day the party was charged by a huge rhinoceros. "She was a hard proposition," said Jones. "We had to retreat. We might just as well have tried to lasso an express train." Mr. and Mrs. Max Fleischmann, of Cincinnati also came back on the Mauretania, after a hunting trip in Africa.

Moth Hunter Had a Narrow Escape

LEXINGTON, May 28.—John McCarthy, an employee of the gypsy moth department of this town, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon while at work up in a tree at Massachusetts avenue and Bedford street, directly opposite Battle Green.

In reaching out he touched a live electric light wire and received a shock of 2300 volts. Instantly his body became rigid and he fell across two other wires. The live wire burned the flesh of McCarthy's left hand and foot.

Michael Murphy, a fellow employee, who was up in the same tree, at once went to McCarthy's assistance. A fire alarm was sounded and the hook and ladder turned out, but before it arrived Murphy had reached McCarthy. Calling to his comrades below to get a horse blanket with which to improvise a life-net, Murphy raised the prostrate man from the wires and dropped him to the plank below, into which he was safely landed.

Dr. J. C. Tilton had been summoned and, after severe efforts, McCarthy was somewhat revived. The live wire had burned into the flesh of the hand badly and through his shoe into the foot. It is thought that the young man's rubber coat saved him from death.

In a serious condition, McCarthy was taken to his home in Arlington.

LOWELL IS NOT ALONE IN ITS EFFORTS

We have noted the efforts of one of our Lowell corporations in the line of advertising. Much of it has a flavor of the eleemosynary and no doubt is so intended and being so is none the less creditable to the company's management. The New York City Gas company, of which Cortelyou is president, has entered upon a campaign of advertising and we notice the following, which is good reading and applies to Lowell or any city equally well:

"Floor space in New York city is more valuable than in any other city in the world. Economy in its use with an increase in its productivity for business purposes is therefore 'good business.' During the month of April hotel and restaurant proprietors in the Borough of Manhattan gave orders for 173 lineal or running feet of gas ranges. These figures do not include an order for a gas range 60 feet long, now being constructed for one of New York city's best known hotels. A gas range four feet long does the work of a coal range six feet long. In other words, a coal range takes up 50 per cent more room than a gas range of the same capacity. By installing gas ranges 66 feet will be saved in the floor space of these kitchens, and their cooking facilities will be greatly improved. What will save space in the hotel or restaurant will save space in the private house or apartment. Then, too, consider the handling of coal and ashes, and the dust and dirt that will be avoided, as well as the difference in the atmosphere in the kitchen during the summer months." Any housekeeper and every housekeeper who is not using a gas range will do well to consider what economy of space in the kitchen means in her own case. One can measure with eye or tape dimensions of gas range at John Street Appliance Store of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

Board of Trade Bill Came too Late

On the petition of Mayor Meehan and others, on the Lowell board of trade bill to place on the statute books a law similar to the one in Boston governing the opening of new streets for public use, the house committee on rules yesterday voted leave to withdraw. The committee decided that it was too late a date to admit the bill. President Green of the board declared that the matter is too important to be allowed to drop and a duplicate measure will be introduced next year early in the session. The purpose of the measure is to establish a board consisting of the mayor, the city civil engineer and the superintendent of streets, whose duty it shall be to approve in writing all plans of persons or corporations who plan to open new streets. The new streets must be satisfactory to this board as to location, direction, width and grade, before being opened for public travel. This bill was a duplicate, almost word for word, of the law now in force in Boston.

"JIM" CORBETT

To Look Into Jeffries' Condition

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Although James J. Corbett, according to his own declaration, has not come to California to take charge of Jeffries' training, it is generally believed that plans of the former champion for a revision of the work will be adopted and that Corbett will wield great influence henceforth in the regulation of the Ben Leonard program. He has some decided views as to the style of training Jeff should follow in preparation for his fight with Johnson. He says he has thoroughly analyzed Johnson's methods and that it is highly essential for Jeffries to school himself to a form of fighting best adapted to meet the negro's tactics. "And," he said last night, "it's fighting and boxing that Jeff requires from now on."

With the return of the Jeffries party to Ben Leonard today a conference will be held, it is said, to determine upon changes in Jeffries' training regime. Johnson will resume boxing this afternoon. He has extended a general invitation to all would-be partners.

THE BERNEICE

Won Power Boat Race to Havana

HAVANA, May 28.—The Berneice, owned by S. G. Granberry of Brooklyn, won the Yachtmen club's powerboat race from Philadelphia to Havana.

The Berneice with her time allowance over the Caliph of three hours and forty minutes beat the latter boat by two hours, forty-four minutes and eighteen seconds. The Iis and the Caroline had not been sighted this morning when their time allowance expired. The scratch boat Loantaka, owned by H. S. Peters of Trenton, N. J., had trouble with her machinery soon after the start and abandoned the race. The Caliph, owned by M. E. Brigham of the Ventnor Yacht club, finished first last evening. The Berneice arrived an hour later. The Caroline, M. F. Dennis of the Columbia Yacht club owner, had an allowance over the original scratch boat of 18 hours and 12 minutes and an allowance over the winner of six hours and 30 minutes. The Iis had corresponding allowances of nineteen hours and three minutes and seven hours and twenty-eight minutes.

The vessels started on May 21 from Philadelphia and finished between Morro castle and Laupa fort at the entrance to the harbor here. The distance was 1138 nautical or 1309 statute miles.

The prizes were: first, City of Philadelphia cup, valued at $1000 and $1000 in cash; second, Yachtmen's club cup valued at $500 and $500 in cash; third, the Albatross, valued at $250 and $250 in cash.

BAN JOHNSON

CLEVELAND, May 28.—President Ban Johnson is in this city to hold a conference today with John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, and a number of local leaders with the object of putting an end to the boycott of the Cleveland American league team. It is said both sides are willing to make some concessions, and Johnson says he expects to have the affair smoothed over before the Memorial day double-header. The trouble started over the construction of the club's new grandstand.

BACHELOR CLUB

Made Another Big Hit Last Evening

So pleasing was the show of the Bachelor club, held a few weeks ago in Associate hall, that the Matthews, knowing a good thing in the show line, had them repeat the fun at their concert and dance last evening and they played to a big crowd in Associate hall.

Whatever little rough spots there might have been at the first performances had been eliminated last evening and everything went along smoothly. The Glendales, who were a trifle off color at the first performance, rolled out melody last evening that would make the Boston Opera company sit up and take notice. Prof. Arthur Martel's new song, "Sons of Uncle Sam," again made a big hit as sung by John J. Dalton and the company. Prof.

Martel himself won the plaudits of the multitude by his playing, his selections being "Miserere" and the ever popular "Mocking Bird" as only the professor can play it. After the entertainment, dancing was enjoyed.

The program was as follows:

Grand opening chorus, Entire Company "Business is Business With Me"

George Rogers "Love Light".....Martin Maguire

"I'm Going Home".....Thomas Corbett

"None of Them Got Anything on Me".....William Marren

"Nora Malone".....Edward Shea

"You'll Come Back".....Charles Defoe

Finale—"Betsy Ross".....Henry Curry

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

The Engineering News for this month publishes an elaborate review of government by commission as adopted by 70 American cities. This plan of government originated as is well known at Galveston, Texas, after the great flood of 1900. Its success in that city was so remarkable that many other cities wishing to rid themselves of unbusinesslike methods and political bodies adopted the commission idea.

This plan consisted originally of five men, including the mayor of the city, its function being to transact the entire business of the city with an eye to economy and the best interests of the municipality. Gradually the commission idea was somewhat modified, many of the cities adopting it, engrafting upon it some local idea or some feature of the old system that the people wished to retain. The modifications in some cases consisted of reducing the number of members in the governing boards. In some cities that have not adopted the commission plan outright there has been a reduction in the size of the city council boards. Boston is a notable example of this, its present city council consisting of but nine members, whereas formerly its aldermen and councilmen numbered nearly 100. In Massachusetts three cities have adopted the commission idea, namely, Haverhill, Gloucester and Chelsea, while the city of Boston has adopted it in a modified form. It is but natural that the commission plan should be most widespread in Texas where it originated, and accordingly there are in that state 17 cities that have adopted this new idea of government. Kansas cities to the number of 16 have also adopted this plan, while the states of Iowa, Tennessee, North and South Dakota and California come next.

In order to avoid the possibility of autocratic power by these small governing bodies the principle of the "recall," together with the initiative and referendum, have been embodied in the charters so that whenever there is any necessity for removing the commission the power lies in the hands of the people. Judging from the successful working of this new plan of municipal government there is reason to believe that it will become still more popular, and that where it will not be adopted in its entirety some of the more important features will be engrafted upon the older forms of city charter. This change is going on rapidly in eliminating party politics and centering responsibility on executive heads, all of which, it is claimed, will make for more economic government and better general results.

MEMORIAL DAY

On Monday will be observed Memorial Day, a holiday in all the states and territories except Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The southern states have confederate memorial days, mainly upon April 26 and May 10. The time may come when there will be uniformity among the states on this matter of celebrating the memory of the fallen heroes; but never will the north shed tears over the sacrifices made by the confederates nor the south lament for any but her own. Nevertheless, it is the privilege of each state to honor its own dead, the men who responded to the call of duty, to defend the state against the contention or the dominance of a combination of other states.

The men who wore the blue or such of them as are alive today are loyal citizens reconciled to the union of states against which they fought, but they cannot forget the terrible struggle, the bloody conflict, the patriotic sacrifices of their brothers who laid down their lives in defense of a principle they believed to be right.

The survivors of the Confederate army are today as loyal citizens as if they had fought upon the Union side. Their numbers are few and still like the survivors of the Union army they are being rapidly mustered out.

It is too late now to stir up any sectional feeling; on the contrary we should fraternize with them on every opportunity; and hence it would be a grand thing if all the survivors of both Confederate and Union armies could come together in one great love feast, a great national jubilation upon the grandeur of the victory won by the Union cause when on April 9, 1865, Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. The survivors of the Union army should not grudge the southerners all the little satisfaction they get out of erecting a statue to General Lee north of Mason and Dixon's line. We can afford to be magnanimous with the south on such matters, and it is best not to show any feeling that could be construed as enmity on account of disloyalty that is dead and buried.

While honoring our fallen heroes and the survivors who risked their all in the Civil war we must remember that these cannot be with us much longer, as the man who served his country in the field from 1862 to 1865 must now be well over sixty years even if he were but nineteen or twenty on enlistment. Most of our surviving veterans of the Civil war are nearing seventy or over, and at this age a man must necessarily conclude that his race is nearly run.

In this city, as in every other where true patriotism is found, these men are held in the highest veneration on account of their individual sacrifices, on account of the imperishable monument they have reared in this union of states one and inseparable forever.

The observance of Memorial Day is yearly becoming more and more sacred. The day is now observed with as much or even more solemnity than the Sabbath, for it reminds us of the patriotic sacrifices of our soldiers whose achievements remain to posterity for future ages. The survivors of that army link us with the dead and yearly on Memorial Day recall the religious duty of bringing fairest flowers to be laid as sweetest tokens of a nation's love upon her patriot graves.

DR. KOCH IS DEAD

Bacteriologist Victim of Heart Disease

BADEN BADEN, May 28.—Professor Robert Koch, the famous bacteriologist, died here yesterday from a disease of the heart. He was born at Clausthal, Hanover, Dec. 11, 1843. Undoubtedly no more distinguished figure has appeared in the medical world during the past two decades than Dr. Koch. Since Pasteur and Lister, none has contributed more to the general progress of medical science than has he. The very basis of practically all the great advances in surgery and medicine within the past decade can be traced to the bacteriological discoveries made by Dr. Koch. He was educated at and graduated from the University of Göttingen. Shortly after taking his degree he commenced practice as a physician. He was first brought prominently before the public in 1880 through his work as an expert in the Speilherb poisoning case.

The conviction of the prisoner in this case was entirely due to the remarkable analysis and medical testimony of Dr. Koch. Later he was summoned to Berlin by reason of his appointment as a member of the sanitary commission of the metropolis and as professor of the Royal School of Medicine.

COMPANY K

The members of Company K, Sixth Infantry, celebrated the fourth anniversary of the organization of the command in the army last night. Many of the former members of the company were present to enjoy the festivities, and the affair proved one of the pleasantest held this season. Private McDonald won first prize in the competitive drill, and Private Mountain second. Suitable songs were presented them. An entertainment followed.

THE MATTHEWS CONCERT

Sunday evening, May 29th, an exceptionally fine concert will be given by the Matthew Temperance Institute in aid of the building fund, at the Matthews Moving Picture Palace in Dutton street.

The artists who have generously volunteered their services for this occasion are especially good and delightful entertainers, and with three fine reels of pictures added will make a most enjoyable evening for those who attend.

An excellent program has been arranged in which the following will appear: Arthur J. Martel, Master; James Bourke, Miss Mae O'Dwyer, W. H. Mulcahey, Joseph McMahon, Paragon quartet, Lindsey brothers and Lyons, Miss Mae Thistle, W. B. Ready, Frank E. Dresser, Miss Frances Tighe, and others.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

What might be termed "a laughing program" is the current offering at the Opera House, where a fine comedy program of vaudeville and motion pictures is the attraction. "The Hub City Comedy Four" are making a big hit with the singing and comedy work. Robinson and LaFata, comedy actors, keep the audience in roars of laughter while Scott and Dupree are pleasing with a clever character change singing and dancing act of merit. The pictures shown are good and of the latest subjects and include both dramatic and comedy stories. Four full shows will be given today starting at 1.30, 3, 7 and 9.30. GRANITE CHIPS MAY BE CLUE TO A MURDER OF SOLDIER

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 28.—Yesterday morning a workman at work on the first New Castle bridge saw a soldier's cap embedded in the mud. He notified Major Urch, the manager of the bridge corporation, and he finally succeeded in bringing the cap to the surface at low tide.

The cap contained a piece of granite weighing several pounds, which was carefully placed under the inside hand. The cap also contained the initials "G.

SUPREME COURT

Again Takes up the Cherokee Indian Case

BOSTON, May 28.—After an absence of four years the famous Cherokee Indian case involving the distribution of more than $1,000,000 to these wards of the nation, returned today to the supreme court of the United States.

Attorneys for Head Captain John McIntosh, Second Captain Hildebrand, Sam Toney and others, today asked the supreme court to require the court of claims "to obey" the mandate of the supreme court in passing on the case four years ago.

At that time Attorney Sullivan and Dashi claim the supreme court directed a distribution of the funds by the court of claims on a "per stripes" basis. It is now complained that the court of claims has directed a distribution on a per capita basis.

Another objection is made to the proceedings of the court of claims. It is maintained by the attorneys that the supreme court directed the court of claims to have the secretary of the interior prepare the roll of persons entitled to participate in the distribution. Instead of following this mandate it is claimed a special commissioner was appointed by the court at great expense to prepare the roll. It is urged that this, too, was disobedience to the mandate of the supreme court which is urged to enforce its decree.

L. F." and it is supposed to be the one worn by Private Guy L. Fellows of the 15th company of Coast Artillery, who has been missing since last Saturday night and was supposed to have been drowned by falling off the bridge while on his way to Fort Constitution, New Castle.

The finding of the weighted cap has aroused a suspicion that Fellows' death may not have been accidental, as who ever threw the cap into the stream did so with the intention of effectually concealing it. Another queer circumstance is the fact that there are no granite chips like the one found in the cap near the scene where the cap was found, but they are very plentiful in the vicinity of the fort.

Major Urch states that his men have been working in the immediate vicinity of where the cap was found all of the week, but it was not noticed until yesterday.

WHIST CLUB GIVES MRS. DONAHUE A SURPRISE

The Metropolitan whist club, composed of well known ladies of this city, held a most delightful meeting on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Daniel J. Donahue in Fairmount street and there was a splendid attendance of members.

What was played and some excellent scores were made, suitable prizes being awarded to the successful ones. There was another feature of the afternoon session which while not down on the program and unknown to the hostess of the occasion proved to be none the less enjoyable.

It came during a lull in the festivities when Mrs. J. W. McKennedy, the well known organist, presented Mrs. Donahue with a silk umbrella and a hand-painted salad set, as a token of appreciation from the club for her generous hospitality on many occasions of the club meetings. Needless to say, Mrs. Donahue was almost completely overwhelmed, and it was with difficulty that she could express her thanks for the beautiful gifts. After the presentation, a delicious luncheon was served and there was an informal musical program.

Three Doctors Agree

That the Best Thing for Hair and Scalp Is Frequent Washing

Three of the leading authorities on the scalp and hair are Woods Hutchinson, M. D., and Dr. J. C. Bayles of New York, and Dr. Lassar of Germany. It is remarkable that all three agree absolutely that the first and foremost thing to do in treating hair and scalp troubles is to keep the scalp clean by frequent washing. Dr. Lassar says that the first step in treating dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair is to keep the scalp clean by washing. Woods Hutchinson, M. D., says: "The main hope of stopping the advance of baldness lies in the direction of improving the general health and vigor, while at the same time keeping the scalp and hair in a clean, antiseptic, well-ventilated condition. Avoid using too strong soaps, strong alkalis, such as ammonia and soda, and too hot water, as all of these take out too much of the natural lubricant, or oil, of the hair, and leave it dry and harsh." Dr. J. C. Bayles says: "The only thing the layman can do to avert baldness is to keep the head clean and cool." Modern thought is all in the direction of cleanliness. Hair that falls out, itching scalp and scalp troubles cannot be cured by fads, tonics, renewers, growers and invigorators. The only sure way to benefit the hair and scalp is to keep them clean and free from dust and disease germs. For this purpose Birt's Head Wash, the new scientific preparation, is most highly recommended because it is made of Refined Cast. White Oil, Eggs, Coclin Coconut Oil, Glycerine and Salicylic Acid. Ask your doctor about it. Tubes 25c, jars 50c.

NIGHT EDITION

CORPUS CHRISTI

Feast to be Observed in the Catholic Churches Tomorrow

Tomorrow will be the feast of Corpus Christi and will be observed in all Catholic churches with beautiful processions in which the host will be carried exposed. As has been the custom for years at St. Patrick's and the Immaculate Conception churches the processions will be held in the open air. The day will be observed on a particularly elaborate plan for the first time this year by the people of St. Jean Baptiste's church, who will not only have a parade of several thousands through the streets in the vicinity of the church but will have benedictions at a temporary altar erected in the open.

At St. Patrick's

For years thousands have annually assembled for the Corpus Christi procession at St. Patrick's and this year the program will be in keeping with its many elaborate predecessors. The procession will be held in connection with the vesper service which starts at 2:30. At the Magnificat the procession consisting of the societies of the church, the pupils and choir of St. Anne's Academy, the church and sanctuary choirs with the sacred ministers bearing the host under a canopy will proceed from the church headed by the Lowell Cadet band to the cemetery grounds where benediction will be given at a temporary altar. The line will move further along to the grove in the grounds where again benediction will be given. The procession will then proceed into Fenwick street and thence to the church yard, where a large temporary altar has been erected at the monument. Once more benediction will be given and then the procession will return to the church where the final benediction will be given. The band and chime bells will alternate in playing sacred music while the three choirs will alternate in singing. At the church yard all three choirs will combine in singing the "O Salutaris" and "Agnus Dei" with accompaniment by the chimes. First communion service will be held at the 7 o'clock mass.

At St. Peter's

At St. Peter's church the Corpus Christi procession will be held in connection with the solemn high mass at 10:45 o'clock. The procession will be confined to the aisles of the church and will take place immediately after mass. The formation of the procession will be as follows: cross bearer, James Marham with Raymond Forgays and George McDonough as acolytes; Harry Moran, bearing large white dove. First division, banner bearer, Miss Katherine McKennedy, children with wreaths, four little girls as angels and eight flower girls; second division, banner bearer, Miss Josephine McHugh, thirty children wearing wreaths and carrying red and white streamers along the aisles; cross of flowers carried by Miss Mary Mahoney; anchor, by Miss Alice Gilligan and heart by Miss Nora Grafton; third division, chime banner, carried by Miss Rita Nawn, girls with wreaths and wearing purple sashes; Miss Veronica Driscoll, carrying lilies; Miss Dorothy Driscoll, carrying grapes and Lillian Rogers, carrying wheat; fourth division, Children of Mary banner, carried by Miss Mabel Sheehan, girls wearing blue sashes and veils and carrying bouquets. Letters I. H. S. carried by Mollie Whelan, Katherine Cryan and Sally Flanagan; fifth division, Sacred Heart banner, carried by Miss Margaret Forgays, thirty girls wearing red sashes and veils and carrying candles; sixth division, banner with altar boys, sanctuary choir, officiating priests under canopy borne by following: Messrs. Daniel F. Reilly, Michael Corbett, Patrick Gilbride and James E. Gorman.

In the evening

In the evening the triumph which opened at the church on Thursday evening will come to a close with a sermon by Rev. Fr. Conway, S. J., vice president of Boston college. There will also be a reception into the Immaculate Conception sodality. Last evening the solemnity of the feast was observed at St. Charles, St. John's, St. Thomas of Boston college and it was an able effort.

Big Procession Planned

The buildings in Little Canada are being profusely and generally decorated today in honor of the Fete Dieu, or feast of Corpus Christi, which occurs tomorrow when a beautiful outdoor observance will be held. In the event of inclement weather, the procession will be postponed until the following Sunday.

In the morning solemn high mass will be sung at St. Jean Baptiste church at 10 o'clock. Solemn vespers will be sung at 2:30 o'clock. After vespers, the procession will take place.

The march will be through Allen and Cheever streets to Pawtucket street, and back through Moody and Austin streets to the church.

At the corner of Pawtucket and Cheever streets, a repository will be erected for the blessed Sacrament, and there a station will be made and benediction will be sung.

The choirs of both St. Joseph's and St. Jean Baptiste churches will take places around the repository and sing hymns to the Eucharist.

The procession will be an extensive one, on a scale seldom seen at a religious demonstration in Lowell. The French-American military guards, as well as the numerous French American societies having chaplains, as well as the children of the parish schools, will turn out.

Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., the organizer of the demonstration, has given out the following order for the procession:

Heretofore the Unlicensed Dog Was Asphyxiated, but This Year His Owner Will be Prosecuted

Go up to city hall and license that pup at once or you'll get "plucked". The first case of the season of an arrest for keeping an unlicensed dog was heard in police court this morning. Heretofore it has been customary for the police to notify owners of unlicensed dogs about the first of June to get out licenses lest they get into the meshes of the police, or their dogs suffer the penalty of the gas box. The law says that all dogs must be licensed on May 1 and does not say that the police must notify the dog owner to license his animal. This year the police have adopted a new procedure. They have waited a month beyond the time limit on licenses and are now starting out to prosecute all owners of unlicensed dogs without the formality of notifying them to license in advance. Thus if your dog is not licensed, get busy at city hall at once, for you'll not only be fined, but you'll have to get the license out anyway.

COL. ROOSEVELT KILLED WOMAN

LONDON, May 28.—Col. Roosevelt is now resting quietly in the suburbs of London, preparing for his return

CLINTON, Ia., May 28.—Elmer Lison Hotes killed May Ringson in her home today and seriously wounded Policeman Lorenz who tried to arrest him. Parading himself in a room he held the entire police force and sheriffs at bay for hours before surrendering.

Col. Roosevelt, who was killed in the explosion, is shown here with the woman who was killed.

ANOTHER ARREST

Made in the Coleman Case

BOSTON, May 28.—John Straussnyder, who has been wanted in Boston by the federal authorities since Thursday on a complaint of aiding and abetting George W. Coleman in looting the National City Bank of Cambridge, was arrested in Brooklyn last night and held for the Boston federal officers.

Straussnyder, sometimes wrongly called Strauss Snyder, otherwise known as "Big Ben" and a "come on" man, has been named by Coleman as the man who helped him to escape from the jail to aid Coleman's flight. He is alleged to have been one of the faro gang that relieved Coleman of nearly $2000 of the Cambridge bank's funds.

The complaint on which Straussnyder was arrested was issued last Thursday by United States Commissioner Hayes to Frederick F. Smith, special agent, bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice in Boston. Agent Smith sent out the notification to New York special federal agents to arrest the man on sight. Straussnyder will be brought on to Boston today.

A watch was kept at his home at 1622 Dorchester road, Flatbush, Brooklyn, by the Brooklyn police, and when he returned last night he was apprehended. Coleman testified he had met Straussnyder at the Hotel Hayward in Boston and was introduced to him by Kellier.

THE SUN

ROOF CAVED IN

Several Workmen Went Down With It

BOSTON, May 28.—Nearly 40 feet of the arching over the new Cambridge subway now in process of construction caved in last night, carrying with it several workmen who were laboring on the top of the underground passage. None of the men was injured. With a crashing sound that could be heard for blocks, and which many Cambridge residents thought to be an explosion, the portion of the subway on the Boston side of Central square came down, leaving the work of weeks a tangled mass of intersecting iron and wooden supports mixed with cement not yet hardened. Those in the immediate vicinity of the crash believed it to be an explosion too, as clouds of dust rolled from the hole. There was an immediate hurry call rung in for the police ambulance, which was quickly on the spot, as it was believed at that time that some of the laborers had been pinned beneath the tangled mass. Those in charge of the work cleared the men out as quickly as possible and had a roll-call, which at first showed that one man was missing, but which the second time proved that all were safe other than a shaking up and a few sore limbs.

The cave-in happened about 9 o'clock when Massachusetts avenue at this point is always crowded. Thousands swarmed around the scene of the accident, and it was with difficulty that the police kept them back until the last man had been taken from the hole. When it was learned that none of the men were injured they started to clean out the place, but it was soon learned that this section of the tunnel will be delayed for some time, as new arching and slides will have to be placed in position and the top recovered with cement.

The amount of damage done is not known at this time, nor is it known how long the work will be delayed by it, but it is believed that it will be weeks before this section will resume its condition before the crash.

CONCORD, N. H., May 28.—Refusing to turn aside from the path of a speeding express train, an unknown man chose a strange way of committing suicide early today near this city. There was nothing on his person to furnish a clue to the suicide's identity.

PLAYGROUNDS CONGRESS

Mr. Harmon is convinced that the location of a playground is one of the best assets of residential real estate property can have.

"That a small park increases the value of the surrounding land is not news work," said Mr. Harmon today. "We can prove our case from assessments' books. Lots fronting or adjacent to small parks increase values more than enough to offset the land value of the park."

"Real estate operators today are laying out small parks or playgrounds as cold-blooded business propositions. It is not money wasted nor land wasted but just as much an investment as water and sewerage connection."

Supt. Welch Gives Warning That Arrests Will be Made

All Pools Must Discontinue at Once, or Those Running Them Will be Prosecuted—The Sports Sadly Accept Supt.'s Ultimatum

It's all off with the baseball pools. Superintendent Welch, after warning the sports connected with the big pools being conducted in this city, this morning informed a reporter of The Sun that baseball pools such as have been running since the season opened will not be tolerated longer.

"We have received many complaints from parents of boys who work and who are spending a portion of their small wages in baseball pools," and hence we must stop pool selling. There is only one way to stop such a thing and that is by prosecuting those who are running the pools. Any man, regardless of who he may be who is detected conducting a pool after tonight will be arrested."

The news of the closing down of the pools will far the baseball fans, for never in the history of the city has Lowell gone so completely crazy over baseball and baseball pools, and men, women and children have been playing them. There are small pools in every mill and workshop in the city, many of which will never be detected by the police. But certain big public pools have come to the attention of the police and these will be stopped forthwith. The men running the big pools in every instance will stop without further notice for none has any desire to buck against the dictum of Supt. Welch. A dollar pool which has been running since the season will pool the winner tonight something over $100, while a 50 cent pool to be decided this evening will pay the winner something over $200. From the amount of the pools one can get an idea of the number of people who are playing them.
